U.S. Moves Swiftly To Open Beer Taps

In Rome Parley

The meeting of Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany and Premier Edouard Daladier of France at the conference of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of England, and Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, in Rome, lent vast importance to the diplomatic event, on which even the future peace of the world may depend. It is the first time that Premier Mussolini, (at top), has participated in an international conference since the Locarno pact was negotiated in 1925. Below, left to right, are: Premier Daladier, Prime Minister MacDonald and Chancellor Hitler.

Gen. Currie Urges Recapture Spirit Of 1914 Canadian

Deplores Despair and Failure Which Appears Settled Down on People of Land.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., March 23.—A strong plea for a recapturing of the spirit which characterized the men of the Canadian Corps and the pioneers of Canada in order to overcome the present national difficulties was made here last night by General Sir Arthur Currie, former commander of the Canadian Corps in France. He deplored the spirit of failure and despair which had seized so many people, and said that harmony and goodwill, mutual trust and confidence were essential to bring the ship of state safely into harbor.

Recounting some of the experiences of the second battle of Ypres in April, 1915, Sir Arthur told of the young Canadians around him standing unafraid, and their only question was "what do you want us to do?"

"What do you want us to do? Is the question we put to our leaders today. It must be answered and at once. It must be answered in no selfish spirit, not with an eye to personal prestige or party advantage.

"There are quick remedies offered—the uprooting of society, the destroying of what our fathers built, the beginning of civilization all over again on a different plane, and on principles and ideals opposite to those on which our country was founded. If I were giving advice to youth, I would say, 'Strive to ignore these quack remedies and to restore the spirit of your pioneers. Let us face the future, not with fear, but with hope and faith, not with unbridled and individual selfishness, but with the communal spirit of neighborliness that characterized the pioneers.'"

"TITANIC" GENE PUSIE TO SWIM

TORONTO, March 23—Alexandrine Gibb, in a copyrighted story in the Toronto Star's sporting columns today says Gene Pusie, of Quebec, who plays professional hockey in the Western Canada league, will enter the Canadian National exhibition marathon swim next summer. Pusie, leading scorer in the Western Canada league, hails from Quebec. He has been purchased by New York Rangers from Vancouver Maroons for service next winter. He had a little previous professional experience with Montreal Canadiens and Maroons.

Pusie is a colorful player, with enough idiosyncrasies to help the turnstiles click. He goes on the ice with two or three days' beard on his chin and stops attacking players by leaping in the air, before he starts his rush at them. He announced his intention of entering the marathon swim in a letter.

LOST CALGARY CHILD FOUND

CALGARY, March 23. — Helen Lougheed, a tiny little tot of two years, is in her mother's arms again. Somewhat frightened after 24 hours of wandering aimlessly on the outskirts of north-west Calgary, little Helen wandered from home yesterday afternoon and trekked through a snow-storm for four miles.

Police, Boy Scouts and unemployed volunteers searched over the countryside for the child since yesterday but it was not until this afternoon that her uncle, Ivan Lougheed, discovered the missing girl, lying in the snow in tears.

Helen suffered from the cold, her hands slightly swollen. But this was forgotten when she arrived home to her parents.

The two-year-old youngster had become lost in a valley, four miles from home, and exhausted from her wanderings in the face of the storm, crawled into the deep snow.

ADOLF HITLER GETS 4 YEARS' DICTATORSHIP

Nazi Leader Relegates Issue of Monarchy to Background

BERLIN, March 23.—The Reichstag, with only the Socialists opposing, today passed an empowering act granting Chancellor Hitler's demand for four years of dictatorial power.

BERLIN, March 23. — Chancellor Adolf Hitler, shouting above the cheers of his Nazi deputies, demanded four years of dictatorial power from the Reichstag today.

He relegated the issue of the monarchy to the background, lifted the destruction of Communism to the fore of his programme, reiterated the familiar thesis of arms equality for all and promised a campaign of "barbaric severity" against all traitors.

Wave after wave of applause and cheers drowned his voice from time to time. The Nazis, who control the house, especially approved his dictum that once adjourned Reichstag would be recalled only from time to time "to be informed by the government of its acts when the assent of the Reichstag is desirable."

PUBLIC DECAPITATION

The first big cheer came when he expressed his approval of "public decapitation" of the men who set fire to the Reichstag building just before the last election. There was tumultous applause also at his announcement of a campaign of "bar-

MAN WAS PEDDLING TO END PEDDLING

CAMDEN, N.J., March 23—Charles H. Higgins of Ithaca, N.Y., was peddling to end peddling but his campaign blew up with a bang.

"I found him with a pocketful of cards reading 'no peddlers!' ", patrolman Fred Mueller testified. "He told me he went from door to door selling them to housewives to tack up."

Higgins was given a bus ticket and 10 minutes to get out of town on a penalty of a 60-day jail sentence.

FUNERAL HALTED AS WIFE DROPS SUIT

CHICAGO, March 23—Funeral of Matthew Stuk was halted at the door of his home while his widow, accompanied by her lawyer, hurried to court.

"I had a divorce pending and couldn't bear the thought of burying him with that suit in progress," she said. "Will you dismiss it please?"

The judge did.

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 23—Snowstorms can't fool Charles Letein. He can read the calendars and he knows when spring has arrived

To prove it, Letein walked through the snow to his orchard and plucked two branches filled with peach blossoms.

King And Queen To Inspect Royal Scots

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 23.—Early in April the King and Queen will pay a special visit to Aldershot in order that His Majesty may inspect the 1st Battalion, Royal Scots. This is the oldest regiment of foot in the British army, and it is about to celebrate the 300th anniversary of its formation.

The Princess Royal, who is Colonel-in-Chief, will issue a regimental order in connection with the anniversary. There will be ceremonies also at Glencorse Barracks, Edinburgh, which is the regimental depot, and in India, where the 2nd Battalion is now serving.

British Prime Minister Tells House of Commons of Peace Pact Between Four Nations—Galleries Are Jammed.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 23.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald today partially lifted the veil over the Rome conversations he had with Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy last week on disarmament and European peace.

In the ambassadors' gallery of the House of Commons, closely observant, sat the ambassadors of Belgium, Poland, France, Italy, and the ministers from Switzerland, Jugoslavia, Lithuania, Bulgaria, Sweden, and Austria.

The House of Commons was jammed for the occasion, as the Prime Minister spoke of the peace pact between the four great powers of western Europe—Britain, France, Italy and Germany—which was the leading proposal emerging from the talks.

Opening the debate on foreign affairs, the prime minister was greeted with loud cheers from the government benches as he declared his colleagues had asked himself and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, to go to Geneva because reports showed grave danger of an immediate collapse of the disarmament conference.

They found the conference had somewhat lost itself "on details," he said.

The object he and Sir John had, he explained, was to assist the conference by producing a plan which would cover the whole field. When the conference resumes tomorrow it would be, he hoped, on figures contained in this plan.

Dealing with Germany the prime minister said the powers were pledged to give her equality. "The time has gone by," he said, "when Germany can be kept bound by

JUGOSLAV LEADERS WANT WAR TO BALK REVOLUTION

Country in Panic-famine, With Assassinations Constant Threat

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Special Cable to Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1933

P. van Paassen

PARIS, March 23. — "A small, successful war," has been mentioned as the only means to save Jugoslavia from what competent observers both inside and outside that country believe to be inevitable collapse. Jugoslavia, like its neighbors, is broke. The personal dictatorship of King Alexander has proved unworkable. To the burden of an immense army has been added an appalling crisis. The parliament is gagged, the press muzzled and police terrorism has reached proportions of fiendishness which one would imagine impossible in the twentieth century. Investigations carried on but recently by the representatives of quite conservative Parisian newspapers have revealed the existence of conditions that would make savages shudder. The merest flicker of liberalism is suppressed with a ruthlessness reminiscent of the darkest epoch of the Middle Ages. Socialists are treated as if they were wild beasts. A mass of authentic contemporary evidence exists definitely establishing that Jugoslavia resorts to torture and unspeakable mutilations of her noblest citizens, intellectuals, doctors, lawyers and workmen in the filthy jails of Belgrade and Zagreb.

RULES BY REPRESSION

The quarrel between Croats and Serbs is as bitter as ever. Slovenes and Bosnians have joined the demand for federalism. King Alexander, who was reported to have sent fifty million francs of his personal fortune to safety in a French bank recently, manages to hold on to his throne by repression. With him is a clique of high army officers who were actively concerned in the assassination of that other King Alexander and his queen Draga and who subsequently approved the murders of Serajevo.

The most optimistic observers of the Jugoslav scene have had to

LIEUT. DENIES HE DISCLOSED ARMY SECRETS

Young Officer Takes Stand in Trial Before Courtmartial

LONDON, March 23.—Lieutenant Norman Baillie-Stewart of the Seaforth Highlanders, denied on the witness stand today he ever had disclosed to a foreign agent any information prejudicial to his country.

The young officer, on trial before a courtmartial, is accused of betraying military secrets for pay. The money he received, he contends, was sent him by a German girl whom he had met in Berlin.

"On my honor," he said today, "I never have attempted to obtain, I never have obtained, and I never have disclosed any information prejudicial to the state. There is no possible reason why I should have done so. I never have been in debt in my life."

NOTES OF INTEREST

He explained that memoranda on army matters such as tanks and armored cars, which the prosecution contended he had roted down in connection with his alleged betrayal of secret, were in fac notes he had made because of his constant interest in matters connected with the mechanization of the army. His brother, who was also an army officer, is much against army mechanization, he said, and they often argued on the subject.

The prosecution, charging that Lt. Baillie-Stewart had received £50 Lt. Baillie-Stewart had received £50 in another, described his conduct as "selling the country for $90."

CHAMBERLAIN IS OPTIMISTIC OVER FUTURE

British Chancellor Emerges From His Attitude of Pessimism

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 23—In an optimistic speech in the house of commons tonight Neville Chamberlain said he could not see why the world economic conference would not be held within the next two or three months.

The chancellor of the exchequer has been charged with being too pessimistic in recent months but tonight's speech found him in a different mood.

"Looking over the world," he declared, "one can see indications the industrial situation is likely to improve within the next few months." Mr. Chamberlain also found comforting portents in the United States and in Europe. "Confidence has largely been restored in the United States and on the European continent, where the situation a few months ago was considered desperate, any one can see there have been remarkable beneficent changes."

RESTORING TRADE

WASHINGTON, March 23—An amendment to the District of Columbia Beer Bill which its author—Tarver (D.-Ga.)—said was intended to prevent "opening a saloon under the dome of the United States capitol," was rejected today by a 121-to-72 House of Representatives vote.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—A United States government today moved swiftly to open the beer taps through which a legal 3.2 brew will flow to America's thirsty after midnight April 6.

Machinery to license brewers was set in motion by Dr. James M. Doran, industrial alcohol commissioner, who pledged himself to keep bootleg beer racketeers out of the legalized industry.

Government officials acted a day after President Roosevelt signed into law a bill which permits the sale of beer and wine of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content. The president's action signalled the end of the absolute prohibition which has prevailed since 1920.

Leaders of prohibition organizations, meantime, made plans for testing the law's constitutionality and for blocking the sale of beer by injunction. They served notice of a determined court battle.

INVASION OF OLD AINTREE IS UNDER WAY

Chances of Gregalach in Grand National Dimmed—Jockey Injured

LONDON, March 23—Heartbreak Hill, owned by Mrs. C. S. Bird Jr, of Boston, today was made the favorite to win Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree tomorrow. In a sensational drop from 20 to 1, the big Irish-bred mare was quoted at 8 to 1. She will carry 163 pounds.

LIVERPOOL, March 23—Chances of Gregalach, joint favorite, repeating a former victory in tomorrow's running of the famous Grand National steeplechase were made more hazardous today when his rider broke his collarbone while racing in a minor chase.

J. Fawcus, one of England's greatest amateur riders, was racing in the regular afternoon program when he was thrown and suffered the injury. Parvin is likely to take the mount on Gregalach.

TOWN CHARGED ILLEGAL ISSUE SCRIP COUPONS

Broker Takes Action Against Magrath—Raymond May be Charged

CALGARY, March 23—The Alberta town of Magrath was made defendant today in an action started in court here by Robert Lewis Raymont, describing himself as a broker, who seeks to obtain $400 from Magrath which he charges issued scrip illegally.

Norman Dingle, K.C., acting as council for Mr. Raymont, said Magrath would be served with notice of the action tomorrow. It was intended also to start similar proceedings against the town of Raymond which also issued scrip.

$400 FINE

Acting as informant, Mr. Raymont charges that scrip is illegal under the Bank Act, which carries a $400 fine for anyone issuing paper to take the place of legal currency. His notice of action states he is acting for himself and "on behalf of the public of Canada and His Majesty the King."

The towns of Raymond and Magrath this winter issued the scrip to pay town employees as an effort to prevent further bank borrowings and carry on during financial stringency. The scrip was used to purchase goods and was redeemable in taxes and services rendered the towns.

7000 Head Cattle Ready for Market

Activity Shown On Rolling Prairies To Furnish Markets

Being Finished for Sale in Hopes of Stabilization Profits

CALGARY, March 23—Seven thousand head of cattle on the rolling ranches of the Foothills today were being finished for sale on domestic and United Kingdom markets with hopes the agricultural stabilization fund announced by the federal government would increase their value between one-half and one cent a pound.

Considered opinions of ranchers reflected the optimism for a quickening of export to the United Kingdom because of assurance each pound sterling they received for catttle would be worth $4.60.

More sales of hogs, both bacon and ham, were expected, while dairy farmers saw benefits for "milk products."

W. C. McKenzie, manager of the Southern Alberta Co-Operative association, said cattlemen would benefit to the extent of one cent a pound at the present rate of exchange. Favorable action toward advancing prices on the domestic markets was seen by Jack Drumheller, Cayley rancher.

"It will mean the packer will know where he is at. We will get price stabilization on all livestock," said J. J. Bowlen, Calgary M.L.A. "This fund will put new heart into all of us," said Rod Macleay, pioneer rancher of the Righ River district.

Presuming "milk products" would include butter, J. Russell Love, M.L.A. for Wainwright, estimated an improvement in the price of that product would be 11 per cent. Producers still had much to do to win an established market in the British Isles, he said.

YOUNG OFFICER

secution closed its case this afternoon in the courtmartial of Lieutenant Norman Baillie-Stewart, young officer of the Seaforth Highlanders charged with communicating army secrets.

Norman Parkes, defense counsel, opened his case by saying the young officer returned to Holland last August to meet a woman known as Marie Louise, "having formed the most discreditable intention of taking advantage of her infatuation to obtain money from her."

HAD LIAISON IN BERLIN

Marie Louise is the young woman with whom Lieutenant Baillie-Stewart admitted, according to previous testimony, he had a liaison in Berlin last summer. It was she, he said, who sent him $90, which the prosecution claimed was a payment for army information he revealed on account of their affair.

Mr. Parkes declared that on Lieutenant Baillie-Stewart's last visit to Holland Marie Louise had hinted that in order to induce him to return to Germany in the spring, a larger money payment would be made.

Her subsequent letters containing money, he added, was a fulfillment of the hinted promise.

Marie Louise had told the prisoner that if he wished to correspond with her it must be through Otto Waldemar Obst, of Berlin—the man who had brought them together—the attorney continued.

OBST NAME MENTIONED

(The name of Otto Waldemar Obst has been mentioned in the courtmartial as the man reputed to have figured in the alleged communication of army information.)

The prosecution has indicated its belief that Marie Louise was a mythical person invented by the prisoner to cover his alleged betrayal of army information.

Mr. Parkes declared, however, that he would call a witness who had come forward after reading reports of the case who would say that he had met Marie Louise in Berlin and was introduced to her by those names only.

Lieutenant Baillie-Stewart's own evidence regarding his early career would indicate characteristics peculiar to himself which would throw great light on his subsequent methods, Mr. Parkes declared.

NEW STORY

The defense asked the court to dismiss from its mind any impressions which might have been implanted by the prosecution's theory of the defendant's actions.

"You will hear from us a new story," he promised. "The accused will tell you that in Berlin he became intimate with a woman who had been introduced to him only as 'Marie Louise'.

"He would not say so, but she became infatuated with him. You will hear evidence that the accused always has had a peculiar attraction for women and a peculiar attitude toward them which perhaps I may best describe as a lack of chivalry."

The court adjourned for luncheon when he had concluded his introductory remarks.

BAIL TO BE ALLOWED FOR BRITISHERS

Men Facing Charges of Sabotage After Soviet Police Raid

LONDON, March 23—Soviet embassy here announced today it had been informed the public prosecutor in Moscow has agreed to the release on bail of W. H. Thornton, J. Cushny and a man named Gregory, British subjects, who were arrested several days ago in raids by Soviet secret police on charges of sabotage in electrical construction work.

Gregory, Thornton and Cushny are employees of the British electrical firm, Metropolitan-Vickers, which has been doing business in Soviet Russia for 10 years. They, three other officials of the company and a nuumber of Russian employees were arrested in Moscow and Leningrad.

CHIEF ENGINEER

Thornton is chief erecting engineer, Cushny is an engineer and Gregory is listed as a fitter. The Metropolitan-Vickers Company is asked to deposit 25,000 Russian rubles for Thornton and 15,000 each for Gregory and Cushny. (The ruble is nominally 50 cents.)

An embassy official stated the release of the three men now depended upon the company's action.

Although there was no mention of W. H. MacDonald, another engineer who was arrested, this does not mean his case is not under consideration, the embassy official added.

It was understood in official British quarters that nothing short of unconditional release without trial will be considered by the British government as a satisfactory settlement.

EMBARGO LIKELY

It was understood also that if a satisfactory settlement is not reached, the British government may consider application of an embargo on Russian imports after the expiration of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement on April 17.

Allan Monkhouse, director in Russia for the Metropolitan-Vickers Company, described as "ridiculous" the charges of sabotage lodged against him, five other British employees of the company and a number of Russian employees after their arrest by the Ogpu (secret police).

Monkhouse and Charles Nordwell, another British employee, were released a short time after their arrest. Subsequently the British foreign office made strong representations to the Soviet government concerning the grave view the British government took of the arrests of the six British subjects.

baric severity against all guilty of treason."

"No gigantic revolution of similar dimensions ever has been carried out with such unvarying discipline and so little bloodshed as our revolution," he cried, and the Nazis cheered again.

He condemned as "an unexampled crime" the 1918 revolution which gave birth to the German Republic, now virtually destroyed to make way for the new regime.

The visitors galleries were packed. Outside in the streets for blocks around the Kroll opera house, temporary meeting place of the parliament, soldiers and police were on guard. Everyone who entered the meeting hall was searched for weapons.

BERLIN, March 23.—In a short semi-official statement issued today, the German government threatened drastic measures against foreign correspondents guilty of spreading "atrocity reports."

The statement asked how, if an economic boycott "agitated by certain American circles" were carried out, "is the question of private debts to be regulated properly?"

The warning was directly not only against correspondents but also against their newspapers. It would take such form as barring the papers from the German mail.

The statement emphasized that any boycott would affect the United States more adversely than Germany.

"Restoration of the monarchy is at present not to be discussed, so long as conditions prevail which necessitate the national government's focussing its attention solely upon saving the German people, especially millions of workers, from indescribable misery," said the chancellor.

"The world can recover economically only if it is relieved of reparations and the impossible debts and interest obligations," he said. "The debts must be adjusted to the changed conditions of the world."

Proved ability in the hardest of all races in naturally reflected in the weights. Gregalach, Shaun Goilin and Forbra, the trio of former winners, are allocated respectively top weighs of 175 pounds, 169 pounds and 163 pounds. Dorothy Paget's high-priced gelding Golden Miller ,a consistently good leaper, is assigned next to top weight of 170 pounds. Golden Miller and Gregalach are joint favorites around nine to one, but every horse is a favorite with some one.

Adding again to world-wide interest in the big race is the great Irish Free State sweepstakes, whose $10,000,000 will be allotted to thousands of ticket-holders in all parts of the world—including 28 Canadians—according as the respective horses finish in the 'chase. More than half of them are not likely to finish at all.

34 Horses To Start National

AINTREE, LIVERPOOL, Eng., March 23—Thirty-four of the finest thoroughbred 'chasers are prepared to go to the post tomorrow at 3:00 p.m for the Grand National, the most difficult steeplechase in the world. ### Increase In U.F. Membership Shown

CALGARY, March 23.—Increase in United Farmers of Alberta membership in February of this year was nearly double the number in February in the previous year, according to Norman F. Priestley, U.F.A. vice-president.

One local, he said, had increased its membership by 300 per cent. The lower membership fee and affiliation with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, he believed, was responsible for the membership increase.

According to Mr. Priestley a similar increase was occurring in the United Farmers of Ontario organization.

Fascisti Mass To Salute Mussolini

MILAN, Italy, March 23.—Black shirt Italy massed today to offer a nation-wide salute to Premeir Benito Mussolini and commemorate the 14th anniversary of the Fascist party.

Festivities started in Milan with an assembly of Fascist party founds in the Piazza San Sepolcro Palace. Here Il Duce's eloquent address of 14 years ago today started the wave of Fascism responsible for the present system of government.

Challenges All Comers

READING, Pa., March 23.—Beer's "comeback" has stimulated anew the United States championship ambitions of Pennsylvania's pretzel-bending titleholder—twister of 30,000,000 of the curlycue appetizers.

Bent on conquering new worlds, 22-year-old Helen Hoffner, who snared the state crown by twisting 48 pretzels a minute, now challenges all comers for American supremacy

Every working day she turns out one and a half times her weight in pretzels, and she looks upon 3.2 beer as the starting gun in a race for bigger and better bending records.

Miss Hoffner, starting work in her teens, has bent 30,000,000 pretzels, and has been able to out-twist the thousands of other workers who turn out some $4,500,000 worth of pretzels in Pennsylvania annually.

Great Revival Among Japanese Coast Missions

TORONTO, March 23.—A great revival among the Japanese missions of the Pacific coast was graphically described by Rev. S. S. Osterhourt, Vancouver, superintendent of Oriental missions, before the United Church's board of home missions, convening here in its annual sessions. A number of converts from Buddhism had been reported, while a total of 208 baptisms of Japanese adults had been recorded in the churches.

A representative attendance from every province in Canada and from Newfoundland were present at yesterday's opening meeting, presided over by Rev. D. C. MacGregor, London, Ont.

Funeral Of Wesley Ward Held Tuesday

WHITECOURT, March 23.—Funeral of Wesley William Ward, killed on March 18, when logs fell on him, crushing his head, while loading in the Western Construction Company yards, was held Tuesday from the Whitecourt United Church. Rev. Clegg of Mayerthorpe conducted the service and burial was in the Whitecourt cemetery.

Born in Sarnia, Ontario, deceased came here several years ago with his parents. He was 39 years of age.

He leaves seven children, aged from a baby of a few months to 14 years, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Ward, of Whitecourt, five sisters, Mrs. B. Goodwin, Dawson Creek, B.C., Mrs. T. Thompson, Provost, Mrs V. M. Steward, Mrs. S. Lombard and Mrs. R. R. Cleveland, all of Whitecourt, also three brothers, Dave of Provost, Orville and Bob of Whitecourt. Two brothers predeceased him, Carlie and Alfred, who was killed in the Great War.

U.S. JOYOUS OVER PROSPECT OF BEER SOON

brewery on Philadelpiha's outskirts. Alight for the first time in 13 years, the sign symbolized that a few scratches of President Roosevelt's pen today had promised 3.2 per cent beer, and wine also, to a United States legally dry for that number of long, arid years.

Signs of an activity long forgotten reigned around that brewery and many others throughout a country that went slightly "ga ga" (Americanese for temporary craziness due to joy) as word flashed from Washington that prohibition would go out and beer and wine come in at the end of 15 days.

The din in Milwaukee, pre-Volstead brewing centre, was reminiscent of the armistice celebration.

Factory whistles blasted a noon-hour signal that America would soon be able to wet its whistle at five or 10 cents per glass, instead of paying flourishing speak-easy owners 25 cents for a tumbler of brew of doubtful strength and little age. Milwaukee firemen contributed with sirens and autoists leaned on horn buttons.

Elsewhere, as pulses generally quickened to the news, plans were laid for giving the foaming stein a mighty welcome when it returns in legal dress.

A New York hotelman said the celebration would make any New Year's eve party seem funereal.

DECREE HALF-HOLIDAY

Police details had to handle the mobs of job-seekers which besieged breweries at Philadelphia, Chicago and Milwaukee.

At the latter centre, the city fathers decreed a half-holiday for the date spigots may permit the brew to trickle.

Manufacturers of barrels, bottles, glasses and beer tavern fixtures said business was picking up by leaps and bounds.

New York realtors estimated a $30,000,000 building boom in the metropolitan area alone for new breweries and modernization of existing ones.

Prohis Already Work In Opposition

By FRANCES M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 23.—With smiles, the Roosevelt administration yesterday formally authorized sale of beer in the United States.

Bill legalizing both the amber brew and also wine of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content became law with the signature of President Roosevelt at two p.m.

"And I hope you got the smile at the end," he remarked to photographers who recorded the signing in the cabinet room at the White House executive office.

Wearing a broad grin himself an hour earlier, Vice-President Garner had affixed his signature to the legislation to send it from congress to the White House.

PROHIS. AT WORK

Fifteen days hence—or after midnight on April 6—the beer may be sold in the 14 states permitting it.

But the prohibitionists were already at work tonight on plans to halt the beer flow by court action. Some were considering seeking an injunction. Others were preparing to speed the case to the supreme court for a ruling whether it violated the constitutional mandate against sale of intoxicating beverages.

Federal officers charged with administration of the new law were just as busy to make sure of its enforcement. They ruled that the new beverage must be kept within the breweries or on the premises until the midnight hour has struck on April 6.

Trucks may then go their way and early morning celebrations will be legal so far as the federal government is concerned.

A tax of five dollars on each barrel of 31 gallons is levied; also federal license fees of $1,000 will be required annually from each brewery; $500 from each wholesaler and $20 from every retailer.

Beer and wine may be sold in the following 14 states as soon as legalized: Arizona, California, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington and Wisconsin.

ed by excessive tariffs exchange regulations and prohibitive quotas, he asserted.

Although there had been stagnation in some sections of British trade there had also been considerable activity in others. For instance the first two months of this year had seen automobile exports equal both in number and value the exports of three months of last year.

One brief but vital reference was made by Mr. Chamberlain to the domestic employment situation. "The policy of aiding unemployment by instituting relief works," he said, "has been tried but it failed. We don't intend to resume it."

Of the situation in Europe with reference to the planned World Economic Conference to which the peoples of almost every country are looking for some definite solution of economic and trade problems, the Chancellor pointed to the conversations recently concluded between several of the greater powers concerning the conference.

VIEWS ARE CLOSE

Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, had had discussions with the French Minister of Finance he pointed out and "at no time has there been closer approximation between the views of the British and French governments on subject that will be discussed at the Economic Conference."

Mr. Chamberlain hoped he himself would soon have conversations with the Italian minister of finance.

One of the most hopeful signs Mr. Chamberlain saw was "the countries realize something must be done and that the world will not be satisfied with pious resolutions."

MIRACULOUS CHANGE

Mr. Chamberlain said "an almost miraculous change" had taken place in the affairs of the United States since the inauguration of President Roosevelt.

"A few weeks ago," he said, "anyone looking at the situation in the United States could have done so only with a feeling of the gravest anxiety. Today, thanks to the initiative, courage and wisdom of the president, a change has taken place which is almost miraculous.

"Confidence has been largely restored. People who had withdrawn their money from the banks are bringing their hoardings back again. A new sense of confidence in the future has returned, and it is reflected in the markets on this side of the Atlantic."

obligations which it regards as being inconsistent with self-respect and with its honor."

The Mussolini plan, Prime Minister MacDonald said, essentially provided for collaboration between the four great powers who were permanent members of the League of Nations, and that the proposed collaboration should be carried out within the framework of the league with 10 years indicated as the first period for the proposed treaty.

The essence of the plan was maintenance of peace in the spirit of the Kellogg pact with the declaration that no power should resort to force in an effort to solve political differences.

Linked with the maintenance of peace was the question of revision of treaties. Mussolini's view was that whilst the covenant of the league enforced respect for treaty obligations, it also contemplated possibility of revision when conditions arise that might lead to conflict.

"Every treaty," Prime Minister MacDonald observed to the house, "is holy but no treaty is eternal."

VERBAL DIFFERENCES

"Some of the suggestions made to us," Mr. MacDonald continued, "quite plainly could not be accepted as they were. But in conversation we found they were very largely verbal differences and by a slight redrafting Mr. Mussolini's opinion and ours might coincide. We promised to study the plan," declared the prime minister.

"The British government held as essential to the plan that the smaller states should be consulted wherever their special interests were concerned. The smaller states must not be excluded from playing their appropriate part," he added.

"The question how the smaller states could be consulted was one of the points requiring close attention," he continued. "They have a right to be consulted whenever theis special interests are concerned, and that will be done."

Mr. MacDonald further continued that the submission of the British disarmament plan had restored hope to the Geneva conference and had heartened it to continue its work. He described the European background as very ominous and full of shadows and uncertainties. "Europe," he said, "is not settled. It is very unsettled. Europe is in a very nervous condition.

"Nnfortunately," he concluded gravely, "The one thing that can save us—confidence in each other—is more lacking today than for a long time. Events have happened and speeches have been made which have naturally added to the uncertainty."

MODERN MONTE CRISTO, MAN OF IMMENSE POWER, LIES DYING IN HIS PARIS PALACE

From Fires of War He Becomes Richest Man in Europe—Life is Filled With Romantic Episodes.

Late reports indicate that Sir Basil Zaharoff, Europe's man of mystery, is lying seriously ill at his palace in Paris. It is reported that the famous cosmopolitan is slowly dying from the weakening effects of influenza.

By W. JOHN STEWART
Special Cable to Edmonton Bulletin, Copyright, 1933.

PARIS, March 23.—Fire has ever been the instrument of Zacharias Basileous, known to the world as Sir Basil Zaharoff.

From fire he became the richest man in Europe. Flames of destruction made him a sinister figure in international politics. The stupendous conflagration of 1914-18 established him as a power behind thrones, a sword of Damocles hovering over the heads of prime ministers and presidents.

And it was with fire that he robbed the world of the story of his life— his diary. In this daily record he kept the most intimate details—relating one day some frivolity at Monte Carlo, the next, an interview behind the scenes with some renowned statesman.

To the flames he gave each volume, lest it should be read by other than his own eyes before his death.

Thus the book of Sir Basil Zaharoff remains closed for ever, save for the few scattered pages which have been recorded only after the most painstaking, though almost fruitless, research.

BORN IN TURKEY

It has been established that Sir Basil was born in Turkey, though the tall, bearded master of munitions once declared he did not know the place of his birth. As a youth he felt the Turkish animosity and persecution of the Creek—for Sir Basil's mother was a Greek. His father was Russian.

He was born in poverty, though he managed to secure the best education that Constantinople could offer. By his knowledge of foreign languages—he spoke fluently no less than fourteen—he was able to gain employment as a guide at hotels in Athens.

It was in this capacity that he met an agent of an industry he was later to master. The agent was selling arms for Vickers, British armament manufacturers.

Needing a secretary, the agent employed Zaharoff, who displayed such uncanny ability that he was told to go immediately to England as an employee of the Vickers Limited.

It was this journey that was the turning point of Zaharoff's career. Aboard the train, he met a beautiful Spanish girl of seventeen years with whom he fell in love on first sight. But it was a hopeless love; the young girl was already married to a Spanish nobleman many years her senior.

Arriving in Paris, Zaharoff pleaded with the girl to renounce her marriage. This, she explained was impossible, even though she admitted her undying love for him. She told him to go to England and make his fortune, that she would be able to assist him because of her influence in the Spanish court, that there may come a day . . .

WAITS 40 YEARS

Zaharoff waited forty years for that day. It was not until he was 74 that she was free to marry again.

The marriage, like everything else Sir Basil did, was performed with strict secrecy. The happy couple honeymooned at Monte Carlo for but fifteen months, when Lady Zaharoff was stricken with pneumonia and died.

Sir Basil was torn with grief. He has never since that time been in the news. The last picture of him is in his magnificent rose garden, built by his wife at his palace in Paris. He is standing by the open grave slowly filling it with the roses she loved so well. It was her dying wish.

But what of Sir Basil's career?

Since the day he left her in Paris, he became a man imbued with a lust for power and wealth. He went to England, spent his last shilling on fine clothes, and headed for Vickers.

Not to the employment department did he go. No servile position for him. Straight to the directors of the huge company he took himself, his powerful personality opening doors otherwise closed to such an unknown.

ARMS FOR SPAIN

He proposed to the board that if he could sell for them $5,000,000 worth of arms in Spain, a hitherto closed market for Vickers, he was to be made a director of the company.

With the aid of his beloved duchess he sold not five million, but twenty-five million to the Spanish government.

That "made" Sir Basil. From here on the picture is clouded in mystery. The gray-bearded figure with the piercing blue-gray eyes is seen here and there travelling about Europe and Asia. We see war and revolution following in his wake.

We find him peddling arms to Japan before 1904; then to Russia just before the Russo-Japanese war.

That was his plan. He would point out to governments that nearby countries were more efficiently armed and offer to put them on an equal basis or better. Then to the other country he would go with the same story, starting a competition in arms that could end in only one thing—war.

CONTROL OF VICKERS

He gained control of Vickers; he bought armament plants in almost every large country in the world, including Canada; he was part owner of the famous German Krupps. He took over the sale of Maxim's machine guns, and while Maxim sold them to the United States, Zaharoff sold them to Spain, during the Spanish-American war.

Before 1914 his plants were manufacturing war implements as quickly as they could be made. To every country he sold.

Then came the war, the crowning achievement of his life. Millions upon millions of dollars poured into his coffers. To one country he sold his guns; to the other he loaned money—all for the purpose of killing. He apparently sided with the Allies; became a bosom friend of Lloyd George, and was knighted by the King.

If the record of death, suffering and destruction in this world, caused by Sir Basil Zaharoff's products could ever be compiled, what a stupendous record it would be.

After the war business slumped in armaments.

BOUGHT MONTE CARLO

But Sir Basil had other irons in the fire. He bought Monte Carlo, made it pay huge dividends. He purchased great tracts of land where oil could be obtained. He threatened the supremacy of Rockefeller and the Standard Oil Company of the United States; of Sir Henry Deterding, the oil king of Europe; he became a second J. P. Morgan.

He owned large ocean liners; he set up Venizelos as the ruler of Greece, deposing the king. He knocked Venizelos from his pinnacle and put back the king, only to again reverse the order.

He financed the disastrous Greek invasion of the Balkans; the war with Turkey. . . . He and his many agents made puppets and pawns of rulers and politicians. When he had something to say he bought a newspaper in which to say it, and to stir up propaganda.

But never, save once to deny a charge made in the British house of commons, did he utter any public statement.

Fire and sword have ever been his instruments; they brought him wealth and power, though they could not bring him the woman he loved.

Today he sits in his magnificent Chateau de Balincourt, half blind, bent and gaunt, haggard and worn. But his keen brain still functions with all the precision of youth.

He is surrounded by works of art no money could buy yet he cannot see them; he owns the only solid gold dinner service in the world, yet he cannot eat; he controls oil fields of inestimable wealth; yet he will not use an automobile; he has established chairs of aeronautics at universities, yet he has never been in a plane.

He is a philanthropist; he has given away millions upon millions of francs to charity and other organizations.

It is said that he is determined to make amends for all those who suffered in the war and for those who have suicided in his gambling rooms at Monte Carlo.

It is reported that he has sold Monte Carlo; that he is through manufacturing arms.

True or not these rumors will probably never be confirmed.

His death is near and with death, silence.

MONARCHY IS SURE RETURN TO GERMANY

BERLIN, March 22 — That the monarchy will return to Germany "as surely as day follows night" was asserted by speakers at an enthusiastic "Kaiser true" gathering last night, commemorating the birthday of Wilhelm I.

Among those present were former Prince Eitel and many of the imperial officers.

BUDGET OPINIONS DIFFER

By the Canadian Press

War veterans, farmers and business men generally of Canada gave a full day's attention yesterday to the new government budget, bespoke their praise or condemnation and set about seeking more information on the operation of the new schedules. Otherwise, Mr. Average Citizen after a worried glance at the increased income taxes and new excise taxes with threatening rises in prices of some commodities and articles, sat back more or less with the attitude of waiting to see what would happen.

Representatives of war veterans' organizations last night were converging upon Ottawa to place before the government a general protest against the suspension of pensions to civil service employees.

From the west came a general chorus of approval from farmers and economists of the agricultural stabilization plan allowing, when exchange difference demands, $4.60 to the pound sterling on certain farm products.

Many business men in the industrial east viewed with alarm new excise taxes on sugar, cosmetics, toilet preparations, automobile tires and tubes and other articles and began readjustments while requesting definite information affecting their particular lines.

Executives of the Associated Veterans of Canada, "The Big Five," prepared today to act as spokesmen for upward of 200,000 former soldiers in protesting suspension of pensions before the government.

In Toronto Frank McDonagh, Dominion president of the Canadian Pensioners' association, preparing to leave for Ottawa, thought new legislation would be necessary to make valid the pensions suspension.

The Army and Navy veterans, through Col. W. C. H. Wood, Ottawa, Dominion president, opposed the suspension, and the president declared the proposed action was "a breach of faith."

In London, Ont., a telegram was drawn up under Legion auspices asking Sir Arthur Currie, president of the Legion in Canada, to appear before parliament and lodge a protest.

Agriculture approbation of the stabilization plan was voiced in several sections in the west. Roy McPhail, president of the Canadian Livestock Co-operative, Winnipeg, said the plan "will give agriculture an excellent lift."

M. Singer, head of a cigarette tube company, said the tax on tubes "has put us out of business." He said 35 men were laid off yesterday and machinery costing $35,000 was now of no use.

London, Ont., sugar refineries suspended shipments until definite word was received of the application of the tax.

Col. Armand Smith, of the E D. Smith Co., Winona, Ont., said increased costs in jams and marmalades would result from the sugar and sales tax.

FIRST BENEFITS WILL BE SEEN BY EXPORTERS

Markets for Certain Commodities Show Quick Response

OTTAWA, March 23.—With a clear picture of Canada's financial position before them, Canadians are looking for early steps to bring into effect some of the developments announced by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance, in his 1933 budget speech.

From many points of view the stabilization plan to aid exporters of certain farm and other products to the United Kingdom is likely to have the first definite effect. Markets for certain commodities even showed increased price trends today on the basis of the announcement.

ESTIMATES OF COST

The stabilization plan will be put into operation at the earliest possible moment, it is now indicated. Machinery to provide for payment to exporters of the difference between the normal value of the pound sterling and the actual value on sales of meats, fish, animals, cheese, canned fruits and vegetables and a few other commodities will be started at once.

Estimates of the cost of the scheme to the government varied and it was stated no definite indication along this line could be given. One estimate placed it at $6,000,000 but it is claimed the benefits to producers and exports will far exceed the government outlay.

BACON AND HAMS

On sales of bacon and hams an increase of one and one half cents a pound in price was forecast. Taking meats and live animals as an example the schedule is expected to bring a measure of increased confidence and stability which will bring about a price rise greater than the actual contribution from the treasury.

Buyers and packers now have to operate on a greater margin of profit owing to the rise of exchange fluctuations and the limitations of demand. With these hazards removed they will be able to get along on smaller profits and consequently pay more to the producer.

UNCLE SAM PLACES BEER ON PEDESTAL

NEW YORK, March 23.—King Beer reigned supreme in the United States last night.

The talk of hamlet and city, advertising men soon took up the chant and a few hours after a federal act promised 3.2 beer 15 days hence in states that are ready for it, a large New York departmental store headed its costly advertisement:

"Hip! Hip! What have we here:

"Everything to go with legalized beer."

"Orthodox pretzels, large and small.

"Straight ones, crooked ones, short and tall.

"Pedigreed blutwurst, plump and fine.

"Salted nuts and a nifty line.

"Olive, fish pastes, onions, too

"All born soul mates of three percent brew.

"Fat Frankfurters, and, if you please.

OXFORD TRIUMPHS

LONDON, March 23. — Oxford University defeated Cardiff 8-7 today in an English rugby union match, while in the English rugby league Hull defeated Batley 14-3.

HALIFAX, March 23. — Transfer of Inspector Basil B. Currie of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police post to Fort Smith, Northwest Territories, is announced by Supt. C. D. Lanauz, of Halifax. He will leave April 1.

F. X. Bushman To Pay Woman $3,500 Damages

CHICAGO, March 23—A circuit court jury Wednesday awarded $3,500 damages to a $50,000 personal injury suit against Francis X. Bushman, pioneer motion picture star.

The verdict was in favor of Mrs. Margaret O'Malley Brand, former church organist, who had testified her career was ended by injuries to her hand received when an automobile in which she was riding collided with one driven by the actor's chauffeur in 1931.

Bushman had contended Mrs. Brand was driving at an excessive rate of speed.

Excluding the production of bare aluminum cable for which production figures cannot be given, the value of wire and cable made for electrical purposes in Canada in 1931 totalled 10,196,160.

Child Is Run Over By Train And Still Lives

DIDSBURY, Alta., March 23—Two-year-old Clara Klein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Klein, of Didsbury, was run over by a train today, but is alive and uninjured although badly frightened.

The child was walking on the railway tracks when a train approached. Terrified, she started to run but stumbled and fell.

The engineer applied the brakes. The engine, however, passed over the little girl.

Members of the train crew tumbled hastily from the cars and found Clara beneath the coal-tender. The child was slightly hysterical but had escaped without a bruise.

Ontario Records $2,060,798 Deficit

TORONTO, March 23—With a deficit of $2,060,798 for the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, Ontario's public accounts were tabled in the legislation today. Ordinary revenue was shown as $54,175,233 and ordinary expenditure $52,173,085. This indicated a surplus of $2,002,146 but special expenditure of $4,062,944 wiped out the surplus and left the deficit.

Included under special expenditures were $808,470 for unemp'oyment relief, $567,120 for old age pensions during 1931, and $2,330,463 in payment on exchange on United States funds.

Decreased revenues were shown in every department except three, gasoline tax, corporation tax and motor vehicles, which showed slight increases due to an increase in tax rates last year.

Farmers Buy Horses For Spring Plowing

BRUCE, Alta. March 23.—At the annual meeting and election of officers of the Bruce Board of Trade last year's officers were re-elected, J. W. Stambaugh being returned as president. One motion before the body is the creation of a nuisance ground for Bruce, a suitable site to be selected and approved by the department of public health.

Finding tractors too expensive to operate, a number of farmers have been invading this district in search of horses suitable for spring work. Judging from the demand there will be a shortage of well broken horses ready for the plow when work commences. Prices, while variable, are showing a steady increase.

POUND VALUE FIXED

OTTAWA, March 23.—The value of the pound for special duty purposes has been fixed at $4.25, it is announced by the department of national revenue. This rate is effective until otherwise ordered.

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—A slight earth tremor was felt in Los Angeles at 12:40 a.m. today. It lasted less than three seconds and did no damage.

RECIPROCITY TREATIES TO BE ENACTED

Decision Means Embarking on Entirely New Policy

By F. G. VOSBURGH,
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The Roosevelt administration will seek from the present special session of congress a free hand for the new president to open American tariff doors in return for compensating breaches in foreign tariff walls by means of reciprocal treaties.

This amendment, with its bearing upon world trade and possibly upon war debts, was made definitely today by the state department. The legislation will be pressed as soon as emergency measures encompassed in President Roosevelt's programme have been enacted.

The decision means embarkation upon an entirely new tariff policy from that pursued since 1909 when provisions for reciprocity were repealed.

At the same time there are plenty of signs that such a proposal may encounter strong opposition.

With the proposed power in his hands, President Roosevelt would be in a position to make tariff dickers with any nation. One of the first countries which might be considered probably would be the United Kingdom.

BIG WELCOME ACCORDED TO LOCAL PILOT

Capt. Maurice Burbidge is Congratulated Upon Winning Flying Award

As two of the Edmonton Aero Club Moth machines droned overhead in salute to one of the city's outstanding flying aces, Capt. Maurice Burbidge and Mrs. Burbidge stepped from a C.N.R. train Thursday morning after a three months visit in England.

They were met by a host of well-wishers who milled about the distinguished flyer to congratulate him upon receiving the Dalzell McKee meritorious service award for his contributions to Canadian aviation during the past year. After a brief delay while Mrs. Burbidge returned to the baggage car to get two pedigreed retreivers which she had brought over from the Old Country, the party left for the Burbidge home in the West end.

When asked upon what feat the department of civil aviation had based its decision in making the award, Capt. Burbidge replied that he did not know.

"The first I knew of it was when I was handed a telegram on the train outside of Winnipeg. This message was signed by Jimmy Bell, manager of the Edmonton airport, and I figured it was just a leg puller. Later I received another telegram from Grant McConachie congratulating me, so I thought there must be something to it. However, when I read the account in a Winnipeg paper, I knew it must be the truth."

As Capt. Burbidge was reluctant to talk about his own achievements, it was necessary to find another source for information.

"It was for training so many excellent pilots that won him the award," said Capt. James Bell. "You see, the terms upon which the selection is made differs each year. One year it will be for service in commercial aviation, the next will be based on outstanding service in the Forestry Patrol, and then in the air force department. This year it was open to flying instructors throughout Canada. Edmonton turned out the greatest number of pilots, and it was Capt. Burbidge's efforts that made this possible."

Many people in Edmonton know that Capt. Burbidge has an outstanding war record. To get any information on this score it was again necessary to go to Capt. Bell.

When the war first broke out Capt. Burbidge enlisted in the Cavalry corps but in 1915 he applied for a transfer to the Royal Air Force and his application was successful.

At that time there were three distinct divisions of flying operations. The R.F.C., the air force division of the navy and of the army. In order to concentrate a bombing squad on Germany it was necessary to form an Independent air force whose duties would be to fly well into German territory and bomb munition factories and poison-gas plants. Capt. Burbidge became a member of this distinguished force.

Both Capt. Burbidge and his wife enjoyed their trip immensely. Both agree that present conditions in England point to a brilliant comeback in the near future.

FOE OF RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Any move for recognition of Russia by United States will meet a staunch foe in Senator William H. King, Utah Democrat, unless, he says, that country "mends her ways."

CALGARY, March 23.—City officials, reaching out for anything on which to practice economy, have laid their hands on the city hall elevator which they decreed will cease running. City fathers and other officials from now on will use the stairs, quite a task for some of them who tip the scales around 200.

LEGION ASKS TO POSTPONE REGULATION

Interpretation is That Returned Men Cannot Draw Both War Service Emolument and Salary Too.

OTTAWA, March 23—Asking action on suspension of pensions to war veterans in the government service be deferred until after Thursday's meeting of the "Big Five," J. R. Bowler, general secretary of the Canadian Legion, today communicated with the Prime Minister. Mr. Bowler further requested the veterans' representatives be given an opportunity to meet the government on the matter and discuss it with them.

Meeting of the associated veterans has been called by Major S. Roper, M.C., Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, with a view to ascertaining the full import of the announcement in Tuesday's budget. In brief, this indicated that civil servants in receipt of disability pension must choose between drawing their pension and drawing the salary attached to their position. But, the interpretation of the nanouncement indicates, they can not draw both pension and salary.

Veterans fear this act on the part of the Dominion government may be contagious, that it may spread to provincial and municipal administrations.

Prominent Grain Shipper Dies At Vancouver Home

VANCOUVER, March 23. — William Burrington Smith, formerly prominent in the Chicago and British grain trades, is dead at his home here, aged 80.

Mr. Smith came to Victoria more than 70 years ago with his parents. He went to Chicago as a youth, where he rose to the position of inspector in charge of all shipment of grain out of Chicago. He was a member of the grain exchange and the board of trade of that city.

Later he went to England, where he founded the Smith Bathgate company, grain and flour shipping company of Bristol. He crossed the Atlantic between New York and European centeres in the interest of grain shipping companies more than 40 times.

Mr. Smith was attracted to Vancouver in 1911 by this city's future as a grain shipping port, but he did not re-enter the grain business.

Court Order Is Sought To Compel Meeting Of Union

TORONTO, March 23—Application for an order requiring A. R. Mosher, president since 1909 of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, and M. N. McLean, its secretary treasurer, to call a meeting of the grand division of the organization by May 31, was made to Mr. Justice W. E. Raney, in weekly court at Osgoode Hall yesterday. The application is on behalf of C. H. Minchin, Robert Dykes, O. M. Allen, George Dormer, H. G. McMillan, J. J. O'Halloran, acting for themselves and other members of the union.

An order forbidding President Mosher to suspend members of the organization pending the holding of the convention, which it was alleged should have been held in 1931, was also sought.

Mr. Justice Raney asked if there would be any objection to holding the proposed meeting in June but counsel disagreed.

Hines Mentioned For Key Post In Railroad Program

NEW YORK, March 23—Walker D. Hines, director-general of the United States railroads during the wartime federal control period, is the man most prominently mentioned in usually well-informed Wall Street quarters this week for probable elevation to a key position in the administration's forthcoming transportation programme.

Hines, a former director of the Santa Fe, and at present a practising attorney in New York, has been a student of the railroad problem all his life.

FIND HOPPER EGGS

STAVELY, Alta., March 23.—Millions of grasshopper eggs have been discovered in this district of Alberta, and farmers fear a serious hopper plague this summer. If the spring brings plenty of rain, however, it is thought the danger will be eliminated.

REV. BROOK DIES

LONDON, March 23.—Rev. David Brook, a leading figure in the English Free Church for several decades, died today in his 79th year. He was widely known for his sermons and lectures.

WASHINGTON, March 23. — The possibility developed today that the United States Senate banking committee may investigate the justice departments handling of the prosecution of Joseph W Harriman, former president of the Harriman National Bank and Trust Company, charged with falsifying accounts.

CURRIE PLEADS LEAVE SOLDIER PENSION ALONE

Sir Arthur Deprecates Any Action to Slash Obligations

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., March 23—Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill university, Montreal, and former commander of the Canadian corps in France, tonight told the Bowmanville branch of the Canadian Legion "the last thing to be touched" should be disabled war veterans' pensions.

Sir Arthur was speaking of provision in the Dominion government's budget which would prohibit veterans receiving disablement pensions and pay from government jobs at the same time.

"Before I would favor any pensions reductions or changes," he said, "I would like to be assured that all our governments, civic, provincial and federal, had taken all the steps they possibly could toward governmental economy—and I have not yet seen indications that this has been done.

"Before the pensioners are asked to be sacrificed," he continued, "I would like to be sure that other classes of citizens are making equal sacrifices, and I do not see that this is being done."

MINERS BEGIN FIFTH DAY IN COAL SHAFTS

More Than 700 Defying Death to Save Their Jobs

WARSAW, Poland, March 23—More than 700 coal miners at Kilmontow, defying death to save their jobs, have begun their fifth successive day in dark, damp pits underground.

They refused to come to the surface unless the government guaranteed their jobs. From Saturday until last night the striking miners refused food.

They finally broke their fast as they began their fifth night in the mine shafts after previously declining food which had been taken down to them. But instead of coming out, they decided to send representatives here to present their pleas to the government.

The mine operators had announced plans to flood the shafts in which the men worked and to prevent this action the men have remained at their posts since the close of work Saturday night. Their wives and children picketed the pitheads.

Operators decided to flood the shafts because the government refused to allow a 15-per-cent. wage cut after ordering a 17-per-cent. reduction in the price of the coal.

The strikers cut telephone wires connecting with the mine shafts.

New Detroit Bank Will Open Friday

DETROIT, March 23.—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, said today the new National Bank of Detroit, backed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and General Motors Corporation, will open at 10 a.m. Friday in the First National Bank building.

Whether the new bank will take over the assets of the old First National and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce will be determined by negotiations now under way.

OUR "SOUND MONEY" FRAUD

The Minister of Finance boasted at Ottawa on Tuesday that the value of the Canadian dollar "had been maintained at a moderate discount in terms of the United States dollar."

The next morning this "moderate" discount was 19¾ per cent.

Speaking at London, Ont., a few months ago, the Minister said if our dollar were tied to the pound sterling it might fall to 70 cents in New York. It was two-thirds of the way down to that point on Wednesday, the "sound money" theory notwithstanding.

We are in consequence standing two-thirds of the disadvantage the Minister estimatees we might encounter in paying our United States obligations under a managed currency. And we are getting none of the advantage that would come to our export trade if we put our money in line with the currency in which the bulk of the world trade is being done. "Sound money" shuts our products out of markets where we formerly did business, while it does not even enable us to pay our debts abroad at par.

The Canadian taxpayer is being ground between the mill-stones of depressed earnings and inflated debts. His products and his labor sell at half as many dollars as he used to get, and the dollars are not dollars when he has to pay a bill abroad. He is getting the worst of the deal going and coming in his selling and in his paying.

Our money is only "sound" in that it drives prices and wages down. It is not "sound," by nearly 20 per cent, when it comes to paying debts in New York.

BETTER EAR-MARK THE MONEY

Of the provincial revenue collected last year by direct taxation, more than half came from motor license fees and the gasoline tax. The total ran to nearly $3,000,000.

In a ten year period, including the estimates for next year, the revenue from these sources is calculated to amount to more than $29,000,000. Approximately one-third of this money has been spent on the highways. The remainder, $20,000,000 has gone into general revenue and been spent to meet current expenditures. Additional money spent on the highways has been borrowed.

That is to say, if all the money drawn from motorists through gasoline taxes and license fees had been ear-marked for highway purposes, Alberta would have as many miles of highway as it has, without having borrowed any money at all.

The policy of ear-marking motor revenues for highway construction has been often urged—and as often refused, on the ground that it would complicate financial operations. Failing to segregate the revenue for this purpose seems to have also produced some complications. The money is gone, and we have a highway debt to pay, with interest.

This would be a good time to reverse these former decisions and definitely pledge motor revenue for highway use in future. The highways will have to be kept up in any case. If the motor revenue is spent otherwise the Government will be under continuous pressure to borrow for highway building and upkeep. It would be easier to refuse to borrow for other purposes.

A NEW RESPONSIBILITY

Lord Beaverbrook says it is now a duty of a government to see that its subjects have an opportunity to support themselves by working.

He is right. But his saying this will be sorely displeasing to his friends at Ottawa, as at London, and particularly distressing to his former business associate and political idol, Premier Bennett. The Government of Mr. Bennett is not supplying jobs for idle men, nor admitting any such responsibility. It is only helping to supply them with "doles," and there have been suggestions it may cease to do that much for them at the end of the present year.

But whatever Lord Beaverbrook and Mr. Bennett think about it, and each other, the obvious fact is that governments have a responsibility for the present condition of world-wide unemployment, a responsibility that is real, direct, and inescapable.

During the war years and in the years since the war ended governments have spent hundreds of millions of dollars to stimulate production of almost everything necessary to human existence. They have bonussed invention, subsidized research workers, manipulated tariffs, all with the avowed object of speeding up production.

They have succeeded beyond question, and beyond expectation. Thanks largely to their efforts, surplusses were created which broke the market and drove commodity prices down to less than production cost; while the machinery of production was multiplied to the point that it cannot now be operated at full capacity without maintaining surplusses of embarrassing proportions.

As a necessary result, millions of men were thrown out of their jobs. Worse still, millions of jobs were abolished, by the substitution of machinery for hand labor. If this machinery is to be worked at capacity, a third or a half of the displaced labor can never again be regularly employed, so far as now discernible. We are, in that respect, in an entirely new situation, for which the governments of the world are primarily to blame, or to praise.

This new situation calls for a readjustment of government policies, and the assumption of new responsibilities in regard to the individual. It is useless to tell the displaced millions to take care of themselves as their fathers did. They simply cannot do it. Their fathers did not have to fight government-made surplusses of commodities plus government-made surplus-producing machinery. Broadly speaking, the unemployed man cannot fend for himself. His government, which helped to put him where he is, will have to find work for him when he cannot find work for himself.

A BUSINESS YEAR BOOK

The Financial Post Business Year Book for 1933 is, as usual, a mine on information on business, markets, industry, agriculture, transportation, trade, taxation, banking, finance, prices and insurance, in Canada and Newfoundland. Those who wish, or have occasion, to have accurate knowledge on these subjects readily available will find the year book invaluable.

The chief feature of this volume is a special survey of retail merchandising in the 65 leading cities of Canada. This year is the first time that any information of an official character has been available concerning merchandising in Canada. This survey will be very useful to manufacturers.

In all, there are some 65 specially prepared maps and charts depicting every phase of economic activity in Canada. Other features include a special analysis of Canada's buying power by provinces and by industrial groups for 1932-1933; an analysis of new branch plants and industries which have located in Canada during 1932; a special compilation giving comparative experience of tariff and non-tariff fire insurance companies in Canada which has been undertaken for the first time; a survey of the rise of government costs in the Dominion; and a four page record showing the month by month figures of Canadian business indicators in the past seven years.

On This Date

—a Day in Canadian History—

By Fred Williams

THE PARADISE OF CANADA

On this date, in 1670, two Sulpician priests planted a cross on the shores of Lake Erie, the site of which near Port Dover has been marked by an historical monument.

The priests were the soldier Dollier deCasson, afterwards vicar general of Montreal, and Father Rene de Brebant de Galinee, who had made their way up the St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario with Lasalle and Joliet, but had parted from the latter at the mouth of the Niagara and portaged across the Grand River to Lake Erie.

De Galinee kept a record of his journeys which is a most valuable historical document. When they reached the shores of Lake Erie which looked to them like a great sea, they explored for a while and then settled down in what is now the tobacco country of Ontario but which the priest-author described as the "Paradise of Canada." They said mass three times a week, mostly to themselves but now and then to some Indians.

On Passion Sunday, 1670, they went to the lake shore and made a large cross which they planted. At its foot were placed the arms of the king of France with a formal inscription setting forth how the two Sulpicians and seven other Frenchmen had been the first Europeans to winter on the lake and how they had taken possession of the country for Louis XIV. by attaching his arms to the foot of the cross. Eventually they made their way to the Soo and thence down the Ottawa river to Montreal, where they were welcomed as "men from the dead" come to life.

The Mail Bag

REDUCTION OF LEGISLATURE MEMBERS

Editor Bulletin: Again the consideration of reduction in membership of the legislature and redistribution has arisen. Again it is likely to receive the scant and improper consideration to which it is not entitled. The obvious suggestion of a solution to a problem is not necessarily the best solution. But it would appear in this matter that an obvious and possibly best exists, that the legislature should consider at this time.

The Federal government is held to the terms of the British North America Act as to redistribution, which is fairly and efficiently done on the principle of "Rep. by Pop." Sixteen Federal constituencies exist in Alberta, with the prospect of an addition of one this session. The present basis is sound and ample, with the possibility of a slight adjustment between Peace River and Athabasca.

The provincial government is strong for proportional representation (in the cities). Let them display their belief in the principle in the country. If three members of the legislature were elected for each Federal member, the local legislature would be 48 members in all. If the new redistribution of Ottawa is taken the number would be 51, a reduction of 12 members from the present number.

That would effect considerable saving, would give three members to look after the needs of each constituency (federal size), would largely obliterate vocational and party politics; sweep out of existence the complications of a voter being in the Federal constituency of Athabasca and the provincial constituency of Beaver River, St. Paul or Sturgeon. It would clarify the whole electoral and redistribution difficulty. It is the obviously right thing to do. Because of that and its economic and political effect, it is the thing that is not likely to be considered.

Georgie came home from school very tearful. "What's the matter?" asked his father.

"I've lost the ten cents teacher gave for the best boy in the class," he wailed.

"Never mind," said his pleased father. "Here's another ten cents. But how did you come to lose it?"

"Because I wasn't the best boy," answered georgie.

The Passing Show

By J. S. Cowper

Opponents of inflation like to dwell on the story of the German clerk who during the time when Germany inflated her currency to wallpaper value, to get rid of her external obligations, drew out at maturity an endowment insurance. He had counted on it providing for his old age. It amounted to enough to buy him a new straw hat.

That was inflation run mad—and deliberately run mad. It isn't the sort of controlled inflation that present-day advocates of inflation ask for.

For an example of controlled inflation and of controlled exchange, we can look to what United States has done within recent weeks. She issued two billions of new currency to enable her banks to reopen—and in doing so actually stiffened the exchange value of the American dollar.

That two billions of new currency is worth noting for future reference. It hasn't a grain of gold behind the whole two thousand millions of it. It is issued against the "frozen assets" of the banks.

Just what are these "frozen assets"?

They are holdings of real estate which cannot be marketed under present day conditions when a four million dollar hotel fails to find a buyer at $450,000.

There is little realisable value behind it. Real estate is forbidden as banking security in Canada.

The real security behind the two billions of new currency is the word of the government—the national wealth and the national honor.

Two additional billions of new currency without a grain of gold behind it—and it has increased the value of every gold-backed dollar in United States on the international exchanges.

If it means anything, it means that national wealth and national honor are the real securities behind a currency—not the amount of a rather useless yellow metal that the Treasury happens to have in stock at the timee.

Paul Reading has disclosed that the reason the Americna dollar did not fall on the exchange with the issue of the additional non-gold currency is that "it had been left to the large New York banks to exercise a tacit management of the exchange market for the time being, and that they are limiting sales of American funds to existing commitments and commercial transactions. This is the type of exchange conrol that has kept the German mark at an artificial parity with gold despite adverse conditions."

In other words, the big New York banks are barring out the exchange speculator and rationing exchange in New York. They are doing this in face of the penalties of an exchange at a premium, chief of which is the handicap of a high currency in foreign export trade.

If United States can do all this, handicapped in theory by new currency issued against frozen real estate, with its banks forced to close and its foreign trade suffering from premium currency, it is nonsense to suppose that a country like Canada could not easily control inflation to a point where the farmer and lumberman could sell their products abroad at an advantage.

It looks as if France knew Germany better than England did. Ever since the Peace Treaty at Versailles, English influence has been used to protect Germany from the exactions of victorious France. Money that was needed at home was lent by Britain to Germany to tear down slums and rebuild cities. It was not on hand for repayment and British bankers who had lent money on short terms were obliged to turn them into long terms. Some of the money borrowed from England has been in turn loaned by Germany to Russia. Russia is using it to compete against Canada in the British market.

Irresponsibility in financial obligations is an annoyance, but the evidence of military preparation is a threat to the peace of Europe, and perhaps of the world. Whatever sympathy Britons felt for Germany in her efforts at rehabilitation has been speedily dissipated by the apparent intention of Germany to once more bring war into the world.

Perhaps it is true, as the ex-Kaiser pleads in extenuation, that he was forced against his will into letting loose the dogs of war.

The smart dress shops in Berlin have complained about the difficulty in finding suitable mannequins to display their gowns.

A Berlin paper explains the reason why. It says:

"There are more applicants for monnequins' jobs than ever, but their chests are too narrow, their shoulder blades protrude too far, or their carriage is poor, owing to weak physique.

"Hardships during childhood and during the war years are responsible."

After that grim reminder of the human misery created by war, Germans should be loth to force a new generation into the shambles.

Moscow is facing a problem of health and hygiene, and in a way that many prairie dwellers might note with advantage.

At the approach of winter, the custom in Russia had been to hermetically seal all windows and as many doors as possible. Putty was used to keep out the wintry air. Unfortunately it confined the foul air of the rooms indoors.

Indians develop T.B. under such conditions. Russians have greater resistance, but their health suffers.

The Moscow City Soviet has issued orders that hereafter on every day of the year, each room must be aired at least twice a day. Doors and windows must be thrown open for the oxygen-laden air.

The health order may have a greater effect than any made since Russia turned to Sovietism.

Amy Johnson's wonderful London to the Cape record has been attacked by the 19-year-old South African flyer Victor Smith. He flew from London to Van Rhym's farm in Cape Colony, 200 miles north of Capetown in four days. His engine failed him at that point.

Some people said he had failed, by not reaching Capetown, but Smith says the flight is not from town to town but from country to country, and claims the record.

PATRONAGE

Some day, perhaps, we shall have a democracy sufficiently educated not to want patronage. We haven't such a democracy now. We have made progress, but we are in the process of losing much of it; and unless and until many among us who don't want patronage become as active and as articulate as those who do want it, we may lose a great deal more, perhaps all of it.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

PERMANENT CURE OF FLATULENCY TAKES TIMES

In overcoming the tendency to flatulency the best plan is to use some form of the fasting cure, in order to completely cleanse the alimentary canal of the accumulation of toxins and waste matter. Most cases of flatulence can be either cured or greatly benefited by following my Cleansing Diet Course, which appeared in this column some time ago. If you did not save the articles on fasting and dieting, I will be glad to send a copy to you if you will write to me in care of The Bulletin and enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

After the initial fruit juice diet it is advisable to adopt a new dietetic regimen. One should avoid all foods that have a gas-forming tendency, such as dried beans, cabbage, radishes, peppers, turnips, melons, onions and garlic You are to be rigidly careful to use only good food combinations and you will be pleased to find that, when flatulence is due to the use of improper combinations, you will overcome it quite easily by combining foods in the right way.

You will get the best results if you will do without starches for one month. Avoid fats and especially greasy or fried foods. Sweets, pastries, cakes and all forms of concentrated sugar should be omitted, together with tea, coffee, gravy and condiments. If there has been any stomach inflammation present, you will do well after the fast to use a straight milk diet for a period until the inflamed surfaces have healed.

While on the fast and the curative diet you are to take one enema per day which will have the desirable effect of keeping the intestines cleansed and will help to get rid of many poisonous wastes which would otherwise be retained. The use of the enema has a further beneficial effect of preventing the excessive fermentation and putrefaction usually present with constipation. After one month on the above plan, some starchy foods may be used if combined according to the rules of good food combinations.

If kinks or pouches are present in the intestines, they should be corrected. Often hand manipulations, treatments with the sinusoidal electric currents, or special exercises prove helpful. In fact, the regular enjoyment of physical culture exercises and long walks cannot be too highly recommended. Great benefit will be derived from using special exercises called "Slanting Board Exercises" for developing the muscles of the abdomen. In some cases all that is needed to reduce the gas to normal is to completely overcome constipation.

Once you get the entire digestive tract in good working order with the right kind of food, and daily elimination of waste, and are successful in building up the tone of the abdominal muscles, you will find that digestion proceeds so smoothly that you will not know you have any internal organs.

In overcoming flatulence you obtain two beneficial results. The first one is that you avoid the mechanical effects of the gas pressure against the vital organs. The second one is that you avoid those diseases which are the result of the continual irritation from food fermentation. If you suffer from excessive gas, do not be satisfied until you are entirely free from any tendency to this uncomfortable symptom.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: "Wishing to be of service to others" writes: "I wish that you would publish a menu suitable for a family of five or six people, two adults and three or four children, that would be nourishing but very inexpensive. With your knowledge of food combinations and food values you would be of great service to people in these days of hard times and unemployment. Many people do not realize that the inexpensive foods sometimes are the most nourishing."

ANSWER: You are quite right in what you say about nourishment being derived from inexpensive foods, and I have prepared an article on this subject which is too long to be printed in the Question and Answer Department of this column; however, if you will write to me again, giving me your name and address on a large, stamped envelope, and ask for Inexpensive Menus, I will be glad to forward the information to you.

QUESTION: Mrs. M. G. G. writes: "For sometime I have had a sore spot between the shoulders and feel like something was creeping under the flesh. What do you think causes this and advise me."

ANSWER: The spot between your shoulders might be a reflex sensation from the irritation of some internal organ or it might be due to some nerve pressure or irritation in the back itself. It might be a good plan for you to get the opinion of a competent osteopath or chiropractor who could examine your back.

Horoscope

By Mary Blake

If March 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a.m. to 8 a.m., from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and from 4:30 p.m. to 5:45 pm. The danger periods are from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Compromises will be the order of the day. You will have to consider the wishes and desires of others more than is usually the case Individuals gathered together in groups will pull together and work in a high degree of harmony The family will be a strong unit this day.

The child born on this March 24 will probably hold itself quite aloof from all people; even towards members of his own family this characteristic will manifest itself. The child will not possess a secretive nature, but it will be endowed with great reserve and restraint. It will prefer to work out its own problems rather than to seek help.

If March 24 is the date of your birth, you are more than likely a person who believes firmly that each individual is master of his own destiny. You do not believe in luck or in fate. You do believe, however, that each one gets his just due and that he who seeks good reaps that which is good, and vice versa. Yours is a strong character. You are unbending and unyielding when you know you are in the right. On the other hand, you are the first to recognize your mistakes and to admit them. You are always seeking to better yourself and to improve your condition in life.

Jobless Relief Plans Laid

GOVERNMENT SEEKING LAWS ANOTHER YEAR

Would Clothe Administration With Wide Powers

OTTAWA, March 23— House of Commons took the first step today to extend for another year the government's unemployment relief legislation and clothe the administration with wide powers to deal with the "peace, order and good government" of the country.

Without recorded division, a resolution was passed, instructing the government to bring in the relief legislation, climaxing a week or more of debate. The legislation, itself, will be discussed next week.

The government is gathering data on a contributory unemployment insurance scheme, but at every turn collides with the constitutional rights of the provinces, Hon. W. A. Gordon, minister of labor, told the house. It will be necessary for the provinces to surrender some legal rights before a nation-wide scheme is possible, added Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of justice.

WOULDN'T SURRENDER

At a recent Dominion-provincial conference, continued Mr. Guthrie, the provinces declined to surrender their legal powers over insurance and were opposed to an amendment to the British North America Act to enable the Dominion to act alone. Before any federal scheme could be established, the Dominion must have the power to compel employees and employers to contribute to the central fund—a power now vested in the provinces.

The Dominion placed no detailed insurance scheme before the provinces at the conference, the labor minister said, discussion ranging around the constitutional issues at stake. Until that barrier was removed, details were impossible.

AS SIDE ISSUE

As a side issue to the debate, A. A. Heaps, Labor, Winnipeg North, suggested a nation-wide 30-hour working week. This would share available work among more people. He realized this again was a provincial matter but added, "I think at times we should rise above the constitution, especially when this parliament is the only authority competent to deal with the scheme.

Hon. Peter Heenan, (Lib., Rainy River), started the discussion on unemployment insurance. He asked the minister to give complete details of the January Dominion-provincial conference.

The government's position in respect to unemployment insurance was well explained by the prime minister at the fall session, Mr. Gordon replied.

PROVINCIAL SUPPORT

But any scheme, to be of lasting force and benefit, would have to be contributory and have the full support of the provinces. At the start Dominion and provinces were faced with the preliminary barrier of constitutional rights.

It was agreed at the conference that the attitude of the various provinces would not be made public, the minister continued. He could only go so far as to say the question was seriously considered from many angles and was still under consideration by the Dominion and provinces.

Efforts were still being made, Mr. Gordon said, to overcome the constitutional barriers and evolve a plan "that will be laid on such a sure and sound basis that it will prevail and will not be nullified by hasty action of this or any other government."

KING PRESSES MINISTER

Rt. Hon Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition, expressed the opinion unemployment insurance and old-age pensions were on practically the same footing in respect to constitutional obstacles, although he admitted the former had more complicating angles.

"Did the federal government place any scheme before the provinces at the conference?" Mr. King pressed the minister.

Before any scheme could take form, the minister replied, the constitutional barriers had to be removed. Many forms and plans were discussed and the delegates left with a clearer understanding of the circumstances which would have to be considered.

If the government had presented its own plan and left it for the conference to accept or reject, no further progress would have been made. "No hard, fast, rigid plan was presented," said Mr. Gordon.

Coast Exports Of Grain Runs 74,051,821 Bushels

VANCOUVER, March 23.—Grain exports this season have reached 74,051,621 bushels, compared with 49,712,286 bushels at this date last season, according to weekly report of Vancouver Merchants' Exchange. There are ships in port to load 1,978,667 bushels, and balance of March bookings are 970,666 bushels.

Railways report 855,800 bushels on cars in terminal yards, and 766,200 bushels en route west on lines in the province. Elevator stocks are 11,474,322 bushels.

The movement during the past week totalled 1,182,324 bushels.

Alimony Paying Mates Get Aid

ALBANY, N. Y., March 23.—Alimony paying husbands were given a "break" Wednesday when the assembly of the New York legislature approved a bill to halt the payment of alimony while a husband is in jail for failure to pay. The bill also provides exemption for husbands who are financially unable to make payments levied by the court.

Her Sad Task

Accompanied by C. D. Whitmore, her step-father, Lady Thornton, widow of Sir Henry Worth Thornton, former head of the Canadian National Railways, is shown leaving St. Thomas Protestant Episcopal Church, New York, after the funeral services for her husband.

DISARMING MEET NOT TO ADJOURN

GENEVA, March 23—The world disarmament conference declined to adjourn today to make way for four-power conversations among British, French, German and Italian representatives as proposed in the Mussolini peace plan.

The decision was generally interpreted as a veto by the small powers to a proposal for a European directory by the great powers.

(France objected to the Mussolini plan, demanding its allies, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Jugo-Slavia be treated as equals. It demanded the plan be held within the framework of the League of Nations. France and her allies believed this would prevent an Italo-German bloc against them. The disarmament conference is a League agency.)

A general discussion of the disarmament plan of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, proposing definite reductions in armies and navies for various nations, will begin Friday afternoon.

Airship Station Is To Be Demolished

LONDON, March 23.—Howden airship station, in the Yorkshire east riding, home of the R100, and during the war, of other airships, is to be pulled down. Howden airship shed cost £250,000, and was completed in 1921. The entire buildings cost £750,000.

Production of pig iron in Canada during December totalled 27,031 long tons. This was the highest tonnage reported for any month of the year and exceeded the 14,149 tons of November by 91 per cent.

INFORMERS IN ONTARIO SEEK LOTTERY GAIN

Three Sue Out Writs, Claiming Money Due to Sweepstake Winners

TORONTO, March 23—Three persons, suing as informers under a section of the Criminal Code, have issued writs at Osgoode Hall, claiming prospective winnings of holders of tickets on the Grand National Steeplechase race, to be run at Aintree, England, Friday.

Albert Plenty, Toronto, has issued a writ against "Steamboat Stan," otherwise known as Stanley Clark, Toronto.

In a second writ, Douglas Durnan asks the amount of the prize or winnings or other moneys or benefits to which Anne Randall, Toronto, may become entitled.

Clara Kimpton, Toronto, as an informer, sues Fred R. Kimpton and claims all moneys won on a ticket in the sweepstakes.

Alberta Woman Draws Horse

VANCOUVER, March 23—Holder of one of the lucky tickets in the Irish Free State sweepstakes on the Grand National, the draw of which was announced yesterday, reported at first as a Vancouver resident, was found to be Miss A. McBain, of Alberta.

Mrs. E. M. McFadden, Oak street, was notified that a ticket giving her address and signed "Arabella" had drawn Inverse. On comparing it with her own she found it did not correspond. Then she remembered that Miss McBain who visited her last year had purchased a ticket and apparently given the Vancouver address. Miss McBain at present is in California.

Four Canadians Draw Favorites

DUBLIN, Irish Free State,, March 23.—Twenty-eight Canadians today drew horses in the Irish hospital sweepstake for Friday's running at Liverpool of the Grand National, world's premier steeplechase. Any one of them may win money ranging from $123,000, for a wininng horse, down to $410, consolation prize.

Four Canadians drew tickets on the favorites, two getting Gregalach and two Golden Miller which top the betting jointly at odds of nine to one against. Seventeen other tickets were drawn on each of the favorites.

Subscriptions set a record for the sweepstake, now the biggest of its kind in the world, totalling £3,101,320 (about $12,500,000 at the current rate of exchange in Canada). Of this about $8,000,000 will be distributed in prizes.

Not all moral questions can be answered with absolute scientific accuracy, but no decision as to what is normally right is possible without science. Science puts the right of organized society above the rights of individuals.

1.—Yes. It is the deepest, most permanent, most inspiring belief of my life. For those who do not believe in evolution I have the utmost respect, although I believe they have not examined the evidence in an unbiased spirit, or been trained in judging scientific evidence. Those who do believe in evolution find in it the basis of a broader, deeper religion, a sounder social philosophy, a more tolerant humanity and more hopeful outlook for man's earthly future.

2.—In general, the earlier the better, provided the young man or woman feels strongly drawn towards some line, or exhibits special ability in it. As Emerson said, "Fortunate is the man born with a strong bent in one direction." If one is uncertain he should constantly study, five things: His abilities, his interests, the occupations open to him, the income in each occupation, and the kind of life each occupation offers. If he can secure the advice of a good vocational psychologist or personnel director, it will be a great aid.

3.—I may surprise you with my answer, which is Yes, provided the "scientific methods" are started some years before the couples meet. Lying on my desk is a one-hundred page outline of a course of study in scientific mate-selection, which has been used by several leading high schools for years with the happiest results. Boys and girls study it together with the utmost seriousness and it adds greatly to their appreciation of what qualities to look for in a wife or husband. Scientific study of mate selection will soon be a commonplace in all high schools.

COURT HEARS OF BIG MONEY TRANSACTIONS

Customers of W. Ross Alger Corporation Give Evidence

The big money deals made between alleged victims and the W. Ross Alger corporation were aired in supreme court Wednesday as trusting customers of the company who had engaged in unfortunate $5,000 and $10,000 transactions came forward to give evidence against W. Ross Alger, charged with misappropriation of $46,000. Chief Justice Simmons, trial division, and a jury of six are hearing the case.

D. W. Campbell, 81 years old, lost bonds of the par value of $5,000 through giving them to Alger to get other bonds with the proceeds, he swore.

James J. Frawley, chief prosecutor for the attorney general's department in this case, referred to "your bonds" mentioned in a letter from Alger to the aged witness.

"But they weren't mine, I never got them," said Mr. Campbell, with considerable force.

Then Mr. Campbell went on to tell of a meeting he attended in the Ross Alger offices on December 15, at which time Alger said his liabilities were $21,000 and his assets, $27,000, and given time, he could pull through all right.

$5,000 NOT INCLUDED

"But I found out that my own missing $5,000 was not included in the liabilities," the old man sadly added.

"One thing that he said impressed me—that the business had been carried on for some time on the principle of robbing Peter to pay Paul," Mr. Campbell added.

"I signed the petition under protest," the witness declared in the end, when a document marked for identification earlier in the day by S. Bruce Smith, chief defence counsel, was referred to. This document was addressed to the court and asked that Alger be permitted to reorganize the company.

TURNED IN BONDS

Mrs. May Vera McQuay swore that she turned in bonds of the par value of $10,000 and got back bonds of the par value of $5,000 and a cheque for $834, representing the surplus owing her on a transaction with the second $5,000. She was also to get $5,500 worth of City of Edmonton bonds but had never been able to get them.

Alger had told her on one occasion that there was "some mistake" she swore.

In replying to a question from Mr. Smith that a previous deal with Alger had resulted in her getting her bonds according to contract, Mrs. McQuay said, "Yes, but they were handled through the bank."

Evidence confirming these deals was given by W. R. Baker, the previous witness' father, and a brother, W. H. Baker.

Alfred Peterson produced a $500 bond which he had got from Alger on a deal which was shown to be a bond handed the broker for disposal by Thomas George Reddish, Peavine farmer, who had testified to his losses on Tuesday.

J. W. McKim swore that he had given Alger a cheque for $4,762.50 on February 29, 1932, as payment for a provincial bond issue of par value of $5,000. So far he has not seen these bonds and said that one of the reasons given by Alger for the delay was that the lithographers at Ottawa were busy with a Dominion issue.

Mr. McKim further testified that Alger had visited him personally at the McKim home, after Christmas, and admitted to him that the trouble started some two or three years ago through trying to promote a coal mine in which he had got backing from two Edmontonians.

Alger is alleged to have confessed that he had been pressed so hard by one of these backers, that he had taken customers' funds to pay him, and then other customers' monies to repay the first ones.

Mr. McKim referred to the petition also and said that it sought to have Mr. Alger "available" for a reorganization.

Miss Gladys Littlewood was, the last witness before court adjourned and told of giving Alger $495 cash for a New Method laundry bond. She is still waiting for the bond.

Vintners Make No Move To Benefit By Wine Measure

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—While brewers speeded preparations to tap beer kegs the night of April 6, California's vintners made no move to take advantage of the simultaneous legalizing of 3.2 "wine."

It is worth nothing, they said, and isn't wine at all. Leaders of the industry, in whose cellars are stored 20,000,000 gallons of wine, reiterated they would wait for and continue to fight for legalization of naturally-fermented light wines of approximately 10 per cent. alcoholic content.

admit that it must either come to a show-down or to a blow-up as a result of present-day conditions in the chief Balkan county. In the latter event the whole of Eastern Europe, if not all Europe, will be involved. A whole series of perplexing foreign irritations has recently developed.

Some Dalmatian hotheads smashed up the stone lions that adorn a local palace at Trogir not long ago. These lions were put up centuries ago, when Dalmatia was a territory belonging to the Republic of Venice. Italian indignation flared up over this "insult." Italian indignation flared up the easier, since Italy claims that Dalmatia should have been joined to Italy after the war. Italy's claims to Dalmatia rest just exactly on the existence of such things as the Venetian lions in Trogir, for the country itself (Dalmatia) is purely Slovene. Yet Italy has never given up her Dalmatian claims.

ITALY CLAIMS INSULT

Demonstrations were held in Rome. Mussolini thundered defiance. Italian newspapers accused "the plotters in Belgrade and . . . Paris" of having caused the lions to be damaged on purpose to injure Italian prestige and armour-propre. In time the excitement subsided with Mussolini's personal paper, Il Popolo, firing off this parting shot: "Never will Italy forget the insult of Trogir. . . . There comes a day of reckoning."

The next incident was Jugoslavia's protest against Italy's activity in Albania. Albania is virtually an Italian colony in the Balkans. The Albanian army is drilled by Italians. Albania has a splendid air force, but not a red cent in her exchequer. The air staff and machines come from Italy. Italy was negotiating a new trade agreement with Albania. Belgrade got wind of it. Belgrade warned London and Paris that the two were concluding a customs union. Italy said it was not so. Nor does it seem likely, for Albania has no customs to speak of. But Belgrade had succeeded in her design which was to send an alarm into the world. Paris and London are rather sensitive on the subject of alarms in the Balkans. They have a reason for being so.

The Macedonians, a long-martyred people, who were torn away from the Bulgarians, their kith and kin, continue as bitterly irreconcilable as ever. The Jugoslav-Bulgar frontier where Macedonians inhabit both sides, resembles the old Hindenburg line in France, dense masses of barbed wire, trenches, concrete machine gun posts and heavily armed detachments of soldiers. Nobody may cross the frontier. Peasants may not visit their relatives a few hundred yards distant. The great transcontinental express trains are rushed through with blinds drawn.

RUMANIA FLIRTS WITH ITALY

Roumania, formerly friendly and an ally, has begun to flirt with Italy, because she considers herself abandoned by Fraance and Poland, who concluded a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia recently. Roumania was also invited to conclude such a pact, but Roumania refused because negotiations would inevitably bring up the question of Bessarabia, a tract of country which Roumania annexed from Russia in the days of Czarism's collapse. This situation gives Roumania a pretext for saying that she is menaced by Russia and cannot conclude a non-aggression pact as she is even now on the defensive, much on the same lines as Japan is defending herself against China in the Chinese province of Jehol today.

The Croats want federalism, so do the Slovenes, so do the Bosnians and Bulgaro-Macedonians. They claim a voice of equality with the Serbs who have hitherto run the country as if they were the masters. Political assassinations are a frequent occurence in Jugoslavia. There is no enlightened public opinion. Democratic thought, the merest semblance of it, is proscribed. The agrarian crisis has reached devastating proportions. There is actual famine in the land, due to a bad harvest. Discontent is rising. The army, Alexander's last hope, has become uncertain. The lower rank officers are siding with the people. Rather than face a show-down at home, the ruling clique of militarists, would prefer a short successful war to divert attention.

In which direction will Serbia find the opportunity? Italy, Roumania, Bulgaria? And when she launches into such a war will it be as successful as was that last great plot of hers, which set the world in flame and trebled her territory? These questions history will answer and will of a necessity answer soon.

BOY BEATS FIREMEN

WHITBY, Ont., March 23.—When the fire department was delayed in answering a call he had sent in, Robert Clarke, messenger boy, obtained a garden hose and had the blaze at Louis Rosseau's home under control before the firemen arrived.

Eight Brothers Of Former Edmonton Family Win Fame In Well-Known Orchestras

Sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Large Were Discouraged in Passion for Music, But Persisted—Now Play for Radio, Television and Famous Dance Resorts

By RUTH BOWEN

IT hardly seems fair that genius, so successfully elusive of 99 out of every 100 of the hum-drum, every day people, should lavish her affection upon a whole family at once, and mark the sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Large of Niagara Peninsula, Ontario, and formerly of Edmonton, for her favor. But just to prove that this ineffable "genius", is an utterly irresponsible sort of a sprite, it is acknowledged she has bestowed the gift of music upon the seven sons of Mr. and Mrs. Large.

"The Large Brothers", as they are known in the east,, are the nephews of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Munshaw, of Edmonton. Although the boys were all born in Grey County, Ontario, the family moved west in 1911 and resided in Edmonton until 1915. Mr. and Mrs. Large, themselves, both have musical accomplishments, and two of the uncles of the boys, Mr. J. Newton Large and Mr. Harold Large, were nationally known as musicians.

During their residence in Edmonton Mr. and Mrs. Large were members of Knox Church choir and the boys attended Knox Sunday School, and Queen Alexandra and Oliver schools.

The youngest boy, Douglas, who died when he was quite young, gave promise of great genius. At the age of six, he gave a violin recital in Buffalo and there were great hopes for a brilliant future.

The other six boys have established themselves as professional musicians and have gained recognition in spite of all opposition. Today Fred and Gerald Large may be heard in orchestra programs over the most powerful broadcasting systems, N.B.C., and C.B.C., from Philadelphia, Cleveland, Dayton, Cincinnati, Kansas City and Chicago. They play in the famous Jan Garber's orchestra, of which Fred Large is the leader. They are now playing over W.L.W., Cincinnati, from Netherland Plaza and after Easter they are booked for an engagement to play at the World's Fair in Chicago.

ORGANIZED OWN BAND

Before they joined Jan Garber's musicians, Fred and Gerald, with three of their friends, had organized a band. Fred was the conductor and they were known as "Little Freddie Large's Band". Gaining popularity in western New York, the orchestra became enlarged to fifteen pieces. Jan Garber heard them play in Cincinnati, was immediately interested, and adopted them within his company. They have been heard frequently in vaudeville concert. Fred Large plays the saxophone with just that syncopation and sobbing melody that won fame for the great Guy Lombardo's saxophone player, so that in an eastern press notice it is remarked, "A lot of W.G.N. listeners believe that they have been hearing Guy Lombardo between 10:50 and 11:10 p.m. over W.G.N. Jan Garber's orchestra has been mistaken for the Royal Canadians elsewhere too. . ."

Kenneth and Ralph have won their laurels in orchestra work and now play daily for television between Montreal and New York, leaders of the nine-piece orchestra, known as "Ken Large's Canadians." They first gained recognition at Niagara Falls, playing at the Prince of Wales Hotel. Engagements followed at St. Catharine's, Toronto, summer resorts of the Muskoka, and finally at Montreal where they have played over the La Presse station and at Place Viger and the Maples.

The other two boys, Jack and Frank, are the younger members of the family, and are beginners in their profession but are engaged in orchestra work and are fast gaining the recognition accorded their brilliant brother musicians.

WERE NOT ENCOURAGED

Depression didn't enter into the "mass career" of the Large brothers at all. In spite of every opposition they were true to the gifts of genius. The parents of the boys, at first, strongly objected to their study of music. They felt that the dependable living of the good, solid, practical business man was safer employment than the more brilliant career of the professional musician, which is, after all, only achieved by those of marked genius. Mr. and Mrs. Large strove to quell the insistent voice of music which would, however, not be silent. They even refused the much demanded music lessons. But the "musical ear" was too strong a destiny. Each of the boys, from earliest years, was able to pick up a tune or a melody and interpret it with ease on any instrument. Each can "double" on whatever instrument he is given to play, reed, string or brass.

What was once the grief of the mother of Fred Large is now her pride. The story is told of how her young son Fred would come home from Sunday school in Edmonton and, sitting on the piano stool, with chubby legs dangling high above the pedals and pudgy fingers that couldn't reach the octave, try to play the songs he had heard. But the dull piano would refuse to give forth the proper melody, which he tried to pick out on the keys, whereupon Freddie would kick the stubborn instrument in rage. Such behavior would, of course, call forth parental discipline, but Fred would go right back to try again to play the haunting, tormenting melodies. Today Fred Large has composed several notable songs and the theme song of W. L. W. was written by him.

Recently it was heard that the boys had honored their grandfather on the occasion of his seventy-second birthday, celebrated on Thursday, March 2. It was with great pride that he heard their music over the air with special mention made of him and the songs sung specially for him.

Children Will Hear Of Alice In Wonderland

"Alice in Wonderland," illustrated by slides loaned by the Department of Extension, will be the story this week. The story lady thinks that there will be no time for any others. The hours are, as usual, 4:30 on Friday in the Edmonton Library, and 10:30 on Saturday in the Strathcona Library.

Iron Duke's Heir Is Wed In London

Fashionable Ceremony Today is of Wide Interest

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 23—One of the most interesting weddings of the early season took place at St. George's church, Hanover Square, today when Lady Anne Wellesly daughter of the Marquis of Douro, heir to the Duke of Wellington, was married to the Hon. David Rhys, third son of Lord Dynevor.

In memory of her great-great-grandfather, the "Iron Duke," the bride, with her bridesmaids, wore the Empire styles which were worn by the first Duchess of Wellington and other ladies of that day.

The bridesmaids included three grand-daughters of the present Duke of Wellington.

The chief bridesmaid was Miss Pamela Wellesley and the procession composed most of the important debutantes of recent seasons.

Among many beautiful gifts was a fine set of Lacquered book-ends from the Queen.

GATES—THOMPSON
LUNAN—THOMPSON

One of the charming weddings of the spring season was that of Miss Edith and Miss Esther Thompson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson of Edmonton, to Mr. Sidney Gates of Highway and Mr. Gordon Lunan, of Fort Saskatchewan, which took place at Delton Baptist church on Saturday, Rev. Charles Stone officiated.

The two young brides were given away by their father. They were gowned alike in white satin fashioned on long graceful lines. Their tulle veils were worn cap fashion, and their flowers were shower bouquets of tulips.

The bridesmaids were Miss Hazel Brackenbury, Miss Evelyn and Miss Irene Hooper. Mr. W. Dennman and Mr. B. Lunan were the groomsmen. Following the ceremony a reception was held to more thana 100 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates will live at Highway and Mr. and Mrs. Lunan will take up their residence at Fort Saskatchewan.

Social-Personal

THE fingers of Spring were soft and light,
As she drummed on my windowpane last night,
"Come out," she whispered, "the night is still,
The pines are silvered on yonder hill,
And the moon is high."

But I closed my ears to her pleading cry,
And I answered sharply, "No time have I
For traipsing over a moonlit hill;
Seek other friends while the night is still
And the moon is high."

Though you may say 'twas only rain,
I found Spring's tears on my windowpane.

May Day Tea Planned By 1st Pres. W. M. S.

Mrs. Norman Smith was in the chair for the meeting of First Presbyterian W. M. S. in the church parlor Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. R. Ewart was in charge of devotional exercises, which were led by Mrs. Cherry, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Johnston.

The reports of secretaries included that of Mrs. Munro, who reported 77 subscribers to Glad Tidings, and Mrs. Cuthbertson, who told of 91 hospital and 47 home visits made during the month. Mrs. W. E. Wilson reported the sum of $72.65 received in the Home Helpers' quarterly offering. Mrs. Wm. Lovegrove reported the girls' clubs of which she is in charge progressing favorably.

A donation of $5 to the W. M. S. budget fund from an outsider in appreciation of Dr. Osborn's Thursday evening broadcast was received. The May Day tea for the Supply Fund was arranged for Friday, May 5, with Mrs. Dodge and Mrs. Robson convening.

The Y. W. M. S. reported receipts of $25 from their tea of Saturday. Mrs. H. E. Waller gave an excellent report of the provincial meetings. Mrs. Glasgow sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and Mrs. D. G. McQueen donated a new book, "Rethinking Missions," to the W. M. S. library. Mrs. J. A. Caldwell gave an address, taking as her theme, "Let us rise up and be builders," and carrying the idea into the home, and particularly in dealing with children.

NORMAL GLEE CLUB PLANS SPRING CONCERT

The executive of the present society of music and dramatics has Anders Aalborg as its president, Miss Muriel Heacock as the secretary and Dorothy Hawkes and Steve Zaharichuk, directors. The big undertaking of the term was the production of the Shakespearian play "Twelfth Night," which was very effectively presented on Friday, February 24. The Dramatic club conducts regular bi-weekly meetings when plays or scenes from plays are read and discussed.

The Glee Club is at present rehearsing for a spring concert which under the direction of Mrs. F. Barber Smith, promises to be a very good display of the musical talent found in the Edmonton Normal school. The Glee club is divided into three choruses: a ladies' choir; a male voice choir, and a mixed voice choir.

Members are as follows:

The Misses Marion McKinley, Gwen Walton, Jessie Corlett, Anne Clouston, Hannah Milner, Helen Svarich, Zenakia Zylenko, Helen Brown, Ethel Adams, Alice MacLean; the Misses Hopps, Violet Watts, Jessie Inge, Ruby Gander, Mary Maksymuk, Margaret Grierson, Jean McNally, Louise Niewchas, Ellsie Bradshaw, Kay Kaufman, Margaret Atkins, Elizabeth Perich, Marcelle La Rivierre, Barbara McBride, Muriel Heacock, Ruth Newson, Gwen Polomark.

Program For All Saints' Concert Is Interesting

Between Lectures

The Political Science Club, which was formed on the campus last year, with Dr. R. C. Wallace as honorary president, held its second general meeting on Wednesday afternoon in Athabasca Lounge. Since its inception a year ago the club has had a rather small but enthusiastic membership.

By the general elections Wednesday Mr. Lyle Jestley is to succeed Mr. R. L. D. Fenerty as president. Mr. Cecil Collier succeeds Mr. Edward Manning as vice-president. Miss Evelyn Buxton succeeds Mr. Lyle Jestley as secretary-treasurer.

The executive for next year is to consist of: Mr. William Epstein and Mr. Harold Riley, to take the place of Miss Beth Carscallen and Mr. Watson.

Women Learn Secrets of Color and Beauty in the Home

Very much like a secret and intriguing preview of colorful springtime, is an hour spent listening to Mrs. A. Balmer Watt as she speaks on "Color in the Home," on the fifth floor, Hudson's Bay company, each afternoon Out of the drabness of a wet and snowy March day, women enter the store to find light and color. Mrs. Watt's words, as she talks of draperies and decorations, and meanders pleasantly to philosophize on life in the home, are gay with all the color ond cheer of summer days to come.

A splash of vivid blue, as the first blue bird swerved down in a waiting garden, opened Mrs. Watt's address as she emphasized the importance in the lives of people. Bird houses for friendly feathered folk made a garden indeed a "lovesome spot." Mrs. Watt suggested that the ability of high and technical school boys and university boys be utilized by Edmontonians this summer in preparing bird houses, and gardens and remodeling their grounds.

Only through patronage to local firms and local people could Edmonton survive. The idea of a competition in making bird houses, which could be purchased by Edmonton garden owners, was brought forward. Use of lovely wrought-iron cement bird baths and other garden things made in Edmonton would benefit both manufacturers and residents. A red geranium in the window often means hope to a drab little woman for whom life is very grey. Plants contributed greatly to the color so greatly needed in human lives, she said. Speaking of the beauty spots of Edmonton, Mrs. Watt suggested that those who are taking walks for health and beauty's sake, stroll off Jasper avenue and see some of the lovely homes to be found in many out-of-the-way places of the city. The amazing taste and charm with which women have decorated even shacks is a revelation and an inspiration to those who think themselves hard-pressed in these times.

Mrs. Watt dwelt on the lovely new chintzes and materials for decorative purposes at present in the store.

She referred especially to a handsome piece of French damask which had just been imported. Even if one cannot buy the more expensive materials, there are lovely little hand-blocked linens and gay pieces of cheaper chintz that lend charm and color to rooms.

"Don't buy things on the spur of the moment," she advised, warning against choosing of things that had momentary appeal only to pall on the family in a short time. Conservatime houses are always the most attractive. Read magazines to stimulate ideas for decoration, she said.

Build rooms from the floor up. A beautiful rug with a rich coloring lessens the need for expensive decorations of other sorts. Don't pretend, said Mrs. Watt. The simplest of things, if they are good, are preferable to the most elaborate and the greatest quantity of cheap fur fittings.

Mrs. Watt referred at some length to the handsome new enamel and cromium Simons beds and bedroom furniture, ultra modern and smart, and invited the women present to visit "Slumberland" in the Bay.

Medical Mission Work In Labrador Is Described

Recalling much of the romantic history of the work of Dr. Wilfred Grenfell in the Labrador, Dr. T. R. Mount, once the assistant of the greaat doctor in the north, and now a resident of Edmonton, spoke at a meeting held in Strathcona Baptist Church on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the church.

Dr. Mount described the physical aspects of the country, and quoted the well-remembered words of Jacques Cartier, who said when he first saw Labrador, that "There was not a handful of earth on the whole coast."

Telling of the establishment of the base hospital St. Anthony's, which is today one of the most up-to-date and finely equipped hospitals on the continent, Dr. Mount included a graphic description of the work done and of the cases treaated. Although it is a mission enterprise the work is primarily medical, Dr. Mount said.

He spoke of the heroic spirit of Dr. Grenfell who for years has and bring patients back to the hospital and there were many heart-of the country to attend the sick travelled into the bleak outposts rending and pathetic incidents quoted of the tragedy of the relentless country. In treating medical cases Dr. Grenfell never failed to help strengthen the courage of his patients, treating them mentally as well as physically.

Dr. Mount showed pictures of the coast line of the Labrador and of the fishing villages. There were too, pictures of some of the hardy old fishermen, "some of the finest souls on earth."

Mrs. Robert Campbell, president of the W.M.S., occupied the chair and Rev. T. B. McDormand expressed the thanks and interest of the meeting to Dr. Mount. A solo by Mrs. Southern was enjoyed with Mrs. George Kitchen as accompanist.

Outwitting The Rabbit Is Real Job of Gardener

"Outwitting the rabbit" is not so simple a feat as it sounds. Farm women in the northern part of Alberta have encountered no little discouragement in their fight against the apparently harmless and pretty bunnies. At Sylvan Glade, writes Mrs. B. Stong, U.F.W.A. convener of Beautification and Horticulture, the rabbits come on unawares and ruined more than one hundred small fruit trees and damaged many ornamental shrubs and wind breaks. However, "hope springs eternal in the human breast," says the writer. "Let us try new schemes to outwit the rabbits for really they, like people, have a choice of diet, and many beautiful flowers and shrubs are undisturbed by them."

With spring "just outside the garden gate" these rural women are happy with anticipation for gardens. Rock loving or waterside plants for the rockery or pool are listed by Mrs. Stong as Irish Dwarf Early, Blue Flax, Iceland Poppy, Dwarf Phlox, Viola, Duanthus Plumarius, Plantain Lily, Stonecrop, Hen and Chickens, Veronica, Sedan Acre. Some of the less usual vegetables suggested by this clever gardener are Chinese Mustard, bearing long-crinkled leaves which are cut while young and used for greens; New Zealand spinach, used for the same purpose and which grows in hot weather and under arid conditions, Sprouting Broccoli, a relative of the cauliflower, and Asparagus. Although at Sylvan Glade the expense has been more than was anticipated "have we not bought food, beauty, perfume, color, a chance for self-expression and a ticket for a new adventure?" she asks. The perennial border is the first that needs attention in the spring.

DYNAMIC SENTIMENT

"Love of the soil expressed in gardens and pools and trees and grassy spaces is real sentiment. It is dynamic, living sentiment, always vigorous and ready to burst forth by the way of creative impulse. Regardless of what anyone may plant, each garden owner should choose those shrubs, bulbs and flowers which bring the greatest amount of pleasurable returns at the time when he or she most desires it.

"Yet I feel a garden, like a life, that reaches its climax too early is pathetic. For this reason, I strive to have my garden gain in attractiveness as the summer progresses. This may be done by choosing colorful annuals of continuous and late bloom. Most of the seed catalogues have little to say about the length of bloom to be expected from the beautiful plants described. For this reason, the selections made by trial over a period of years is worthy of notice, by anyone who is interested in a garden of continuous bloom. For late blooming annuals try petunias, stocks, phlox, cosmos, verbenas; and for fragrance, heliotrope, stocks, lavender, scabious sweet peas, pinks, nicotiana, sweet sultan, viola.

To dig and delve in nice clean dirt,
Can do a mortal little hurt;
Who works with roses soon will find
Their fragrance budding in his mind,
And minds that sprout with roses free—
Well that's the sort of mind for me

Club Activities

EASTWOOD W.M.S.

A well attended meeting of W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. J. Martin on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. E. Wright and Mrs. W. E. Thompson took charge of the devotional exercises. Plans were made to hold the Easter meeting in the church. The members are busy making a quilt for one of the Mission hospitals. Mrs. P. H. Evans reviewed the second chapter of the study book and the Heralds reporting for the Homeland. India and Africa were Mrs. H. L. Ross and Mrs. W. E. Gibb. The prayer Circle was conducted by Mrs. R. Morris, Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Mrs. W. Wray. Mrs. E. Warley was the soloist with Mrs. T. Clark as accompanist. Mrs. A. Mills presided over the meeting. The hostess served refreshments at the close of the meeting and a social half hour was enjoyed.

American Shells Found In Debris Of Chinese City

Miss Constance Ward, missionary of the W.M.S. of the United Church and head of the Boarding and Day School in Luchow, West China, writes of the chaos into which China has been thrown by war, and tells of the devastation wrought by the explosion of powerful munitions within peaceful centres. Luchow is within the war area, and Miss Ward tells of the pitiful condition of the homes of the people and of the protection given them by the mission, where over 100 mothers and children have found shelter.

It is a significant thing that among the debris have been found shell cases, and the broken pieces of munitions which bear the stamp of the United States manufacturers. The W.I.L. which strives with every effort, for national peace and which especially opposes the private manufacture of arms, realizes the menace to their ideal recorded in this single incident cited by Miss Ward. —Submitted by the Women's International League, Edmonton branch.

HER HUSBAND NEEDS BRAINS

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband and I have one child, a boy of 6, and we are always quarreling about him. My husband never corrects him, gives him everything he wants, never makes him obey and thinks that I am fussy when I try to teach him regular habits and good manners. My husband also ridicules me in front of the boy. These arguments over rearing the boy are making me a nervous wreck. What can I do about it?

MRS. M. J. S.

Dorothy Dix

Answer:

I don't know, unless you could have your husband's head operated on and a few brains inserted in it, for it certainly does seem as if a man with any intelligence whatever would have sense enough to realize that he is ruining the child.

Possibly your husband belongs to the class of optimists who believe that you can bring up a child who is spoiled and selfish and impudent and ill-mannered and uncontrolled and that when it is grown it will turn into a sweet, amiable, dutiful son or daughter who will be polished lady or gentleman and a credit to its parents.

Unfortunately, no such miracles occur, as he can see by observing the young hoodlums whose parents also reared children on the theory that they would be all right when they were grown and change from little devils to big angels. Good manners and good principles and a consideration for the rights of others have to be "proned" into children, as our old nurses used to say, when they are little, or else they never learn them.

The child psychologists tell us that the patterns of our lives are fixed in the cradle, and that by the time we are 6 years old our characters are formed. How important then that a youngster should get the right start and form the habits that will make for his success in life, instead of having faults fixed upon it that will be a handicap to it to the day of its death!

When parents quarrel over the rearing of a child they forget that they are lowering their prestige in his eyes and teaching it a contempt for them. Also, they forget that a child takes its opinion of its parents from what they think of each other.

Some day you will want his father's opinion to have weight with little Johnny, but how can it when he has heard you deride father's judgment a thousand times Some day your husband will expect his mother to influence Johnny, but how can mother's views have any influence with him if father has always ridiculed her to him?

Rearing a child in these days is a two-handed job, and it needs a mother and father doing teamwork to pull it off.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—What value has an education for a girl? My parents think that when a girl is 16 she should leave school and go to work.

ONLY SIXTEEN.

The value of an education to a girl is just what it is to a boy. It broadens her viewpoint, enriches her life and gives her a greater earning capacity. No matter whether a girl marries or not, the better educated she is, the better fitted she is to do her task in the world.

Tell your father and mother that the very first thing a prospective employer will ask you is whether you finished high school or not, and not only your chances of getting a job but the pay you get will depend upon your answer. Many occupations are barred entirely to girls who have quit school at 16. Perhaps when they realize that you can capitalize an education in dollars and cents your parents will not deny you one.

Milady Beautiful

By LOIS LEEDS

UNDERWEIGHT AND ENLARGED PORES

Dear Miss Leeds—I am 19 years old, 5 feet 3½ inches tall and weigh 104 pounds. I am in good health but am much troubled with oily skin, coarse pores and blackheads. I wash my face three or four times a day with warm water followed by a cold rinse. I have tried using an astringent before applying face powder but this makes little beads of prespiration form on my noise. I have the same trouble with powder bases, so I generally powder after rinsing with cold water. My face soon becomes oily again, however. I have tried steaming my face, pressing out the numerous tiny blackheads, then rinsing in boric acid solution with a final cold-water rinse, but next day the blackheads are as bad as ever. How can I clear my skin?

R. V. F.

ANSWER—The average weight for your age and height is between 120 and 125 pounds, so you see that you are considerably underweight. You may not be sick enough to go to bed but a girl with your beauty problems—poor skin and underweight—is not what I call "in good health." A really healthy girl weighs within ten pounds of the average for her age and height, she is full of vitality, has a good digestion, is not nervous, with reasonable care, has a clear, smooth skin. Excessive oiliness of the skin is often associated with a nervous, run-down condition and no amount of external beauty aids will cure this sort of oiliness. So my first bit of advice to you is that you have a thorough physicial examination by a doctor and follow his suggestions on bliuding up robust health. When your whole body is toned up your skin will become less oily and finer in texture.

If you live in a very grimy, sooty atmosphere it may be necessary to wash your face as often as you do, but under ordinary conditions twice a day is enough. At bedtime use plenty of warm water and soap, working up a thick lather with a complexion brush. Let the lather dry, or begin to dry, on the skin before rinsing it off in clean, warm water. Press out the large, ripe blackheads and bathe the places with boric acid solution. Now bathe your face for two minutes with cold water and dry. One cold rinse is not enough to close the pores after they have been caused to relax by warm applications. Pat on the following lotion and allow it to dry on the skin. One dram sulphate of zinc, one dram sulphuretted potash and four ounces rose water. Next morning wash your face with cold water (no soap) and rinse in cold water to which a few drops of spirits of camphor have been added, dry and pat on some of the same lotion you used the previous night. This may take the place of a powder base but it would be better for you to do without make-up until your skin is improved. Remember, what you most need is to tone up your system so that your skin can function normally. Your oil glands should be able to cleanse themselves instead of being clogged with grime and hardened oil. A weekly facial massage would be helpful in stimulating the skin.

LOIS LEEDS.

Deodorants

Worried—Deodorants come in liquid, cream or powder form. Choose the type that is best fitted for your particular purpose. They should not, of course, be used to mask stale body odors. The skin must be thoroughly cleansed before the deodorant is used. In the case of the armpits it is necerrary to keep the skin free from hair in addition to daily washing or antiperspirant. They may be bathed every night in a mixture of two ounces witch hazel and one tablespoonful of bicarbonate of soda.

Who Are You?

Ireland

The original bearers of this name were natives of the island so called. One eminent authority suggests that the Emerald Isle took its name from "Iar-land," a combination of the Gaelic "Iar," meaning west, and Teutonic "land," signifying westland. Early records mention the names of Adam de Irlande and of Henry de Irlande.

Members of this family rose to prominence in their native land and it is a name well known in America. Thomas Ireland was the progenitor of one branch of the family in this country. He came to Stamford, Conn., and later settled on Long Island. Samuel Ireland, a carpenter by trade, came to Boston in 1635 from London. He established his home in Wethersfield, Conn.

Chic—Inside And Out!

You will be dressed up quite as much in this ensemble if you wear it inside out, as you are when you wear it outside in. The ensemble, which is almost a wardrobe in itself, consists of a three-piece suit of imported English tweed with one surface of the material woven right on top of the other, giving the smoothest sack-cloth finish on one side, and on the other a smooth plaid color. The ensemble may be worn in four different combinations. The beret, fashioned from the suit material, gives a debonair finishing touch.

Hair Scent Should Be Soft, Subtle

Gladys Tells How to Perfume Tresses Delicately

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

Gladys Glad

BACK IN past days, the woman who really knew how to use perfume was considered as rare as the woman who know how to dress tastefully and becomingly. Today, of course, there are a good many women who know how to garb themselves tastefully and attractively. But few of them still actually know how to use perfume to the greatest advantage. The ancient Greeks, for instance, literally bathed in perfume. They used their perfumes very subtly, however, and never neglected to scent their tresses The average woman of today does not use her perfumes far subtly enough. And she seldom bothers to imbue her hair with a delicate and pleasing fragrance.

By perfuming the hair, I don't mean that a woman should pour a bottle of perfume over her head. In the first place, if this were done, the fragrance wouldn't be subtle. And in the second place, the alcohol in the perfume would tend to prove far too drying to the hair and scalp. Hair, however, can be scented very pleasingly in a number of harmless ways. And so the girl who doesn't impregnate her tresses with her favorite fragrance is missing one grand beauty bet.

Some women really should perfume their hair after each shampoo. For in some individuals, hair takes on a rancid, greasy odor that is anything but pleasing. Of course, frequent and proper shampooing, and correction of the oiliness of the hair may help to eradicate this. But if the hair is, also scented properly this obnoxious odor will not be noticeable.

There are a number of different ways in which the hair can be pleasingly scented. In the first method, the hair should be shampooed and thoroughly rinsed. And a few drops of your favorite perfume should be added to the final rinse water. In this way, the rinse does not prove too drying, and the hair does not become too strongly perfumed.

Another way of perfuming the hair is through the use of an atomizer. After the hair has been shampooed it should be thoroughly dried and then sprayed lightly with perfume. Or the hairbrush may be sprayed with perfume and the hair then brushed with it. A third way of perfuming the hair is by scenting the linings of hats, or by having a thin silk sachet bag attached to the crown of each lining.

Your Children

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Children love adventure; they love to read it, they love to live it. When they are older the things they will remember will be events that brought a thrill back in the old days—when they were easily thrilled.

And speaking of thrills, of what use are they? Quite a lot of use indeed. In spite of the fact that small tots need to do their quiet growing before they begin too much "feeling" it is true that a good thrill now and then is the best tonic in the world for each of us. And that it is almost absolutely necessary for the growing boy and girl is proven by their intense hunger for it.

To seek adventure, or thrill, is as natural for children as it is to grow. Thus we have them imitating the people they consider spectacular, pirates, soldiers, aviators, bronco busters, sharpshooters and so on.

MOVIE APPETITE NORMAL

The appetite of youngsters for movies is to be expected. And the best ones for them to see at the peak of the thrill age are the rousing western shows or any cracking adventure that gives their urge for rish and valor outlet. Books of adventure, likewise, are a real soul tonic.

By this, I do not mean that they should live in a perpetual fever of excitement, or get into the habit of leaving the real world behind and stepping through the looking glass into a dream world that better suit their fancy.

We must make of life a happy blend of everything—work and play, effort and relaxation, endurance and relief. And children—I believe great care must be taken about this—must learn to regard the tasks and routine of every day life as indispensable and necessary. But none of us can go on forever, and children least of all, without some sort of excitement to kick up spirits. Psychologically it is too valuable to disregard. "All work and no play" really means "all monotony and no thrill."

ADVENTURES UNFORGETABLE

However,, there are other ways in which children get a real satisfaction that will sink more deeply into memory than the vicarious ones they get through movies and books. They will forget stories when they are forty, but they will not forget the adventures that actually happened to themselves.

Anything out of the ordinary becomes adventure to a child. And a prank, often associated with disobedience of some sort, will be told over and over to their friends and children later on—"dad must have been a dickens of a kid"—just because it was associated with a guilty conscience and the daring that prompted it. We love to relate how daring we were, how we snapped our fingers at authority. All of us are grandiose and we loved to dramatize ourselves in our youth.

This has to be taken into consideration in the matter of disobedience. At the growing age a break-over of discipline is often a result of a longing for thrill. Nerves demand an outlet. Games or athletics supply it to a certain extent but not altogether. We should be human when boys particularly jump over the ropes and steal the neighbor's apples, so to speak. We should try to look at the young nervous system fagged with monotony, asserting itself

Unusual Dressings Add New Piquancy To Flavor Salads

By SISTER MARY

Modern housewives always are on the lookout for "something different" for salads and salad combinations. Salad dresings, too, are important factors in salad making and receive their share of attention.

An unusual dressing is made with tomato pulp. It is very cheap and very good and will keep indefinitely if stored in a jar in the icebox. While it is good with all kinds of salads, it's particularly inviting with sweet potato and pineapple salad.

Tomato Salad Dressing

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons mild paprika, 1 cup sifted tomato plup, 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice, 1 egg.

Mix and sift flour, sugar, salt, mustard and paprika. Melt butter in a smooth sauce pan and stir in dry ingredients. Cook and stir until bubbling. To make tomato pulp, rub canned tomatoes through a fine colander to remove seeds, but be sure to force through all the pulp to make it as thick as posible. Stir into butter and flour mixture. Cook and stir until mixture boils. Add vinegar or lemon juice and bring to the boiling point. Remove from fire and stir in egg slightly beaten.

Sweet Potato and Pineapple Salad

One and one fourth cups diced sweet potatoes, 1 1-3 cups diced pineapple, 2 tablespoons minced salted almonds, ½ cup minced celery, ¼ cup shredded green pepper.

The sweet potatoes are cooked and chilled before dicing. Grate nuts or put through nut grinder. Combine all the ingredients with tomato dressing and serve on shredded leaf lettuce.

If one and one-fourth cups diced chicken, veal or shrimp are added, this makes a splendid hearty salad for a bridge luncheon.

Tomorrow's Menu

DINNER: Braised halibut steak, shoestring potatoes, creamed Jerusalem artichokes, tomato-grapefruit and stuffed celery salad, cup cakes filled with strawberry fluff, milk, coffee.

Tomato-Grapefruit and Stuffed Celery Salad

Hothouse tomatoes are in their prime at this time of year. They are remarkably thin skinned and well flavored and add an appetizing bit of color to many a salad.

One large grapefruit, 2 medium sized tomatoes, 2 tablespoons cream cheese, 2 tablespoons stuffed olives, tender blades of celery.

Peel grapefruit and separate pulp into sections, discarding all seeds and thin connecting tissues. Chill. Mix cheese and finely chopped stuffed olives and fill celery blades with mixture. Cut in half inch lengths. Peel and slice tomatoes. Arrange prepared fruit and vegeables on hearts of head lettuce and serve with French dressing.

What's What

By HELEN DUCIE

Question—What is the title of the first wedding anniversary? The second, third, fourth and fifth? What is the proper way to write a presentation for a twenty-fifth wedding anniversary? The couple have lived in this community for many years. They are to be presented with silverware donated by all the neighbors and many outside friends Is it correct for the ladies in the family to wear hats at an afternoon reception given in honor of their parents' silver wedding anniversary? The reception is to be held at a hotel.

D. E.

Answer—The first anniversary is called the paper wedding; the second, the cotton wedding; the fifth, the wooden wedding. No special title is used for the third and fourth anniversaries. The card, a "round robin" signed by all the doners, may bear the written greeting. "Congratulations and best wishes for your silver wedding anniversary." If "the ladies of the family" are cohostesses for the occasion, they remove their hats.

Question—We have just formed a sorority, but have not yet chosen a name. Can you suggest a Greek-letter title? We shall be affiliated with the Neighborhood Centre.

F. R.

Answer—Translate the initials of Girls' Neighborly Society into Greek letters. This will give you "Gamma Nu Sigma," which will answer for the title of you new sorority.

Between Lectures

Soldier-patients of the University hospital were entertained by a rather brief but highly amusing program Tuesday night when members of the Wauneita, girl students of the University, staged the annual "Hut Night."

Misses Pat Gibson and Alice Thrasher sang a duet. Miss Peggy Aitken gave a tap-dance. Miss Thelma Barley played a violin solo. An amusing skit consisted of the reacting of an old ballad, by Miss Sylvia Evans, with accompanying interpretative actions by the Misses Mary Mullen, Jean Shurer, Muriel Massie, Marjorie Allyn, and Bbubles Taylor.

The numbers were interspersed by a jolly sing-song in which students and soldiers alike took part.

IT WILL KEEP

Of course, you've slept with a piece of wedding cake under your pillow. Perhaps your dream has come true and it's your turn this year to be the bride and cut the cake. Or if you are the bride's mother, your task is that most important one of baking the cake.

When you make wedding cake you will wish to have enough for a "put-away-for-the-anniversaries" cake, as well as for the guests of the wedding itself. Packed in brown sugar or powdered sugar in an airtight container, a wedding cake will keep for years, even to that far-off silver or 25th anniversary, it is said.

HUMOR A CHILD'S TASTES

When you are buying new furniture to add to your children's rooms consider the taste of the child who is to use each piece. For instance, if one of your children shows an aptitude for drawing give him a drawing board and a little chest of drawers to go alongside of it for his room. Another might prefer a desk with a minute filing cabinet beside it. The child who is always presenting you with little stories might be delighted with a portable typewriter on a low table made especially for him. This idea not only makes them take pride in their rooms but encourages them in whatever talents they may naturally have.

Single Unemployed Men On Relief Till April 30

New Legislation Is Now Proposed By Parliament

Legislature, in Lengthy Debate, Hears Views on Unemployment

The Alberta Relief commission, set up by the Dominion government to administer relief to single unemployed, will continue to function until April 30, according to an announcement made in the legislature on Wednesday by Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works and chairman of the provincial advisory committee on unemployment relief.

Extension of the time for caring for single men was granted by the Dominion, according to advices received from Hon. W. A. Gordon, minister of labor, to give parliament time to pass any further unemployment relief legislation contemplated.

Just what arrangements will be made for this province is not known.

There are at present about 6500 single men receiving relief in Alberta, the number being gradually reduced as places are found on farms for them.

STRICKEN OFF

As a place is found, it is offered to a registered man, who either takes the job or is struck off the list. There are about 1600 men in various camps in the province, of whom 600 are at Jasper and Banff. There are about 2600 in this city.

The Minister's announcement was made during second reading debate of the unemployment bill which gives the government power to negotiate relief agreements with municipalities. Debate was unfinished when the house rose.

In moving second reading of the unemployment relief bill, the Minister reviewed relief measures that had been carried out in the last year.

Efforts had been made to obtain some work in return for relief. There was no desire to institute, or develop this into a works program, but efforts were being made to make the work conform to provisions laid down by the Dominion.

His observations over the last year indicated that the problem would be handled better as a nationally directed activity. He said this not with any desire to unload any responsibility or place any undue burden on the Dominion.

Answering a question of J. J. Bowlen, Liberal, Calgary, the Minister said that single unemployed were still being placed on the farms.

Fred J. White, Labor leader, Calgary, hoped for a broadening out of assistance in necessitous cases.

In the past assistance only had been given to employable persons. He agreed that the whole problem was one of national responsibility. But until such time as the Dominion assumed that charge, the province would have to continue to take its share. He thought it a trifle too stringent to ask a family, irrespective of size, to live on $15 a month. In Calgary some families had as many as 10 children, although it was true that the day of the large family was passing.

He thought that a greater measure of medical service should be provided and he recalled that one

Recruits Train On Hobby Horse

Recruits to the Legion of Frontiersmen in Edmonton will get their riding training on the first mechanical horse to be used for this purpose in Western Canada. Although the mechanical horse is now regularly used in British cavalry regiments to give the recruit poise and balance without him having to worry over controlling a live horse while he is acquiring this necessary training, the horse presented to the Edmonton command of the Legion by Frontiesman Harold Dayton is the first of its kind to be seen in the West.

According to the riding instructor it can "do everything but eat oats," and will be in great demand.

Announcement has also been made at Legion headquarters that a truck is being purchased for taking working parties out to field headquarters of the Legion at Hastings Lake.

ROAD OFFICIAL QUESTIONED IN HIGHW'Y PROBE

Investigation Into Relief Contracts Continues in Legislature

Detailed review and examination of figures and operations of relief projects contracts carried out in 1931 and 1932 occupied the attention of the public accounts committee of thel egislature on Thursday.

W. R. Howson, provincial Liberal leader, again took the lead in inquiring into the various contracts. Under his direction questioning occupied the major portion of the morning, while Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works, defending his department from Mr. Howson's charges of irregularities, took up the questioning for the latter part.

C. A. Davidson, provincial highways commissioner, who has occupied the stand for the greater part of the four days' time the inquiry has been under way, was recalled to the stand on Thursday.

WORK UNFINISHED

The committee's work is still unfinished and will continue on Friday.

The meeting was featured by a clash between Liberal and U.F.A. members of the committee on points of order.

When the Minister was quqestioning Mr. Davidson, exception was taken by L. A. Giroux, Liberal, Grouard to the leading questions asked.

The Minister retorted that he was following the line set by the Liberal leader himself. Hugh Farthing, Conservative, Calgary also thought the questions were of a leading nature, which brought Hon. J. F. Lymburn K.C., attorney general to his feet to say that he had particularly noted the form of Mr. Howson's questions and that they were of the "leading" type.

W. G. Farquharson, U.F.A., Ribstone, committee chairman, submitted that so far as he was concerned he was not going to be governed by rules of court and questions could be asked in any way that would adduce facts.

J. Christopherson, engineer on the work from Carvell Corner to Onoway, was on the stand as thee committee opened.

WIDENING HIGHWAY

In reply to a question by Mr. Howson as to why he had allowed $122 for extras on clearing and grubbing, he said, it was for widening the highway in spots where such was necessary and for cutting heavy trees alnog the road.

"Why was $603 allowed for grading," he was asked by Mr. Howson.

"It was partly for blading, partly for ditching, and for mayn other details that I have not had time to enumerate in full."

'Who were the sub-contractors," asked Mr. Howson, to which witness replied Booth, Gerrard and Holtner, Olsen and Sinowitz."

On the branch Alberta Beach-Onoway there were 16 municipal districts.

Replying to a question as to who settled with the sub-contractors, Mr. Christopherson said the contractors did.

"Then am I right in assuming that the difference between $20 an acre for clearing and the amounts paid to the sub-contractor represented profit to the contractor?"

"Yes."

"Why were there allowed extra items of $815 for washouts and $277 for fencing?" asked Mr. Howson.

INFORMATION SHOWN

Hon. Mr. McPherson here asked Mr. Christopherson to read terms in the contract relative to maintenance before the road is accepted by the government.

"Is not such work properly put into force accounts?" asked the Minister.

"Yes."

A moment ago you stated that the contractor's margin of profit was on the prices paid. Is it not a fact that from such amount, there would be taken such items as overhead costs, accounting, bonding, inspecting and such like?" asked the Minister.

"Yes."

"Do you think the province was given value for the clearing done at the average price of $20 an acre?" asked the minister."

"I do."

Submitting a photograph, the Minster said, "Is this a fair sample of the heavy clearing done on this road?"

"It was."

ASKED FOR STATEMENT

Following this, Mr. Howson asked for a statement showing all such pieces of work on the road, as that shown in the photograph.

"Is it correct to say that $20 an acre was paid for scythe clearing?" asked the Minister.

On being recalled, Mr. Davidson took the stand.

Mr. Howson then resumed the questioning.

"Was it known in July, 1931, that there would be a rush of relief work?" he asked.

"Although we knew there would be work done we did not have an agreement signed with the Dominion government until September and did not actually know just what would be required of us by the Dominion," replied Mr. Davidson.

Resuming, Mr. Howson said, "Was there any advertising done on the first 49 contracts let under the agreement, from Edmonton to Elk Island?"

"Yes."

"When?"

"Between April 11 and 16 and tenders were opened on April 17."

Answering a question as to whether the first four contracts were opened the same day, Mr. Davidson replied "Yes."

"On No. 5, let to E. O'Connor, was any advertising done and any bids asked for?" asked Mr. Howson.

"No. I explained in previous evidence that it was an extension from previous work done by day labor in order to give a measure of local relief."

ALL DULY ADVERTISED

Mr. Howson followed up his line of questioning regarding the four contracts next on the list and in answer to several questions on the subject, Mr. Davidson said that all had been duly advertised and tenders had been submitted.

"Did you pay on one contract not advertised, to Mr. O'Connor, $1.25 a cubic yard for solid rock whereas the range on tenders was from 60c to $1.50?"

"Yes."

"Did you pay 52c for loose rock while tenders ranged from 10 to 35 cents?"

"Yes."

Mr. Howson then took up in detail other unit prices on the O'Connor contract.

ANOTHER LIGHT SNOW IN CITY

As a farewell of the hand (it is hoped) winter tossed another light snowfall at Edmonton Wednesday evening. Commencing at 5:00 p.m. and continuing to midnight, an inch of snow fell in the city.

Although for a brief period snow fell Thursday morning the clouds cleared away and the weather gives every sign of being bright during the next 24 hours.

Mild weather is forecast. Temperatures have hung around freezing point for the last two days, yesterday's high being 33 degrees, today's low 23. At 9:00 a.m. today it was 26 above.

The barometer this morning was steady at 27.74.

BOY STRUCK BY AUTO, UNINJURED

Dwight Newman, 9554, 107 avenue escaped serious injury when he was struck and knocked down by a car driven by Mrs. J. P. Huffman of Calmar, Alberta near the intersection of 96 street and 107 avenue at 8 p.m. Wednesday. According to police traffic reports, Newman along with another boy was chasing after a rig to grab a free ride when Mrs. Huffman's car came along the street. Seeing the headlights of the on-coming auto, the youths separated. Mrs. Huffman's car struck Newman, knocking him to the ground. Rather than be taken to the hospital he ran home.

The car which struck him skidded 27 feet after the brakes were applied.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Thursday, the Bulletin Inquiring Reporter set out to get the reactions of housewives to the new budget, especially the taxes on sugar and other foodstuffs.

Here is what they said, when asked if they thought the tax was a fair one:

MRS. JAMES LASKEY, 11132 87 street: Certainly not! I should say that it is anything but a fair tax. Do you know of anyone that thinks it is a fair tax?

I think that every woman that has to buy food will feel that a tax like this is very unfair, because you can hardly call sugar a luxury.

When everyone is so hard up, it's a shame to raise the prices on foodstuffs like that. It's hard enough to live as it is without the government causing prices to go up like that.

Sugar is necessary to health and I am afraid that people will now try to use less.

MRS. MARY E. GULLEY, 8502 106 street: If it is going to help out, there is no use of complaining about it, and we should be satisfied. They have to put a tax on something.

Police Court

Two 'teen aged youths who pleaded guilty to 23 criminal charges between them, were remanded for sentence to a later court and ordered into custody. The remand was given so that Magistrate Col. George B. McLeod could think over the advisability of suspended sentence at greater length.

The younge of the two youths, whose age is 17, admitted guilt of 15 of the charges, while the second, age 18, pleaded guilty to eight counts. The charges included house breaking, shop breaking, theft of an automobile, receiving and retaining possession of stolen property.

"You are nothing more than a pair of mean and common thieves," remarked Magistrate McLeod on learning that the offences covered a period of twelve months.

The light-fingered duo broke twice into the University rink, once into a newspaper office and into several city apartments. Their loot included skates, boots, clothing, candy, flashlights, tires and, in fact, anything and everything that could be carried away.

The charges laid against them following their arrest by Detective John Watson, covered one full page of the court docket.

Eric Bradburn, employee of a printing office and Aubrey Mills, truck driver, both entered pleas of guilty to charges of common assault which were reduced from counts of inflicting grevious bodily harm, and were bound over on $400 bond to keep the peace. In addition they were fined $10 and costs with the option of 20 days in jail and ordered to pay the medical expenses of their victim who suffered a badly battered eye during a fracas in a down-town block Saturday night last when he attempted to put a stop to a disturbance the two cacused were raising in the hallway as they tried to "crash" a room.

Prosecutor Charles Becker described the offence to the court, stating that Bradburn had been under the influence of liquor at the time.

Bradburn was interdicted following his arrest Monday when he spent seven hours in the cells along with Mills before bail of $400 was obtained.

"The offence," stated the court, "cannot be overlooked. Bradburn was the instigator. Mills has not been before the court before, but not so with Bradburn."

This statement was in reference to Bradburn's recent conviction for reckless driving when his license was cancelled. The charge at that time was reduced from driving while intoxicated.

Allegations made by defence counsel that the assault was in the nature of a prank were spiked by Prosecutor Becker who emphasized that the matter was not a minor one and could not be dealt with as such.

Warning was given accused that any further trouble would result in the impounding of their peace bonds.

Pleading not guilty to nominal charges of vagrancy, David Perry and Mildred Jackson, transients, were remanded for sentence and allowed out on bail. Murdo Munro, detective, testified that neither accused were employed at any lawful occupation and had no means of support. Evidence disclosed that Perry is living in a common law union with the woman.

Adjournment until Friday was given John Kelloway facing a charge of using instruments to procure an abortion. His alleged partner in crime, Mrs. D. More, will be tried with him jointly.

Further adjournment to Friday was given William Elliot wanted for the past five years on charges of living off the avails of prostitution and causing a juvenile girl to become a delinquent. Warrants for his arrest were issued in 1928 and '29 following the vice ring scandal in the city at that time. The girl was known as "Miss X" during the lengthy trials of the vice ring leaders and is being brought to Edmonton from a central Allberta town Friday to testify against Elliot who was arrested Tuesday due to the camera eye and hair trigger memory of Detective Sergeant Bert Petheram who recognized him on the street as a wanted man

OFFICIAL OF SUN LIFE IS CITY VISITOR

W. S. Penny Notes Improvement in State of Mind of the People

A general improvement is noticeable in the state of mind of the people, it was stated Thursday by W. S. Penny, superintendent of agencies of the Sun Life Assurance company, Limited, Montreal, following a trip of five weeks in various sections of the dominion. He is staying at the Macdonald hotel, and will be here for the next three days while conferring with R F. Sutton, Edmonton district manager.

"I can't say definitely why the public should be feeling more hopeful," Mr. Penny explained," but I found the feeling is there and it may be the first sign of better times. At any rate, I feel sure that there must be an improvement in public morale before there can be any general improvement."

Mr. Penny said that another hopeful sign appears in the general disposition of legislators all over the world to at least really attempt remedial measures for the depression.

"Not only the way Roosevelt has gone into action, but the way in which statesmen all over the world are at last beginning constructive measures is hopeful," Mr. Penny asserted. "The remedies will have to be world-wide before the situation can be really ettered and the fact that action is general all over the world is very heartening."

Mr. Penny is leaving for Calgary Saturday night.

50th Battalion To Hold Reunion At Calgary In April

Members of the 50th Battalion C.E.F., recruited in Calgary, are holding their annual reunion banquet this year on Friday, April 7, and members of the unit who are now residing in or near Edmonton are asked to get in touch with C. W. Morris, secretary of the Battalion Association at 116 Seventh avenue East, Calgary.

The function is being held in the Elizabethan rooms of the Hudson's Bay Company at Calgary and the committee in charge includes Col. E. G. Mason O.B.E., Colonel D. G. L. Cunningham, M.C., W. Halliwell, Capt. J. Montgomerie-Bell, J. B. Miller Roy Dewar and C. W. Morris.

HEAVY TRAFFIC BAN FORECAST

Institution of a ban on heavy truck traffic and heavy loading over highways in many parts of the province was forecast on Thursday by Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works.

The ban will probably come into effect within the next week or two, resulting from the heavy snow precipitation of the winter and teh consequent spring run-off that is expected.

The minister recalled that last year a similar ban was placed on truck traffic on many main roads.

Conditions in some parts of the province, particularly in the north, are even more aggravated this season by the extremely heavy snows. Just what sections the expected ban will affect, will be determined by conditions that might develop in the next week or so.

However, the warning is issued that such a provision can be expected and will, if brought down, remain in effect so long as warranted by road conditions.

YOUNG LIBERALS GATHER FRIDAY

Addresses by prominent Liberal M.L.A.'s will feature the first annual meeting of the Young Liberal Social and Athletic Club which will be held Friday, March 24, at 8 p.m. in the club rooms in the basement of the McLeod Building. George Perring, president, will occupy the chair.

The club has extended an invitation to the executive and members of the Twentieth Century Club and to members of other Liberal organizations in the city to be present at the grand rally.

Several members of the legislature will deliver messages of importance to all those interested in the political issues of the day.

The executive of the club looks for a large attendance of the membership and their friends, and in addition to the business agenda there will be a musical program at the gathering.

MAYOR'S AUTO COSTS DECLINE

Car allowances to civic employees using their own cars for city business and which total $460 per month were queried by the civic finance committee Wednesday. And an expenditure of $1,708 for the mayor's automobile for 1932 caused considerable discussion.

Figures were received Thursday showing that costs for Mayor Knott's car were the lowest for the last eight years. Following are the total annual expenses in this connection for the period from 1925 to 1932: 1925, $2,265; 1926, $1,953; 1927, $1,797; 1928, $1,996; 1929, $1,992; 1930, $1,802; 1931, $1,822; 1932, $1,708.

Costs of operation per mile also show a decrease since 1930. In 1930 the cost per mile was 13.01 cents; in 1931, 10.50 cents, and in 1932, 6.57 cents.

Treasurer Anxious To Redeem Bonds

Frank Barnhouse, city treasurer, again urges holders of City of Edmonton 20-year bonds due on April 1, 1933, to turn in their bonds immediately and receive par value and accrued interest for same.

The treasury is anxious to redeem as many of the bonds as possible before the due date so as the city's position with regard to its bond transactions may be known as soon as possible.

LEGAL BATTLE IS WAGED IN ALGER TRIAL

Defence Objects to Statement of Accused Made to Witness

A legal battle was waged in supreme court Thursday morning with regarded to the status of D. M. Plunkett, government auditor who has been tracing up the tangled trails of accounts in the W. Ross Alger corporation books, when Mr. Plunkett was called by the crown to testify against W. Ross Alger, charged with misappropriation of $46,000 of clients' funds. The case is being heard by Chief Justice Simmons of the trial division and a jury of six, and started Monday forenoon.

S. Bruce Smith, chief defence counsel, registered instant objections, when James J. Frawley, chief prosecutor, sought to elicit from Mr. Plunkett the admissions made to him by the accused, Alger, when Mr. Plunkett went to examine the books of the corporation.

JURY EXCLUDED

The jury was excluded while the argument was on.

Mr. Smith protested that Mr. Plunkett was in the same position as a police officer, that he was an investigator and accountant for the attorney-general, and that consequently he should have given Alger the regular warning before getting from him any admissions which could be used against the latter at his trial.

His Lordship ordered Mr. Smith to confine himself to what had taken place between Mr. Plunkett and Alger and not to drag in anything else about instructions from G. B. Henwood, deputy attorney-general, or a conference with Mr. Frawley.

Mr. Plunkett then admitted that he had not given any statutory warning. "I advised him to get in touch with his solicitor," he explained.

IN TOUCH WITH SOLICITOR

"He had already been in touch with his solicitor and I presume that his solicitor was quite capable of advising him what his position was," Mr. Plunkett calmly added.

"I hope you are satisfied with that answer—it is a very fine one," beamed His Lordship with a wide smile amid laughter from the court.

The jury was then recalled and the testimony of Mr. Plunkett continued with reference to the books of the company, especially regarding the transactions of the various victims in court who had already given evidence with regard to their losses in the Ross Alger Corporation.

Property Owners' Association To Hold Mass Meeting

Officials of the Edmonton Home and Property Owners Association expect a big turnout of ratepayers to the meeting called for Friday evening at eight o'clock in the Memorial Hall.

Matters of civic taxation and economy will be discussed at the meeting, along with the protection of the property owner, not on relief, who is out of employment or only partially employed.

The meeting is open to the general public.

Slash Bounty On Timber Wolves

A slash of 50 per cent has been made in the bounties paid for timber-wolves in the Northwest Territories, according to an order-in-council in the current issue of the Canada Gazette.

The order takes effect from July 1, 1933, and states that the bounty on wolf pelts will now be $15 per pelt, as compared with the $30 formerly paid.

There were very few men who regularly followed the calling of wolver in the northland, but most trappers shot wolves as the opportunity offered and thus made fair extra sums every winter.

The pelts of the slain wolves must be surrendered to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to get the bounty.

PATS and PANS by —BILL LEWIS

They'll be at each other's throats again this evening. Yessir, those Tigers and Eskimos, with two tie games behind them already in the Western Canada league playoffs, go into another—their third—battle for pro hockey supremacy of the West tonight. And each, quite naturally, is confident of a victory.

Not many times in hockey playoffs do you run into a string of tie games, though there was an instance a few years back when Ottawa Senators beat Boston Bruins, I think it was, in a five-game series by winning two, tying two and losing one.

It hardly seems likely that the Esks and Tigers will finish in another deadlock. One or other of them is almost certain to mark up a win—and here's hoping it's the Eskimos.

J. Percy Page's Commercial Grads last night convincingly demonstrated to any doubters that they have not gone back any, despite the loss of a few more of their stars this year. Tackling Bill Tait's Gradettes, Senior "B" ladies' basketball champions of the province, in the opener of their Alberta finals series last evening, the international title-holders ran up a total of 78 points while holding their sister-team to 35 in the 40 minutes of play.

Any team that can score 78 points on a fast young aggregation like the Gradettes is not particularly weak, if you're asking me.

Of a truth, it does a team no good to lose stars of the calibre of Elsie Bennie and Millie McCormack, but the Grads have lost many before them and Coach Page has always come back with a winning machine.

Which is just what he appears to have done once more.

Edmonton will be fairly well represented in the National Hockey league playoffs when they get under way this coming Saturday. . . . It has Eddie Shore and Red Beattie on the American section winners. . . . And there is Leroy Goldsworthy on the lineup of Detroit Red Wings, who finished in second place in that division and meet Montreal Maroons in the big sawoffs. . . . Also Murray Murdoch, of New York Rangers, who play Les Canadiens in the third-place series. . . . At least one of these citizens is certain to be playing in the final series for the coveted Stanley cup. . . . Another Edmontonian, Johnny Sheppard, just missed out of getting into the playoffs when New York Americans were nosed out in the Canadian section by Montreal's Flying Frenchmen.

LARGE ENTRY FOR BOWLING TEST CERTAIN

Knockout Events Will Be The Big Hit Of Tourney

With the prize list mounting and entries steadily rolling in, five pin bowlers may look forward to a big time, when the five pin tournament opens in the Recreation Alleys next week. The tournament is strictly local as no out of town teams are being invited.

All events including men's team doubles and singles, ladies' team doubles, and singles, mixed teams and doubles are being arranged on the handicap basis. In the team event for ladies, men, and mixed events teams will be given four-fifths of the difference between the scratch figure and their combined averages with no limit to the amount of handicap. In the doubles and singles the same will apply with the exception of a limit of 90 pins in the doubles and 45 pins in the singles. This handicap throughout is arranged so as to give all entrants whether weak or strong bowlers an equal opportunity.

Ladies are coming in strong in both the ladies events and the mixed events. The knockout events are apparently going to prove very popular. They are a new addition to the events in the five pin tournament and a straight elimination contest with no handicap.

Bowlers, both ladies and men, are urgently requested to get their entries in early as it will help the tournament committee to give them the desired night and time in the draws they might desire. Entries positively close Saturday, March 25 at midnight and draws will be in Monday's papers.

Toronto Tourists Click On Attack

LONDON, March 23—Toronto Nationals last night defeated England 5-2 in the third game of a three-cornered tournament between Canada, England and the United States for the British Ice Hockey Association's international challenge trophy. It was the second victory for the Canadians at England's expense and England's third defeat of the series.

ARROWS ROUT CUBS

PHILADELPHIA, March 23.—With a fast skating, straight shooting performance, Philadelphia Arrows held their first-place position in the Canadian-American Hockey League last night by administering a 7-3 beating to the Boston Cubs.

GOALIE MUFFS DISTANT SHOT FINAL PERIOD

Newmarket Triumphs 1-0 as Near 40,000 Fans See Series

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, March 23. — Young Bill Durnan, who spears blue-line shots like a first baseman takes a throw from the other side of the infield, fumbled one last night and Sudbury Wolves lost their Canadian junior hockey championship as Newmarket Redmen steamed on in the Memorial cup race.

TOO BAD, BILL!

Five minutes of the third period remained when Durnan put his hand out to catch a hard drive from Normie Mann, Newmarket centre. The puck bounced off his glove and rolled into the net to give the Redmen a 1-0 triumph and the three-game series by two to one.

The O. H. A. champions lost the first game 1-0 in 20 minutes overtime and won the second 2-1. They play Ottawa Shamrocks here Saturday in the first of the eastern semi-finals.

One of the most polished goaltenders in junior hockey, Durnan had thrilled a mighty crowd of more than 14,000 with his brilliancy for 55 minutes. The youngster had caught a dozen with his flashing right hand, throwing the puck into corners and smothering rebounds like a Hainsworth.

RECORD BROKEN

His mistake broke up a series that set a new attendance record for amateur hockey in Canada, about 40,000 fans witnessing the three games in Maple Leaf Gardens. And it brought defeat to the team that last spring conquered east and west to take the junior Dominion title to the north for the first time.

LINEUP

Sudbury: Durnan; Porter, McInnis; Smith; LaFrance, Morgna; Subs: Wilkes, Thompson, Chomyzyn, Young.

Officials: Harry McKnight and Charles Talbot.

SUMMARY

First period—No score. Penalties: Vail 2, Young.

Second period: No score. Penalties: Young, Porter (3 min.).

Third period—1, Newmarket, Mann, 15:02. Penalties: Wilkes, LaFrance, Porter, Peterson, Doran.

Coast Swim Star Goes To Ottawa

VANCOUVER, March 23—Two weeks' hence Eastern Canada athletic circles will be augmented by the addition of Dick Wyndham, Dominion breast stroke swimming champion and Olympic contender. Wyndham, who has been one of the mainstays of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming club and perennial British Columbia breast stroke champion, will take up residence at Ottawa.

English Athletes To Visit Gotham

NEW YORK, March 23—Combined Oxford-Cambridge track and field team will engage in three meets in Canada and the United States this summer, Evan A. Hunter, of Oxford, yesterday wrote John T. McGovern, "father" of these international intercollegiate fixtures.

The combined squad will first meet a Harvard-Yale array, July 8, then compete against a combined Princeton-Cornell team July 15, and oppose a Canadian team at Hamilton, Ont., later in the month while enroute home.

TENNIS FINALS FOR VANCOUVER

Jack Wright to Attempt Comeback This Year

VANCOUVER, March 23—Canadian tennis championships will be held on the courts of the Vancouver Lawn Tennis and Badminton club, July 31 to Aug. 5 this year. A. S. Milne, former Canadian Davis cupper, and chairman of the committee in charge, announced the dates yesterday. The venue had been previously awarded by the Canadian Tennis Association. The dates will be forwarded to the Dominion body for immediate ratification.

Dr. Jack Wright, formerly of Montreal, and now of Vancouver, and a member of Canada's Davis Cup team for a number of years, has indicated he will attempt to regain the singles title which he held in 1927-29 and '31.

Dates Announced Eastern Play-off

MONTREAL, March 23.—Eastern Canada junior hockey final for the Memorial Cup will be held on March 29 and March 31 or April 1, it was announced by Frank Greenleaf, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, here last night.

The winner of the series between Moncton Red Indians and Montreal Royals will meet the winner of the Ottawa Shamrock-Newmarket series in the final.

The venue has not yet been decided.

Canuck Ace Of Olympics Now In U.S.

DUNCAN McNAUGHTON, Canadian winner of the Olympic high jump championship last year, who is now a member of the University of Southern California track and field team that is expected to cut a wide swath in intercollegiate circles across the border this term.

BERT PEARSON MAKES GREAT BID FOR FAME

Falls Short by Inches of Beating Metcalfe and Toppino

HAMILTON, Ont., March 23.—A brilliant bid for supremacy over two of the world's greatest dash stars fell short by inches here last night as Bert Pearson, Canadian sprint champion, placed third to Ralph Metcalfe, great Marquette dash man, and Emmett Toppino, New Orleans torpedo, in the 60-yard event that featured the 14th annual indoor games under the auspices of the 91st Highlands Athletic Association.

BEATS TIME

Metcalfe, breaking the tape but four inches in advance of the Flying Toppino, crashed the Canadian record to earth, cutting one tenth of a second off it, and equalled the world's record of 6 1-10 seconds, with Toppino and Pearson almost neck and neck after running that way in advance of the field for more than half the distance.

Metcalfe figured again in an international victory when he ran anchor for the victorious United States four in the special 880 relay against Canada.

Glenn Cunningham, great Kansas runner, and premier 1,500 metres man on the United States team, accounted for the special half mile when Phil Edwards, McGill star, fell 35 yards from home while leading by two feet after a sensational effort. Ned Turner, of Michigan, was second, and Fred Shaver, Hamilton Olympic Club, third.

George Spitz, New York University high jump star, failed to threaten the Canadian high jump record, going only as high as 6 feet 3¾ inches before retiring.

Argentine Heavy Scores Victory

PARIS, March 23—The Argentine heavyweight, Vincent Parille, outpointed Maurice Griselle, French heavyweight champion, in a ten-round bout here last night.

The export of platinum from Canada in December was 128 ounces valued at $5,115, all sent to Norway. The 1932 export was 14,570 ounces at $1,155,705 compared with 14,202 ounces at $1,135,388 in 1931.

BENGALS FACE ESKIMOS HERE AGAIN TONIGHT

Much Improved Ice Surface is Expected for Play-off Game This Evening—Win Important to Both Teams

Lloyd Turner's Calgary Tigers, league pace-setters throughout the season, clash again with Eskimos in the third game of the Western Canada hockey league's championship finals at the Arena tonight, with play starting at 8:30 o'clock.

The two previous meetings of the bitter inter-city rivals in this titular playoff have resulted in tie scores, with the count in each case being 1-1. Both are out to end the string of deadlocks tonight if at all possible and will be fighting every inch of the way for a win, as it would give either a big edge in the struggle for the championship.

Better ice than they have played on in either of the first two games is expected for this evening. Soft ice slowed up the game here Tuesday but the ice-makers at the Arena looked with joy on the lower temperatures yesterday and predicted that it might even be possible to get a flood on the surface for this third game, as the temperature is always lower inside the ring than out-of-doors.

The rival squads came through Tuesday's game without an injury and will be at full strength for the tilt.

Esks believe that faster ice will give them an edge on the southerners, as it will enable the dazzling Art Gagne, big Ernie Kenny and others of their sharpshooters to hit their best form.

Clarence Campbell will referee.

MONCTON SIX BEATS ROYALS ENTER FINALS

Hawks Carry Maritime Hopes by Winning Round 5-2

MONCTON, N.B., March 23. — Moncton Hawks will carry the hopes of the maritime provinces into the finals for the Eastern Canada Senior Amateur Hockey championship. They turned back the bid of the Montreal Royals, Quebec title-holders, 3-2 here last night in the second of the two-game, total-goal series constituting the first round of the Allan Cup play-downs and won the round 5-2. Hawks blanked the Royals in the first game on Monday night 2-0.

SKATING FURY

The Hawks, who include several former Winnipeg players on the lineup, were masters of the Royals last night. Aside from a furious first-period attack by the Montrealers which netted them one of their two goals, rammed home by Jim Kelly, the maritime champions literally skated the puckmen from the St. Lawrence into the ice. A goal by Sammy McManus late in the second period tied up the game score and restored for Moncton their two-goal lead in the series.

From this point on the outcome was never in doubt. Bert Connolly raced straight through the Montreal defence early in the final period and blazed the puck into the corner of the Montreal cage to give Moncton another lead in the game.

ROYALS SCORE

About five minutes later Dave Neville, star centre of the Royals swerved through the Moncton rear guard and beat Foster as the net minder left his cage.

Three minutes later Bill Miller and "Dud" James combined for Moncton's final goal. Miller Cleverly drew the defence before passing to James who picked his corner before shooting the rubber into the lower corner of the Montreal cage.

The Hawks will leave here Sunday or Monday afternoon for Upper Canada where they will meet the Ontario champions in the next round of the Allan Cup playdowns. They have yet to decide whether to play at Montreal, Ottawa, or Toronto.

LINEUP:

Montreal Royals: Coulter; McKenzie, Massey; Neville; St. Grmain, Delahey; subs. P. Kelly, J. Kelly, Wilson, MacQuisten.

Referee: James Foster, Ottawa.

SUMMARY:

First Period: 1, Montral, J. Kelly (P. Kelly), 7.25. Penalties: Walker, Irvine, Massey (2 minutes), Mackenzie (3 minutes).

Second Period: 2, Moncton, McManus, 19.25. Penalties: James, Connolly, P. Kelly, Wilson, Mackenzie, Webster, Neville.

Third Period: 3, Moncton, Connolly, 3.27; 4, Montreal, Neville, 8.42; 5, Moncton, James (Miller), 11.30. Penalties: Massy, Gill, Connolly, Neville.

American Skaters Face Suspensions

CHICAGO, March 23.—All five American skaters, who competed in the winter tournaments in Norway and Finland, yesterday faced suspension from the Amateur Skating Union of the United States on charges of misconduct while abroad.

Skaters under investigation are Valentine Bialis, Utica, N.Y.; Eddie Schroeder, Chicago; Eddie Wedge, Detroit; Bert Taylor, New York, and Cap Springer, New York.

Charges were made by Frank M. Kalteaux, president of the Union, who accompanied the skaters abroad. Among his charges were that several of the players broke training and threatened to go on a strike for larger expense accounts before competing in the foreign tournaments.

Toronto Leafs Face Playoffs Minus Players

TORONTO, March 23.—Toronto Maple Leafs face a dreary task in the National Hockey League and Stanley Cup playoffs with announcement yesterday that Reginald "Red" Horner and probably Harold "Hal" Cotton would be out of the game the rest of the season.

Both suffered hand injuries in the game against New York Americans in New York yesterday, and x-ray examinations yesterday reveal Horner had a fractured hand and Cotton a dislocated bone in his hand.

Dr. J. W. Rush, who accompanied the team to New York, took the red-headed defence star and the veteran wingman to hospital yesterday when the club arrived home. He said afterward he was afraid not only Horner would be out of the playoffs, "but it looks as if Cotton might be out also."

JUNIOR GAME AT MONTREAL IS DEADLOCK

Moncton Red Indians and Royals Divide 3-3, Semi-finals

MONTREAL, March 23—Brimful of fast, even hockey, Moncton Red Indians and Montreal Royals fought a wide open 3-3 tie here last night in the first game of the eastern Canada Junior semi-finals.

After 60 minutes of some of the best hockey ever seen in junior circles here the Maritime champions and the Quebec titlists were deadlocked. Friday night they will skate on the ice on even terms in the second of the two-game series, total goals to count.

Reputed the best aggregation on come out of the Maritimes in search of Canadian junior hockey supremacy, the Indians lived up to the advance notices and turned in a sparkling game that had the Royals nearly backed off the ice.

Harold Ingram's goal three quarters of the way through the first period put Moncton ahead but the Royals came back strongly when Buster Mundey notched the equalizer 58 seconds after the opening whistle of the second. "Bobie" Lebang however gave the Indians the advantage shortly after only to have Mundey and Donnelly beat Burke for two goals. In the first minute of play in the final canto Ingram put the Maritimers back on even terms. There was no further scoring.

Providence Reds Plaster Eagles

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 23. —The Providence Reds experienced very little trouble last night in defeating the New Haven Eagles 5-1 in a listless Canadian-American hockey league contest.

With Maury Roberts, their regular goalie on the sick list, the Eagles were powerless. They went scoreless during the first two periods, Pringle getting their single tally late in the third after the Reds had piled up a five-goal lead on markers by Alexandre, Himes, Murray, McCully, and Gaudreault.

MARY BRIAN IS CAST

Babe Signs For Measly 52 Thousand

GEORGE HERMAN RUTH, the Babe of New York Yankees, who yesterday signed his 1933 contract with Owner Jacob Ruppert for "only" $52,000, a sizeable reduction from the 75 grand he received for his services last season.

THE BIG MAN QUITS RANKS OF HOLDOUTS

Babe Ruth Signs One Year Document for 52 Thousand Dollars

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 23.—The curtain has fallen on baseball's annual hold-out act, starring George Herman Ruth. The Babe has agreed to sign a one-year contract with the New York Yankees—for $52,000.

Unsuccessful in his demand for $60,000 in answer to Colonel Jacob Ruppert's $50,000 offer, Ruth effected a compromise contract which saw his salary drop below its level of 1923-1926 when he received $52,500.

DELAY SIGNING

The actual signing of the contract will be delayed several days but the Babe will take his place in right field in the Yankee lineup for the exhibition game with the Boston Braves here Friday. It will be Ruth's first game of the season for, although the Babe has taken his practice chores along with the others, he's refused to play in exhibitions and has spent his time fishing and golfing.

Paid $75,000 last season, Ruth balked early in the winter when he received a contract calling for $50,000—a one-third slash. His first conference with Colonel Ruppert saw the big slugger chop his figure down to $60,000. Until yesterday Ruppert had stood solidly behind his original offer.

UP IN YEARS

Ruth is 39 years old and in his 20th big league season. He lost his clouting honors last year to Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics but had a good year and was a hero of the world series.

Nick Wasnie Goes To Ottawa Squad

MONTREAL, March 23. — Leo Bourgeault and Harold Starr, defencemen of the Ottawa Senators who joined Montreal Canadiens in a temporary trade for Marty Burke recently, last night became the property of the Flying Frenchmen.

A deal was announced by Leo Dandurand, managing-director of Canadiens, whereby Nick Wasnie, right winger, went to the Senators in permanent trade for Bourgeault and Starr. Wasnie has been playing with the New York Americans all through the season, having been loaned to that squad.

BARNEY ROSS GETS THE NOD IN FAST BOUT

Pride of Chicago Ghetto Beats Scarred Billy Petrolle

CHICAGO, March 23.—Billy Petrolle, the old Fargo Express, famed as a despoiler of champions, ran smack into a derailing last night.

Barney Ross, a product of Chicago's ghetto, conquered the battle-scared Petrolle in a blistering 10-round battle in Chicago Stadium, and established himself as challenger for the world's lightweight championship held by Tony Canzoneri.

IS UNANIMOUS

The verdict of the referee and the two judges was unanimous.

Ross matched speed and sharp hitting against Petrolle's relentless charges. Petrolle threw the experience of 11 years into his offensive, but he was up against a determined youth, a 22-year-old youngster, set on winning the world's lightweight championship.

Ross won a shade of varying degrees in seven of the 10 rounds, because of his ability to outbox Petrolle, outscore in counter punches, and completely overwhelm him in sudden savage attacks in which Petrolle was driven into the corners.

NO KNOCKDOWNS

There were no knockdowns, but Petrolle and Ross set such a bristling pace at free-handed punching that the big crowd was on its feet, or cheering most of the time. Ross' rallies were impressive, particularly so after Petrolle had massaged his chin with all the punches he could command. After these exchanges, Ross crowded the veteran into the corners and nailed him with both hands to the head without a return.

Pla-Mors Outscore Oilers from Tulsa

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 23—A determined final period attack which neted three goals gave Kansas City a victory over Tulsa in the third game of the American Hockey Association championship playoffs here last night. Art Merrill, Kansas City wing, scored two of the goals unassisted.

The defeat, Tulsa's second in the playoffs, virtually eliminated the Oilers as title contenders. St. Louis with two victories remained at the top.

The first bishop of Northern Saskatchewan, Bishop W. Burd, adds another trained Boy Scout leader to the roll of prominent churchmen.

TRIUMPH OVER GRADETTES IN PLAY-OFF TILT

Champions' Passing Attack Clicks; Final Score of Game is 78-35

Edmonton's world champion Commercial Grads again romped over their opposition when they defeated the Gradettes 78-35 in the first game of a two-game series for the provincial senior ladies basketball championship in McDougall high school gym Wednesday night.

Although the Gradettes played a creditable game and fought till the last bell, Grads superior combination plays and more accurate shooting naturally made them the pick of the evening's performers.

SHOOTING WILD

Play opened with the Grads leading in the attack. They successfully brushed the Gradettes aside to get into a good shooting position but all their shots went wild. Miss Munton, forward on the Gradettes, managed to get hold of the ball on a rebound from the board after another of the Grads shots had failed, and dashed up the floor to register the first counter of the evening. Even as slight a lead as this is sufficient to make an experienced machine like the Grads sit up and take notice. They immediately appeared to get a grip on themselves and when the first quarter ended they were leading 14-4.

During the second quarter neither team scored many points and the Gradettes, when the half ended, were still down ten points but they managed to keep their end up and return point for point in this part of the session.

PLAY DEFENCE

After the breather both teams came on the floor much stronger. The Gradettes knew they could not defeat the premier hoopsters of the world but nevertheless maintained a strong defence which made the Grads earn every point they made.

The game was exceptionally clean. Referee Parney handed out few personal fouls. Margaret MacBurney was penalized for the remainder of the game after she drew four personals.

Outstanding in the nights display was the beautiful combination plays featuring Neale, MacBurney and Fry. These girls had a tricky play which resulted in a good shot at the basket every time it was worked.

SIGNALS KNOWN

As the Grads and Gradettes practice with each other twice each week, it is impossible to keep strict secrecy about their signals for various plays. In this way the Grads were greatly handicapped and the Gradettes were at an advantage because, no doubt, the Gradettes learned much of their basketball from the Grads.

Second game of the series will take place next Monday night in the high school gym commencing at 8:30. The winner of the series will represent Alberta in the Dominion playdowns.

LINEUP

Grads—Belanger 16, MacBurney 8, Fry 16, Neale 14, H. Stone 20, Coulson 2, E. Stone 2, Innes 0—Total 78. Coach Percy Page.

Gradettes—Lindsay 0, Northup 9, MacDonald 6, Munton 10, Dann 4, Ross 0, Gordon 4, Brown 2—Total 35. Coach W. C. Tait.

Referee: George Parney.

Saskatoon Assured Of Hockey Play-off

SASKATOON, March 23.—Definite assurance that Saskatoon Quakers and Fort William's Thundering Herd would meet in the first game of the western Canada Allan Cup semi-finals here Friday night was given out late last night when a wire was received from A. E. Gilroy, vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, advising that the Fort William team left Winnipeg last night for the Hub city.

With the weather holding around the freezing point it is expected that a keen sheet of ice will greet the teams when they take the ice.

Hitler Gains Wish for German-Austrian Union

Well-oiled Nazi Parliamentary Machine Functions Well

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, March 23.—Aspirations of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's Nazis for a political union of Germany and Austria were emphatically proclaimed today at the opening session of the Prussian Diet. The spokesman for union was Wilhelm Kube, the Nazi floor leader. Amidst the greatest enthusiasm he saluted eight Austrian Nazis who were in the gallery, and declared:

"As the leader of the Nazis in this house and on the order of Chancellor Hitler, I, as a Prussian, say that we Prussians are pan-Germans, that we shall continue to be so, and that we shall have obtained our goal only when all Germany, including German-Austria, is united with our Fatherland in one great staet which can then esrve Germany's mission in the world.

The well-oiled Nazi parliamentary machine functioned perfectly, disposing within 43 minutes of a Diet programme that ordinarily would have necessitated weeks of deliberation

Nazi members of the Diet remained silent in today's session when Friedrich von Winterfeld, the Nationalist floor leader, expressed the hope that some day he would see a Hohenzollern back on the throne.

CONCILIATORS ON RAIL WAGES MEET MONDAY

Board Prepares to Take Evidence in Service Dispute

MONTREAL, March 23.—A board of conciliation appointed to hear a wage dispute between the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways, on the one hand, and the running trades employees on the other, will hold an organization meeting here Friday with the first hearing of argument probably taking place next Monday.

The board consists of Mr. Justice G. F. Gibsone, Quebec, chairman, George C. McDonald, Montreal, representing the companies and W. F. O'Connor, Toronto, representing the men.

It will attempt to settle the difference between the railways, who demand the substitution of a wage reduction of 20 per cent for the present 10 per cent deduction, and the men, who ask continuation of the 10 per cent cut.

RAIL TRESPASS BRINGS CELLS

NELSON, B.C. March 23—Six men charged under the Railway Act with trespassing, were each sentenced by Magistrate John Cartmel to pay fines of $15, or serve two months in jail. They went to jail. Asked in court if they belonged to the unemployed council hunger marchers who are planning a march to Victoria April 4, they denied any connection with that body.

Police have refused permission for a public meeting of unemployed here Thursday, but despite the refusal notices have been distributed throughout the city urging the workers to gather at two o'clock in the afternoon in front of the courthouse. Provincial police officers have been called here from outside points and city police will be augmented in the event the unemployed attempt to defy the order.

ALLOWANCE TO EMPLOYES FOR CARS DEBATED

Further Economies in Operation of Autos Demanded by Committee

Car allowances to those civic employes who use their own automobiles for city work was the subject of considerable discussion at the regular meeting of the civic finance committee Wednesday, and on the motion of Ald. J H. Fry the committee recommended further economies in this connection and instructed commissioners to prepare a report on the question and submit it to city council.

Heads of several departments appeared at the meeting to explain the necessity of privately-owned cars in the operation of the various departments.

The average allowance is $20 per month.

Before hearing the departmental officials, Ald. Jas. East said that in his opinion the general principle of car allowances was a good thing and that it actually saved the city money. In many cases he believed the allowences were not even sufficient to cover the depreciation on the autos.

USE STREET CARS

Ald. Herbert Baker contended that he looked upon automobilies as a luxury in these hard times and that employes should use street car service more in the transaction of business.

The committee ruled that it would not consider car expenses in connection with the civic health department at the meeting, as the board was operated under provincial health act. Ald. H. D. Ainlay felt that the committee should at least receive some report from the board in this regard. Commissioners said this was forthcoming.

The first department to be considered as far as the auto costs were concerned was the building department. In the absence of an official from this branch of the civic service, Commissioner David Mitchell explained that one privately-owned car was operated by John R. Huntbach, plumbing inspector.

This employee, said the commissioner, had many calls to make owing to the nature of his business. He believed the costs were quite reasonable.

At this juncture Mayor D. K. Knott ventured the opinion that the city was effecting an economy by giving an allowance to owners who used their machines for city work.

Ald. J. W. Findlay, on the other hand, believed that expenditures for this item could be cut down.

USE EXPLAINED

Explaining the use of his own car for city purposes, A. W. Allbright, superintendent of the civic garage, stated that he used the machine to a great extent for servicing city-owned cars which met with difficulties in many parts of the city. He stated that he operated his car on an average of 90 miles each week on legitimate city business. Four-fifths of the time his car was in use was devoted to securing automobile parts from motor firms and bringing them to the civic garage.

When queried as to whether it would not be possible for him to use one of the city's cars for this work, Mr. Allbright explained that he was not empowered to make use of any of the cars of the various departments, and that the garage was not supplied with one of its own.

Supt. Robert Christie, speaking for the city telephones department, told the meeting that there were six trucks in use in this branch of the service, and that he used his own car mainly for trips between the telephone exchanges. He estimated depreciation of $40 per month on his auto. He paid for gas, oil and repairs.

S. C. Gosling, city claims agent, explained that he used his car in connection with investigating claims, brought by persons against the city. It was necessary that he be at the scene of an accident shortly after its occurence. Also, he used his machine for taking injured persons to the spot where the injury had occurred for the purpose of collecting evidence. His work covered all departments, and speed was essential in transportation

CHECK ON GANGS

R. J. Gibb, acting superintendent of the waterworks department, explained the use of privately-owned cars in his branch of the service. He stated that at the present time the waterworks was doing more construction work than some other departments and that a car was a necessity in keeping a check on the gangs at work.

The clash at the meeting came when the expenditure of $1,800 on the operation of the mayor's car for 1932 was being discussed. Ald Baker felt that the amount was too large. Mayor Knott answered that the nature of his office required the extensive use of the machine and the largest item in the expense was depreciation cost.

Continuing, the mayor pointed out that, contrary to the custom of many magistrates who had occupied the chair before him, he had not asked for a new car. He had made every effort to economize in the use of the car He employed a part-time chauffeur who worked at the civic garage when he was not driving the car

The many social functions attendant on his office required the frequent use of the automobile, which was also used in connection with conferences outside of city hall

Reiterating his statement that expenditures on the operation of the mayor's machine should be cut down, Ald. Baker brought a hot reply from Mayor Knott, who stated that he was quite willing to abide with any other system of transportation for him as devised by council. But he was of the opinion that the present system was about as economical as any

The motion to refer the question to the commissioners was then supported.

Where It Started

World-famous Wall Street's narrow pavements as they appeared, comparatively deserted, at the start of the banking holidays At extreme left, the sub-treasury building, the statue of George Washington surveys the unfamiliar scene. At extreme right, the House of Morgan, symbolic of high finance.

Tudge Petition Sent To Ottawa

Carrying 6 029 signatures, over 6000 of them secured in Edmonton, the first instalment of the petitions circulated voluntarily in an effort to have the sentence of Robert Tudge, 'teen age youth who was convicted of an attempted hold-up of the Capitol theatre, commuted or cut down, has been sent to Ottawa.

The petitions, which have the backing of the Edmontin Ministerial Association, are being widely circulated, and as soon as further instalments come in they will be forwarded to the minister of justice

STUDENTS FLAYED

TORONTO, March 23 —"Certain thoughtless young university students who were in their cradles when the boys went overseas," were taken to task for declaring they would never fight for king and country by Hno. W. H. Price, attorney-general for Ontario, speaking at a military banquet last night. "These students fail to conjure up properly the urge of the empire's call," declared Col Price.

RADIO STATION MUST RECANT

OTTAWA, March 23. — Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, has ordered station CKGW in Toronto to broadcast a retraction of statements made during a program from that station last Friday night indicating the commission had placed a ban on certain United States programs being broadcast by Canadian stations.

The instructions wired the station by Mr. Charlesworth, require that the retraction be broadcast three times on successive days, commencing tonight. The retraction must say no ban has been placed on United States programs and that in establishing a maximum of five per cent of program time for advertising purposes the commission was only carrying out the unanimous decision of parliament

Instead of having the effect of banning United States programmes, the retraction must indicate, the National Broadcasting Company in the United States has already expressed a desire to co-operate with the commission.

The wine industry in Canada is confined to a few localities such as the Niagara peninsula in Ontario and the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia, where climatic conditions for the cultivation of grapes are favorable.

AMUSEMENTS

DREAMLAND

French underworld characters are of a different type than the American, being more picturesque and romantic and not so standardized, according to RKO-Radio Pictures' authentic and fascinating "Secrets of the French Police," now showing at the Dreamland theatre

The film, directed by Eddie Sutherland and featuring Gwill Andre Frank Morgan, Gregory Ratoff and John Warburton, is based on a serial, "Secrets of the Surete," by H Ashton-Wolfe, and "The Lost Empress" by Samuel Ornitz

PRINCESS

That inimitable laugh duo, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, make their latest co-starring appearance Friday on the Princess screen in "Prosperity," a story written especially for the two comediennes by Zelda Sears, and directed by Sam Wood, who has produced such successful comedies as "Huddle" and "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford"

RIALTO

Crowds are still greeting "The Desert Song" that has been held over by the Rialto theatre for the balance of the week. It was only after many requests that Mr. Long was able to successfully negotiate a return engagement of this popular film

Once again John Boles and Carlotta King are thrilling Edmonton audiences with their wonderful songs with the background of 132 voices

Marvellous scenes of the great earthquake in California are shown in the Metrotone News which are found to be very interesting.

EMPRESS

Paramount have found a new British screen team in Elizabeth Allan and Hugh Williams. They were co-starred in "Down Our Street," and so successful was the combination that they went straight into "Insult," the film version of the well-known play concerning the French Foreign Legion by Jan Fabricius, and which opens a three-day run at the Empress theatre today.

This is Elizabeth Allan's third picture for Paramount British Productions, as she has previously appeared with tremendous success in the memorable "Service for Ladies."

On the same program is Zane Grey's "The Mysterious Rider

CAPITOL

Hollywood has prepared a rebuttal to hurl at those occasional authors who bewail the manner in which their literary output is treated on the screen

That rebuttal is "State Fair," the Fox picture with Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Lew Ayres, Sally Eilers, Norman Foster, Frank Craven, Louise Dresser and Victor Jory in all-star cast, showing at the Capitol theatre today and Friday

The film is based upon Phil Stong's Literary Guild prize novel of the same name, and the answer to disgruntled authors' charges lies in the fact that the script conforms almost identically with the story as it was published in book form

12 DEATHS ARE LAID TO OHIO RIVER FLOODS

Residents Stricken Areas Turn Anxious Eyes to Dripping Skies

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 23.—As the Ohio river's crest surged inexorably toward the Mississippi, presaging floods in western Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri this week-end, residents of stricken communities turned anxious eyes toward dripping skies today

Showers descended on that already overloaded watershed of the Ohio valley last night. The weather bureau forecast more rains for today, but said they probably would be so light as to not cause serious increases in river stages

OHIO RECEDING

The Ohio began receding along the 150 miles of waterfront between Ashland, Ky., and Cincinnati after driving thousands of families from their homes in the lowlands of West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana At least 12 deaths had been laid directly or indirectly to the flood Refugees hope to reclaim their residences after a week or two. With the Mississippi river already swollen before the Ohio's flood water swept into it, residents of western Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri bottomlands began an exodus similar to that caused by the up-river floods early in the week.

Sand bag barriers were thrown up in several cities, including Louisville, against the rampant stream, as dismal records of inundated residential and business sections, loss of water and gas supplies, and undermining of arterial highways and bridges were written by the yellow tide

BISLEY RIFLE TEAM PRAISED

OTTAWA, March 23 Performance of the Canadian rifle team at Bisley last year placed Canada in "A very proud position," His Excellency, the Earl of Bessborough, governor general, said Wednesday in congratulating the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association on a successful year. His Excellency attended the annual meeting of the organization held here.

Indications the rifleman was coming back to his old position of importance in the army were seen by Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, chief of the general staff, who also addressed the meeting

BANK ROBBER GETS 7 YEARS

TORONTO, March 23. — Stanley Lawrence Wednesday was convicted of armed holdup of the Bank of Toronto branch at Queen and Kenilworth streets last month, and was sentenced to seven years in Portsmouth penitentiary.

MAIL SUBSIDIES REACH $2,295,450

OTTAWA, March 23.—The total amount of mail and steamship subventions given on the Pacific ocean for the last three years was $2,295,450, according to a reply given in the House of Commons Wednesday. Of that total $1,691,800 went to Canadian-owned ships, of which there were seven. Three other vessels were under charter in the Pacific ocean and received subventions

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 23—Seeing the sights and hearing the gossip about town: Helen Mack and William Janney lunching at the Brown Derby .. but it's doubtful if either is aware of that fact Helen was romping all over the place with Colin Clive

The story is out that Marlene Dietrich was the real cause for Maurice Chevalier's wife suing him for divorce . . although she apparently was the only one (outside of themselves) who knew anything about their friendship until they started going places openly after the divorce suit was filed ... and now they aren't going any longer

Boots Mallory dining and dancing at the Beverly-Wilshire with Jimmy Dunn, her fifth date with as many different men in the same number of nights Harpo Marx and Susan Fleming getting gay in the same place . . screen audiences never have heard Harpo speak . but ask Susan about that

El Brendel heading toward home with a huge brass wood box tied on the back of his car . the Brendels used to have nice artificial gas-burning logs in their fireplace then the missus saw the brass box in an antique shop . now they're burning real logs Alice White and Si Bartlett smiling at each other again . . so last week's mad doesn't count any more

Wonder what George Raft will have to say to the New Yorkers who have been insisting that his quarrel with Paramount was over money differences ... just before leaving for the big city, he told several local members of the press that money hadn't entered into the trouble at all Robert Montgomery and Franchot Tone playing marbles on the M-G-M lawn

Plenty of excitement around Agua Caliente ... half the town present for the Divot Diggers (those golfers with steam shovel instincts) tournament . and at least half of them oblivious of the fact a tourney was in progress .. plenty of indoor activities though . . and that new drink termed "morning glory" . . guaranteed to make you feel glorious any morning . . or noon . or night. ... Mack Sennett supplying big silver dollars to the girls with roulette complexes

Howard Hughes getting quite interested in a blond several sizes larger than Dorothy Lee who accompanied him ... and leaving her to shift pretty much for herself Skeets Gallagher doing all right for himself at the crap table ... with Betty Compson, Jobyna Ralston and Dixie Lee seeming to prefer chuck-a-luck ... Bobby Jones sticking pretty much to the open air his first tournament competition since being crowned the "iron man" of golfdom

BEER HELPS CITY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 23 Return of real beer will increase the Milwaukee water department annual revenue by more than $50,000, Henry P. Bohmann, superintendent of waterworks, said. He said he believed the breweries would use 1,500,000,000 gallons of water a year

RUSSIANS USE CANNED BLOOD

NEW YORK, March 23—The successful use in Russia of canned human blood for transfusion purposes was related by Dr. A[illegible] Hirsch of New York, on his arrival here yesterday on the liner Europa after spending a year in Russia

"You cannot use the blood of a person who has died of disease," Dr. Hirsch said. "But when a person has been killed, the blood can be used again with beneficial result"

Dr. Hirsch said blood was drained from a man killed in Moscow and it was sealed in a can. Twenty days later, he said, it was used successfully for a transfusion

EXTORTIONIST PLEADS GUILTY IN VANCOUVER

Plan to Get $200,000 on Kidnap Threat Goes Far Astray

VANCOUVER, March 23—Arrested following a telephone message hinting of an extortion plot involving large sums of money, Ray H. Price pleaded guilty in police court to a charge of attempting to obtain money from Henry Reifel, Jr., by false pretences, and was remanded to March 24 for sentence.

Between January 1 and March 18, Mr. Reifel received telephone messages telling of a plan to abduct members of his family if $200,000 were not paid to the plotters. The person who telephoned declared that for a money consideration he would reveal the plot

Detective work following a complaint made to the police two weeks ago resulted in the telephone calls being traced and brought out the fact that [illegible]

On March 18 detectives A. Rae and W. Mackie arrested Price as he stepped out of a telephone booth.

Price is a native of New Brunswick. He was wounded in war service.

ONTARIO UNDER $3,000,000 DEFICIT

TORONTO, March 23.—An operating deficit for the current fiscal year of well under $3,000,000 will be shown in the budget statement Premier George S. Henry will make to the Ontario legislature today, the Mail and Empire says.

A reduction of approximately $14,000,000 from last year's ordinary expendiutres, will be made, according to the paper, while provision, within the scope of the succession duties act, will be made for a 10 per cent. surtax on assessments made by the provincial treasury under this law.

Truck Regulation Revoked; He May Get $5 Fine Back

DRUMHELLER, March 23.—Martin McGuckie of Wayne may ask for his $5 (and costs) back when he reads Premier's Brownlee's statement in Tuesday's Bulletin to the effect that the regulation made last December prohibiting more than two persons to travel on trucks without first obtaining a permit, had been revoked.

McGuckie pleaded guilty to an infraction of the regulation Tuesday afternoon before Magistrate L. O'Connor, who assessed the defendant $5 and costs. The accused told the court that he had undertaken a trip to Drumheller out of pure sympathy as several residents of Wayne, who were unable to provide their own means of transportation, had asked him to drive them to the funeral of the late Nick Parkyn. At first he thought he could get them all in a private car, but found this impossible, so the truck was used in lieu of a funeral coach.

ONE I LOVE

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When JANET HILL learns ROLF CARLYLE has been breaking engagements with her to meet BETTY KENDALL, a society girl, she tells him their marriage is off. Janet is 23, pretty and secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine.

She still loves Rolf and cannot forget him. JEFFREY GRANT, young engineer who lives at the same rooming house as Janet, appears one night just in time to save her purse from a holdup man. Janet becomes interested in the SILVANI family, almost destitute. Jeff helps provide food and clothing for them and later they find a job for PAT. SILVANI, the father.

Jeff and Janet become close friends. He asks her to help him select a gift for a girl and they buy a purse. When Janet sees in newspaper headlines that Rolf has eloped with Betty Kendall she tells about her broken engagement and says she will never care for anyone else.

A few days later Bruce Hamilton tells Janet he is leaving the magazine. The staff is to be reduced and her job will be gone. Hamilton says his sister, MRS. CURTIS, needs a social secretary and that he has recommended Janet. She goes to see Mrs. Curtis and is hired.

On Saturday she moves to her new home. She is unpacking when the maid announces there is a call for her on the telephone.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVI

JANET looked up, puzzled. "Why, who could it be?" she asked. "I don't know who could be calling me."

"I don't know, Miss Hill," the maid said. "He didn't give his name. There's only one telephone on this floor and its in Mrs. Curtis' room. You can use the one downstairs in the library."

Janet hurried down the stairs. Was it Jeff, she wondered? Who else would know where to reach her? And why had he called?

"Hello," she said. "This is Janet speaking—"

But it was not Jeff Grant's voice that came to her. It was Bruce Hamilton and he had a message for Mrs. Curtis. He would not, he said, be able to keep an engagement for dinner the next day but he would be out later in the afternoon. He asked Janet how things were going and seemed pleased with her report.

"I'll see you tomorrow," he said. "Yes, I'm getting away tomorrow night. Deuce of a lot to do yet, toe!"

Janet said good-bye and went up the stairs again. She felt a disappointment she would not quite admit. She hadn't expected Jeff to call her. There was no reason why he should. And yet the big house seemed deserted and lonely.

"It won't be like this later," she assured herself. "I'll get used to it—and besides I'll be busy."

She returned to her unpacking, folded lingerie and laid it away in the chest of drawers. She hung her dresses in the closet and arranged the top of the dressing table with two crystal bottles that were prized possessions and a china powder box.

When she had taken everything out of the trunk and traveling bag she slipped off her dress and ran warm water into the tub. She had a lazy, luxurious bath and then, wrapped in a negligee, lay down on the bed. But she did not sleep. There were so many things to think about. She was still in Edmonton and yet she might almost have been a thousand miles away. Everything seemed so different. All of the people about her were strangers. How was she going to like this new life? How would these strangers like her? Would she be happy here?

What, Janet wondered, was happiness, really? Something in your own heart instead of what went on around you, she thought. Something you couldn't see or explain but could only feel. But happiness was not what Janet was looking for. She had put that behind her. All that she wanted now was to forget.

The most impossible thing in the world it seemed to achieve—forgetting.

After a while Janet decided it was time to dress. She arose and put on fresh underclothes. What dress should she wear? The maid had said something about "dressing for dinner." Did that mean she was supposed to wear a formal dinner dress? She didn't own one. She could put on the blue crepe from last summer.

Janet looked at it and then shook her head. She took down the black silk that was her newest office dress. It had been freshly cleaned and there was a touch of lace at the throat that was flattering. She had just slipped the dress over her head when there was a knock at the door.

Janet said, "Just a minute!" and then opened the door. It was Mrs. Curtis who stood outside.

"I'm so glad you're here!" she exclaimed. "Is everything all right, my dear? Sorry I couldn't be here when you came. I told Lucy to see that you had everything you wanted."

Mrs. Curtis was dressed in heavy brown satin and wore a small brown straw hat. The clasp that held the neckline of her dress contained a half dozen sparkling stones and two diamonds gleamed from a ring on her finger. Yet Mrs. Curtis, in this glittering array, looked no more imposing than the first time Janet had seen her.

Everything was quite all right, Janet assured her. She remembered Mr. Hamilton's message and repeated it.

"Poor Bruce—he does work so hard," the older woman lamented. And then, "By the way, there will only be you and I for dinner this evening. No need to dress. Well, I'll leave you now—"

At dinner an hour later Janet learned more of the household. There were four servants—the cook, two maids and a chauffeur. It was Lucy, the younger maid, who had met Janet at the door. She learned that Bertha, the other maid, was a housekeeper in all but title, that the cook had been with Mrs. Curtis 14 years and that the chauffeur's name was Frederick.

Mrs. Curtis talked a good deal about her daughter who was married. Janet didn't ask questions but she gathered that the daughter was now living somewhere in the east. She was an only child and obviously the idol of her mother's heart.

They went into the living room after dinner and played two-handed bridge. The game was new to Janet who had to give all her attention to her cards. Buster, the Persian cat, wandered into the room and watched the players from his post on a nearby chair.

At 9:30 Mrs. Curtis decided she had had enough of cards. Janet selected a magazine from the reading table and went to her room.

It was the first of many evenings that were to be similar. Janet in the beginning felt that her new duties were no duties at all. She soon changed her mind. It was true that there was no routine as in an office. There were no long hours of dictation or typing but there were small important details—dozens of them—to be attended to.

Janet was up each morning at 7:30. When Mrs. Curtis appeared at the breakfast table an hour later her letters were waiting her. Janet was always present at the daily interview with Bertha over menus and marketing. Sometimes the rest of the morning would be devoted to telephoning members of Mrs. Curtis' committee of the Wednesday club. Sometimes there were errands to do down town—difficult errands such as choosing books Mrs. Curtis would enjoy, ordering a bon voyage gift and making sure the package would reach the boat, finding out from the electric company why the ventilator in the kitchen didn't work as it should.

It was worrying over just such things, Mrs. Curtis said, that had given her those dreadful attacks of "nerves." It was no wonder she couldn't sleep at night. Mrs. Curtis regarded Janet as a marvel able to solve any difficulty.

She was considerate in many ways. There were always fresh flowers in Janet's room just as there were in Mrs. Curtis'. When the car wasn't needed for any other purpose and Janet had an engagement Mrs. Curtis urged her to call Frederick and have him drive her where she wished to go. She took Janet with her to a luncheon at the Canadian Club at which a well-known novelist spoke.

At first Janet tried to make her days systematic. She found it was impossible. If nothing else upset her plans Mrs. Curtis herself was sure to do it. She would decide at the last minute that she wouldn't go to have the fitting at the dressmaker's. Or instead of having six guests at dinner she would decide to invite 10. Mrs. Curtis gratefully shifted responsibility for such changes to her secretary's shoulders.

And yet Janet liked her work. It was so entirely different from anything she had ever done. It took her new places and among people of a different world. It was interesting to know how they lived. When Janet shopped for Mrs. Curtis she visited stores she had never entered before. It was pleasant to sit back in the velour-upholstered limousine and give Frederick instructions through the speaking tube. It was pleasant to meet Mrs. Curtis at the fashionable Golf and Country Club.

During that first week Janet worked longer hours than she had ever worked before. It had been agreed that she was to have one afternoon to herself each week and those evenings when Mrs. Curtis had engagements. Somehow the time slipped by and Janet was busy every afternoon.

She was sitting at her desk in the little room off the library Friday morning when a messenger delivered a package. It was a box from Birks, the jewelers, and the boy was quite certain that Mrs. Curtis had ordered it.

Half an hour later Mrs. Curtis entered the room and Janet showed her the frame. "Oh, yes!" she said. "It's for my daughter's picture. The glass broke and I left it to have them put in a new one. I'll just get the photograph—"

Her voice trailed off as she hurried from the room. A moment later she was back. "Here it is," she said. "Don't you think she's attractive?"

GOVERNMENT PLANS EARLY BANK ACTION

Eminent British Banker to be Member of Royal Commission

OTTAWA, March 23.—Early action on the setting up of a royal commission to investigate the Canadian banking system and the desirability of establishing a central bank will be taken. The government is now giving consideration to the personnel of the commission and selection of an eminent banking authority from Greet Britain as one of the members of the commission is regarded as certain. There is also a possibility an expert on the Federal Reserve Bank system of the United tates may be selected.

If these steps are taken the commission might take a form similar to that of the royal commission which studied the transportation problem.

Revision of the Bank Act was due this year, but was postponed until next year in view of the projected world economic conference which is expected to make recommendations with respect to finance and credit. The commission, when established may begin its inquiry and adjourn until after the world conference. Then it would co-relate its findings with the decisions of the world conference and make a report in time for the next session of parliament.

Lusty protests from a number of different quarters against certain new taxes were forthcoming today. The taxes on sugar, malt and cigarette papers have been criticized. Generally, however, there appears a disposition to recognize the fact the government has to get revenue and has to increase taxes.

The number of persons required to pay income taxes will increase by several thousand by reason of the lowering of the exemption and the elimination of the special exemption for householders.

TRAPEZE ROPE KILLS BOY, 12

GRETNA, Man., March 23—Sllis Hayword, 12, son of postmaster and Mrs. Charles Hayword of Gretna, was strangled while playing on a trapeze at his home yesterday.

The boy slipped while standing on a box and the trapeze ropes became entangled around his neck. Ellis' body was found by his father.

WOMEN PATIENTS FACE FIRE PERIL

CLEVELAND, March 23.—Flames which spread rapidly through a three-story women's dormitory at the Cleveland infirmary in suburban Warrensville last night destroyed that part of the institution and threatened the lives of 136 occupants. Infirmary officials, however, said all of the 136 were saved. Firemen estimated damage at $30,000.

All of the women were led or carried to safety by volunteers working under the direction of J. J. Sullivan, superintendent.

LIBERALS SCAN RHODES BUDGET

OTTAWA, March 23—The Rhodes budget was under review Wednesday at a caucus of Liberal members and Senators. Although no official announcement was made, it was understood the party leaders agreed to oppose many features of the budget, especially in committee stage when details are discussed.

Mounties Fined In Halifax Court

HALIFAX, March 23—Two Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers were fined $10 each Wednesday for giving fictitious names to a fellow mountie who caught them in a Halifax drinking place several days ago. The officers, Constable H. O. Humphries and Constable A. B. Spence, had been convicted in police court last week.

MANITOBA FEARFUL OF BEER, WINES

WINNIPEG, March 23.—Beer and light wines with meals in hotel dining rooms would not be suitable in Manitoba, a majority of Manitoba's legislature members decided today, in rejecting an amendment calling for adoption of the system in force in Quebec.

Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general, said Quebec was the only province in the Dominion permitting such a system. "The French-Canadian apparently is more capable of taking liquid refreshment with his meals than is the English-speaking person," the attorney-general said.

The amendment was moved by Marcus Hyman, Independent Labor, Winnipeg. Sitting at tables and merely "swilling" beer was disgusting, he said.

MORE ABOUT
UNEMPLOYMENT

doctor in Calgary a few days ago stated last year medical men in Alberta had given $250,000 a year in medical services.

He sincerely hoped there would be a broadening out of proyisions for dealing with necessitous cases. In Calgary a recent rule was made precluding any from receiving relief who had a telephone.

In Western Canada, the problem of unemployment had been accentuated by the intensive immigration into the west in the 10 years following the war, said Hugh C. Farthing, Cons., Calgary. There had not been the increase in farming to warrant the heavy influx.

Had it not been for this "appalling" immigration policy, the unemployment relief problem would not be nearer than 50 per cent to the present problem.

This was proved by the fact that a large percentage—54 per cent of single men in one report—of unemployed had come from Central European countries in the last decade.

SOLDIER PENSION

He did not see that a returned soldier pensioner should be placed in a less favorable position than the civilian. Clothes and medical examination of returned soldiers incapable of doing hard work, but not pensioners, were other matters meriting attention.

He put forward a strong plea for the consideration of single men. He praised Calgary for its relief policies, stating that few, if any, cities were more generous in treating those on relief.

He then reviewed the relief situation in Calgary, stating that at one time last summer a native-born Calgary single man might have been refused relief while a married man recently arrived from Central Europe, would have no difficulty in obtaining same.

If the unemployment problem was to be vital for some time—as it appeared it would—efforts should be made to provide work for the men. It was a tragedy that there was growing up, a generation of young men that had never worked.

He admired the morale of the young men who had maintained their morals at a time when the opposite could be expected.

Hugh Allen, U.F.A., Grande Prairie, drew attention to the plight of many in the homestead districts of the province. There was no scarcity of work. There was too much of that already. What was needed was more money. The only money seen in the north these days was in the stores, and little there, representing funds in payment for relief supplies. While there was talk of barter systems in the cities, this system had been used in rural areas for a long time.

He thought the concentrated immigration of the post-war period was largely a Dominion government responsibility for which the Dominion should accept in greater measure.

He instanced families with as many as seven children, existed on as little as $100 in the last year. A warm tribute was paid to the relief administration and to the police in administering same.

Nevertheless, more attention would have to be given to relief. More people were going on relief and the condition of those on relief was getting worse. More clothes and other necessities were needed.

A strong plea was made for a re-establishment of the district nurses in the north. He thought this as important as providing food. In cases where taxes were being worked out that a small amount of money should be paid to the man to carry him over.

C. Lionel Gibbs, Labor, Edmonton, substantiated the remarks made by Mr. Farthing. There was a danger under the present system of reducing hours and wages; there was a danger of hurrying the substitution of machinery for men.

The existing situation was brought about by an inherent defect in the system under which people lived.

Dealing with the land settlement policy, he said there had been follies in the settlement policies of the past.

Settlement in a co-operative way, to permit settlers to take advantage of one another's machinery, was advocated. He visualized the country at the end of an era.

Spending money on direct relief was a "sticking plaster" method of treating the problem, instead of getting down to the fundamental cause.

In the last analysis the basic cause of the depression was not the world war, the government, or immigration policies, but rather the economic system, which in the net result reduced purchasing power.

It had been shown that periods of depression always followed periods in which the greatest capital commitments had been made.

He would protest anything being done to reduce living standards.

L. A. Giroux, Liberal, Grouard, thoroughly and entirely endorsed the remarks of Mr. Allen, who had given a splendid presentation of the case.

HE TAKES EXCEPTION

He took exception to the inference by Mr. Gibbs that it was a backward step for spinning wheels going into the north country. Work of French-Canadian handicrafts was highly prized.

Homesteaders were willing to work. He thought it unfair to criticize homestead policies of the past.

He reiterated Mr. Allen's plea for greater medical services.

There could be no fair criticism of settlers going to the Peace River territory, because, by crossing the Swan Hills natural divide, they found the best agricultural and natural resource area in the province.

He paid eloquent tribute to the valuable work being done by the McLennan hospital.

Milton C. McKeen, U.F.A., Lac Ste. Anne, wanted to know how municipalities were going to finance when they were even now at their finances end.

Dr. W. A. Atkinson, Conservative, Edmonton, said that although he had contact in a professional way with many on relief, in the last year at any rate, he had heard no complaints against the relief system. Rather the reverse was the case.

The medical phase of relief, he said, had been pushed aside. But practitioners had given their services cheerfully. Seeing the Dominion was taking cognizance of medical aid, some definite provision should be made.

He instanced the system of payment of doctors for relief services. Regardless of whether one visit or a dozen visits were made the doctor's remuneration was $3.

What was being done to solve the unemployment situation should be encouraged.

Hon. J. F. Lymburn, K.C., attorney general, thought the time had come for a fundamental change.

Closing the debate Hon. O. L. McPherson said that the Dominion government had agreed to carry on the relief commission until April 30.

Medical services had been pushed aside and he hoped for the Dominion government instituting some scheme.

New Zealand Has Converted Huge Sum

WELLINGTON, N.Z., March 23.—The government's attempt to have £115,000,000 worth of internal debt holdings converted to a four per cent. basis, saving the country about £215,000 annually in interest, has almost been wholly successful.

One more day remains for hesitant holders to voluntarily turn in their issues, and at present the government has £104,000,000 converted. Officials believe the whole total will be converted, because until now there have only been dissenting notifications representing about £400,000.

The output from Alberta oil wells in November totalled 64,990 barrels, consisting of 60,449 barrels of crude naphtha and 1,491 barrels of light crude from the Turner Valley field and 3,050 barrels of light crude from the Red Coulee field.

JEWISH HOUSE MEMBERS ASK PREMIER'S AID

Want to Know Nature of Hitler Indignities in Germany

OTTAWA, March 23—Jewish members of the house of commons consisting of S. W Jacobs, A. A. Heaps and Samuel Factor, waited on the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, prime minister and minister of external affairs, Wednesday, asking on behalf of Canadian Jews that steps be taken to ascertain the nature of mistreatment alleged to have been suffred by German Jews since the Hitlerite government came into power.

The prime minister received the delegation sympathetically and undertook to communicate with Dr. Oscar Skelton, under-secretary of state for external affairs, who is in London, asking for complete report on the situation.

The delegation took the view that Canada being a member of the League of Nations of which Germany is also a member, and that as racial and religious rights are safeguarded by the league, appropriate action could be taken by that body to preserve Jewish rights which it is claimed are being attacked by the Hitlerite forces.

DUGGAN TALKS ON WORLD ILLS

"The problems of today are international ones, and any solution offered must contsitute an international policy", declared D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader in the legislature, in opening an address on "The Proposed International Economic Conference," at a meeting of the Political Science club of the University on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Duggan continued: "That this is so, has come to be recognized by the leading nations of the world, and it was with such a realization that the Lausanne Conference advised the League of Nations to convoke a World Conference to decide upon the measure to solve the economic and financial difficulties which are responsible for, and may prolong, the present world crisis.

COMMISSION FORMED

"The advisability of undertaking such a conference was agreed upon and a Preparatory Commission of Experts was given the task of preparing a draft of recommendations or agenda for the forthcoming Monetary and Economic Conference.

"The members constituting the committee of inquiry are the leading financial authorities of their respective countries.

"The committee reached the conclusion that in view of the tension existing in the sphere of international monetary and currency relations the program of the proposed conference must be one of economic disarmament. Failure in this will mean the world-wide adoption of ideals of national self-sufficiency, which thwart economic development.

THE PROGRAM

"The program of reconstruction which the commission claims it necessary for governments to uncertake consists of:

(1) The restoration of an effective international monetary standard.

(2) The consideration of the possibilities of continuing and extending, where monetary conditions permit, a general policy of easy money designed to promote a healthy expansion of business and counteract disastrous fluctuations of commodity prices.

(3) The abolition of exchange restrictions is an essential condition of world recovery. The governments concerned must take the internal measures necessary to secure the stability of their budgets and of their economic systems.

(4) The establishment of greater freedom of international trade was urged as the fourth great item of the programme."

In tne opinion of Mr. Duggan the proposed conference, if it follows the program as laid down for it will accomplish the most constructive piece of work toward economic recovery, yet undertaken.

NEW LEGISLATION IS ANNOUNCED

Practically all legislation to be brought down in the present session is now before the house and the balance probably will be brought down by the end of the current week, according to Premier J. E. Brownlee.

Asked on Wednesday by W. R. Howson, provincial Liberal leader as to the legislation likely to be broughtd down the Premier said that one bill would be a bill to consolidate taxes; another would provide for the taxation of pipe lines a measure of limited application; the amending bill to the Fuel Oil Taxa Act to provide for the raise in gas tax from five to six cents; a bill in connection with the sale of binder twine; a bill dealing with district courts; another dealing with the licensing of track grain buyers.

Asked by George H. Webster, Liberal, Calgary, if there was any likelihood of there being any Turner Valley gas legislation, the Premier replied that he did not think so as such regulations as were proposed, probably could be dealt with by resolution.

About 50 bills have been introduced into the session.

YES'R...... SHE'S BEEN ABANDONED, SURE AS I'M STANDING ON THIS DECK.... BOY! THIS IS CREEPY!
COMING UPON THIS ABANDONED, FULL-RIGGED SHIP HAS GIVEN THE BOYS A REAL THRILL... EVEN THE SHIP'S BOATS STILL HANG FROM THE DAVITS!!
TIE OUR BOAT TO ONE OF THOSE ROPES, FRECKLES AND COME ON BOARD.... SHE'S DESERTED!
OKAY....BE RIGHT WITH YOU!
AS FAR AS I CAN SEE, THIS BOAT ISN'T DAMAGED IN ANY WAY—I CAN'T IMAGINE A SHIP LIKE THIS, OUT HERE ON THE OPEN SEA, WITH NOT A SOUL ON BOARD!
WHAT'LL WE DO NOW, GALEN?
FIND OUT WHERE SHE SAILED FROM AND WHO HER CAPTAIN WAS HOW CAN YOU DO THAT, WHEN THERE'S NO ONE TO ASK?
WHY, GO TO THE CAPTAIN'S QUARTERS AND LOOK FOR THE SHIP'S PAPERS!!

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN — Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

"Hey, lads, be careful," Scouty cried. "It would be better if we tried to walk into the strange house 'stead of knocking on the door.

"Of lily pads the house is made. If we're not careful, I'm afraid the house will cave right in. Then it won't be here any more."

"All right, lad, if you are so brave," the others heard wee Duncy rave. "You go ahead and walk right in. I think I'll wait out here.

"It isn't right to walk into a private home. I'm warning you! If you try such a trick as that, you'll fill us all with fear."

* * *

"I guess you're right," said Scouty. "Gee, that thought just didn't dawn on me. I'm going to call out loud, to see if anyone's inside."

And then he shouted, "Hey, come out and tell us what it's all about." "Why, sure! We're only friendly lads," another Tiny cried.

Then Duncy said, "Gee, look at it! I think the strange house moved a bit. I also have a hunch that something thrillink is in store."

The next thing that the Tinies knew, up in the air a big frog flew. "For goodness sakes," said Coppy. "He came right out through the door."

"Of course I did," the frog replied. "You called to me to come outside, and here I am. What do you want? That's what I'd like to know."

"Don't get excited," Windy said. "But be real nice to us, instead. We happened to be walking near, and stopped to say hello."

The strange frog then jumped up and down and said. "I'm acting like a clown, but that's because I'm glad you've come. We ought to have some fun. I'm glad to meet friends, now and then. Stay for a while. Then, come again. If you like wondrous jumping, I will show how it's done."

EXPORT LIFTS WHEAT VALUES ON THURSDAY

WINNIPEG, March 23—Export demand estimated at 1,000,000 bushels and good support from outside markets lifted values on the grain exchnage today and left wheat future prices ⅛ to one cent higher.

May closed at 49¾, July 50⅞ and October 52¾.

Selling came into the market fairly freely at the high points but traders were able to absorb the offerings without difficulty. Strenkth in outside markets tended toward short covering and the support remained fairly firm throughout the session, boosting prices about 1⅛ cents at one period.

Overnight export business of about 800,000 bushels for Liverpool was reported and foreign sales during the session ran the figure near the 1,000,000-bushel mark.

Liverpool made gains of ½d to ⅝d and with movement of Argentine wheat figured at 4,250,000 bushels for this week Buenos Aires showed a gain of ⅛c at noon.

Demand for cash grain remained negligible and futures trading in coarse grains was dull.

Whitney Letter

NEW YORK, March 23—There really is not very much to say regarding yesterday's session for the market performed in about the same manner it performed the first two days of the week. In disclosing distinct absence of rally power, which absence is explainable quite readily by business in general, confess am now inclined to view Thursday's shakeout as insufficient from a technical standpoint to warrant predicting the imminance of a rally. See no particular reason to become rampantly bearish at this stage of the game, just because the market is declining and not living up to the expectations of many, last week. On the other hand, candidly acknowledge as seeing no reason for becoming rampantly bullish. You may not relish the idea of doing nothing marketwise, but such procedure at the moment appears most advisable for the average trader.

The beer bill has passed and the sale of beer and light wines in accordance with the terms prescribed by the law is authorized to start next Npril 7th. The news is good news, but its initial importance has apparently been discounted in the market. The law harbors in its fold exceptionally favorable prospects, but the realization of these prospects must be awaited for they will not develop overnight. At least it can be said, though congress may appear to be moving slowly, that it is moving in the right direction and bids fair in time to pass on good news which subsequent events will prove to be most significant.

As for business in general, some disappointment is being encountered in the way of reports which indicate that the pickup following the rescinding of the bank holiday has not been as large or as extensive as originally anticipated. Am of the opinion that the outstanding characteristic of the business revival when it comes to will be that the outstanding characteristic of the business revival when it comes to will be that the so-called "small fellow" will profit infinitely more than the so called "big fellow" for some time to come.

It is quite evident that both the speculative and investment worlds, as each day passes, are beginning to concur with viewpoint expressed here regarding the business outlook, namely that revival is under way, there are going to be some casualties in the way of receiverships, and reductions and omissions of dividends. The road to recovery is a long one and there is going to be ample opportunity for you to make an intelligent commitment on the long side of the market. There appears no necessity for fear of missing the next swing. So sit tight for a while.

EDMONTON STOCKYARDS, March 23—Receipts today were 63 cattle, 20 calves, 884 hogs and no sheep.

There is only fair action noticeable on today's market. Buyers are still inclined to be indifferent in their demands, particularly on steers. Sales up to noon indicate that prices ar holding about steady with yesterday's close. Prospects are for a fair cleanup. Following are the prices:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| BUTCHER CATTLE— | | | |
| Good, lt., fed-calf order | $3.50 | to | $4.00 |
| Medium | 2.75 | to | 3.25 |
| Good butcher steers | 3.00 | to | 3.50 |
| Medium | 2.25 | to | 2.75 |
| Good butcher cows | 1.75 | to | 2.25 |
| Common to fair | 1.50 | to | 2.00 |
| Good butcher heifers | 3.00 | to | 3.25 |
| Medium | 2.25 | to | 2.75 |
| Common to fair | 1.50 | to | 2.00 |
| Good butcher cows | 1.75 | to | 2.00 |
| Common to medium | 1.00 | to | 1.50 |
| Canners and cutters | .50 | to | 1.00 |
| Bulls | 1.00 | to | 1.50 |
| STOCKER CATTLE— | | | |
| Good steers and heifers | 2.25 | to | 2.50 |
| Plain to medium | 1.50 | to | 2.00 |
| Stocker cows | .75 | to | 1.50 |
| CALF MARKET— | | | |
| Good light vealers | 4.00 | to | 4.50 |
| Common to medium | 2.00 | to | 3.00 |

Hogs are stronger. Carloads sold at $4.55 for bacons fed and watered, trucked-in at $4.45 for bacons. Selects are bringing the 50c premium, butchers discounted 50c.

BRISK RALLY UNCOVERED ON STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 23—The stock market threw off its reactionary mood of the past five sessions and recovered vigorously for a time today.

An upsweep of prices in the first hour carried a number of issues up 2 to 4 points, as shorts sought to cover in a market from which selling pressure had been lifted.

Trading slackened later, but more than half of the early advance was still retained by early afternoon. Early strength also appeared in cotton and wheat.

Extreme gains of about 4 points in Allied Chemical and Case were shaded by a point or so later. American Telephone lost more than a point or an upturn of 3½, and Consolidated Gas slid back a point after rising 3. A 2-point gain in United States Steel was cut in half. Gains of 2 to 3 points in Union Pacific, Santa Fe, New York Central and a few other carriers, were somewhat reduced although rails developed new strength in the third hour.

Various strong groups in the earlier trading included farm implements, mail order issues, sugars, the "wet" stocks, and others.

The brisk advance in the early trading was attributed in brokerage circles largely to improvement in the market's technical position.

Rails were influenced by expectations of an early announcement of the administration's program of dealing with the situation.

LIVERPOOL, March 23—There was a rather better demand for Canadian wheat yesterday with the decline in futures at Winnipeg bringing in acceptances. The volume, however, remains disappointing, and marketings in Canada are running about a million bushels a week larger than exports.

The Canadian crop was estimated at 431,000,000 last November, but there was a carryover of 131,000,000 August 1st. Total shipments since last August to date of both wheat and flour have been approximately 180,000,000.

Berlin market re-opened yesterday at a decline of 1⅛ to 1⅝ since Monday. Paris closed ½ to ¾ lower, and Rotterdam ⅛ to ⅛ lower.

General rains in the Argentinue yesterday may delay the movement of new corn to the seaboard and stop loading temporarily, but the Buenos Aires corn market was unaffected.

Foreign wheat quotations c.i.f. in the United Kingdom declined regularly from a week ago, with Manitobas showing the biggest loss of ¾ cent a bushel and Australians ⅛ down. Argentine prices lost only ⅜ cents.

Of the 328,000 bushels of U. S. wheat and flour exported last week only 1,000 bushels was actually wheat. The balance was American flour and Canadian flour in transit.

fully, Mr. Howson asked if it were not a fact that all prices at the moment being dealt with were higher than the range in contracts advertised and let on tender, to which Mr. Davidson replied "Yes."

"Was this contractor, who got his contract without tender, paid the highest price of all the first 10?" asked Mr. Howson.

"Yes."

"Was it a difficult road to build? My information is that it was as easy a piece as any on the prairie?"

"An easy piece of terrain may become very difficult," replied Mr. Davidson.

In further explanation, Mr. Davidson said that this stretch, between Medicine Hat and Kininvie, was in low-lying country where irrigation ditches had been built. There were many boulders lying in the area. He thought this work compared unfavorably with that in other parts of the prairie and more especially in view of the weather conditions

"Did you forecast them " asked Mr. Howson.

NO POST-MORTEMS

"There are no post-mortems in my department."

Taking four projects, Mr. Howson asked Mr Davidson how he arrived at the figures given in advertisements on which tenedrs were called and in reply Mr Davidson said that there must be some figures on which a tender could be based. This was so even without a preliminary survey.

Dealing again with the first four contracts, Mr. Howson asked if there was any solid rock allowed and paid for on them, to which Mr. Davidson replied, "No."

Asked how the Elk Island park territory compared with that through which ran the Alberta Beach road, Mr. Davidson said that there was a similarity in some parts.

"Do the figures show there was no solid rock on the one and 5107 cubic yards on the other?

"Yes."

"Is it true that of the first 10 contracts l etin 1931 only three showed any solid rock?"

"Yes."

It is true that all other contracts let in 1931 after No. 10 were without bids and all but four had solid rock classification?"

"Yes."

DRAW COMPARISON

Mr. Howson then said he proposed to draw a comparison between the Kininvie-Redcliffe contract and the other 48 under review let in 1931 It carried, he said, a higher price for loose rock, by 17 cents than any other.

"Is this so," asked Mr. Howson.

"Yes, it is true, because this contract was an extension of a price from a competitive contract made in 1930."

"But it was the highest price paid to any contractor in those two years?"

"Yes."

Hon. O. L. McPherson, rising asked if, in contracts from No. 10 to the end, representing about $1,000,000, there was any price for common excavation, loose rock, solid rock any higher than on the contracts let by tender.

"There is not," replied Mr. Davidson.

"Is there any significance in the fact that the first four contracts show rock and others do not?" asked the Minister.

"No."

"Were there any restrictions placed on the contractor in the Redcliff project that were not imposed on other contractors?"

"Yes, there were."

"That being so, would it not then be reasonable to pay him more for having to work under onerous or adverse conditions?"

"Yes."

Continuing, the Minister asked if there was not a great variation in bids, and whether one that asked a high price for solid or loose rock might be desirable on the basis of other items.

"Yes," replied Mr. Davidson.

COMPLICATED QUESTION

At this point, Mr. Davidson said he would like to point out that the whole question of bids was complicated and he would much like to have members study the bid sheets and then they would obtain a fair idea of how 780 miles of highway was handled in 21 monehs, showing the tremendous amount of work involved.

"Can you, Mr. Howson or anyone else in the world, tell in advance where rock will be found," asked the minister.

"No."

"Can you recall any cases where the department has let contracts to bidders other than the lowest."

"In the last eight years, I can recall one, or possibly two."

"Do you think the change of award was justified under circumstances and conditions?"

"Yes."

Asked to compare average costs per mile on the Winterburn-Seba stretch and the Alberta Beach-Onoway road, Mr. Davidson said that the former cost $861 more per mile.

Answering another question he said that in 1930 when the O'Connor contract was let there were 10 bids for the job.

"Which bid was the lowest?"

"Thaat by O'Connor."

"Is the statement, trueu that was made in this house that in seven contracts no figures were given and payment was made on the contractors figures?"

"I cannot conceive of such a statement being made," replied Mr. Davidson.

Mr. Howson contended this comparison was not a fair one.

At the end of the sitting, Mr. Howson gave notice of witnesses he would require for Friday and nominated some of the items he would take up.

The committee sat until well after 1 p.m.

12 MAROONED SEALERS BACK IN ICE PRISON

Once Made Escape, But Again Driven to Desolate Spot

ST. JOHN'S, Nfd., March 23—Twelve sealers of Coachman's Cove, marooned on Western Island nearly two weeks ago, were back on that little upthrust of land in the mouth of White Bay last night.

On March 10 the 12 seal hunters set out from the mainland to kill seals on the icepack, which carried them seaward that night. They found refuge 18 miles offshore on Western island, and on the following day crossed the two-mile channel to Horse island, where several settlers live.

High winds and bad ice conditions prevented an attempt to return to the mainland until Tuesday, when they set out in boats to cross the 18 miles to the coast. But a northeast gale and heavy snow made retreat necessary, and Wednesday their signal fires were seen again on Western Island. They were back in exactly the same position from which they escaped on March 11. A blizzard held them there.

DISPOSAL OF CITY-OWNED LAND MOOTED

Finance Committee Hears of Scheme to Sell Some 10,000 Acres

Embracing an intensive campaign for the purpose of disposing of acreage land in the city's outer zone to the value of $1,000,000, a proposal sponsored by A. Whyte, real estate agent, was referred to city commissioners for further advice as to policy when this question was dealt with by the civic finance committee, Wednesday.

Mr. Whyte was employed by the city in connection with the recent revision of assessment, and spoke to his plan at Wednesday's meeting.

The scheme means that a tempting price would be offered persons wishing to secure acre plots near the outskirts of the city.

Mr. Whyte told the committee that following considerable study he had decided that the only way to dispose of the huge amount of land at present held by the city on the outskirts of Edmonton was to offer a lower price to prospective purchasers. He believed that with the aid of a selling campaign about 10,000 acres could be sold, which, at an average price of $100 per acre would bring $1,000,000.

CLAIMS LAND DEMAND

He further believed that at the present time there were many citizens who would like to acquire land in the outer zone and he felt that it was high time that this property was put on the assessment roll. "There is more demand for acreage today than there ever was before in the history of the city," he declared.

Ald. Jas. East said that he was anxious to have the land in question placed on the tax roll, but he did not think that the city should "give the land away."

Ald. Herbert Baker maintained that it was time for the city to undertake a plan such as suggested by Mr. Whyte in an effort to dispose of city property.

Mayor D. K. Knott questioned the policy. He wondered whether it was advisable to hand over this business to real estate firms, when it probably could be handled by the city land department. He was not willing to accept Mr. Whyte's figures as to the amount of property which could be sold through the medium of the proposed campaign. About 50 per cent of the total given would be about right, he contended. "However, I am keeping an open mind on the question," he told members.

He felt that such a scheme would result in citizens moving to the outskirts of the city in the 20-mill zone and then "clamoring for services," said Ald. J. H. Fry. He was in favor of the city making an attempt to dispose of land nearer to the centre of Edmonton.

Pointing to the big advantage of a scheme as outlined, Commissioner David Mitchell said he was of the opinion that it would give the ctiy "a chance to get rid of property at a fair price."

SECONDARY CONSIDERATION

The price was a secondary consideration; the policy to be pursued was the vital matter, contended Ald. J. W. Findlay.

Ald. Baker then moved that this question be referred to the commsisioners for a recommendation as to policy.

The matter of the proposed transfer of property in connection with the Highlands Golf Club course was referred to the commissioners for further report.

The question involves the transfer of land between the golf club and the city and also the exchange of property with those residents who are at present living on land required by the club for its course; also lots which would be needed by the city if the proposed scenic driveway in that area were ever constructed.

Ald. Baker spoke on the question of the drive, which he has sponsored for some time.

He did not deem it advisable to undertake an expenditure for a scheme of this kind at the present time, declared Ald. Findlay.

Dr. D. B. Leitch spoke on behalf of the club at the meeting.

The committee recommended the extension of the city market building to 102 avenue at an estimated cost of $5,500. It turned down the proposal to build another comfort station in the building, which it was stated, would cost about $4,500.

USE UNEMPLOYED TAXPAYERS

Unemployed taxpayers will be used as much as possible in the construction.

Dealing with the matter of rentals for stalls in the market building, the committee recommended that in view of the fact that the present schedule of rentals appeared satisfactory, that the question be left in the hands of the commissioners for action.

Supt. E. Kendall, who is in charge of the market, was present at the meeting and spoke in connection with the proposed new extension.

Considering the resolution passed by the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council to the effect that the city take steps to protect the interests of workers following the business difficulties encountered by the People's Mine at Beverly, the committee was informed that the wage scale in effect at the coal mine was fair as compared to other mines in the Edmonton district.

The Beverly mine has a contract with the city for the supply of 10,000 tons of coal to relief cases, and H. F. McKee, manager of the special relief department said that 7,500 tons of this total had already been delivered.

Referring to the Lakeside mine, which is under contract to supply 5,000 tons to relief cases, Mr. McKee said that this company had thus far supplied 3,000 tons.

A report in connection with the wage scale in effect at the Beverly mine will be forwarded to the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council.

Some discussion took place on the complaint made by local furriers to the effect that transient fur dealers were doing business in the city for two or three months and then leaving the city without paying a tax equitable to bona fide Edmonton firms.

Ald. Baker moved that an equitable tax be imposed on such dealers and that commissioners prepare a report on the matter. This motion was supported.

CALGARY LABOR SLAMS BUDGET

CALGARY, March 23.—Condemning new taxes that increase the price of foodstuffs No. 1 Unit Canadian Labor Party, here last night passed a resolution criticising imposts anonunced in the Rhodes budget in the house of commons.

The resolution, to be forwarded to the two Calgary members, Prime Minister R. B. Benneett and Dr. G. D. Stanley, specifically mentioned the two-cent tax on sugar and higher rates on syrups, sugars, etc. It pointed out the new taxes affected even unemployed persons.

Two-year Term Mayors Frowned On By Regina Solons

REGINA, Sask., March 23—Debate of the amendment to the city act calling for election of city mayors for a two-year term was the highlight of the legislature sitting Wednesday.

The amendment was voted down, 15 for and 17 against. The attack on the two-year term was led by T. C. Davis (Lib., Prince Albert), who declared he saw no merit in the suggestion. The two-year course was defended by Hon. Howard McConnell, minister of municipal affairs.

An amendment to the Hawkers and Peddlers Act was passed. This calls for a license fee for peddlers of $100, if resident outside Saskatchewan, and $50 if resident in the province. Several members spoke against the reduction in the license, which has been $100.

High School Boy Kills Own Father

NEW YORK, March 23.—A 17-year-old school boy hammered his father to death yesterday and told police he did it to protect his mother from a "tyrant."

The boy, Anthony Malandro, said he saw his father, Angelo beat Mrs. Malandro with an iron bar. He seized a hammer and struck his father in the head.

Noted Flier To Take World Tour

SEATTLE, Wash., March 23.—Major James A. Doolittle, famous United States speed flier, and his wife will sail Friday night from Vancouver, B.C., aboard the steamship Empress of Japan on the first leg of a four months' trip around the world, he said here Wednesday.

Spring Frocks, Coats

VALUES EXTRAORDINARY! $5.00 VALUES EXTRAORDINARY!

The Frocks . . .

See them — you'll be amazed that such frocks could ask so little! Look more like "eight-ninety-five" and "twelve-ninety-five" — AND THEY ARE THAT! The prints are fashionable, and of pure dye all-silk crepe. Styles galore. FRIDAY BARGAIN, $5.00.

The Coats . . .

What a buy! Coats to thrill you with style and quality at a price! The tweeds are trim in weave —swagger in effect, woodsy in tone, and altogether charming. Details of clever fashion rightness: little capes, sleeve interest, the more slender silhouette. FRIDAY BARGAIN, $5.00.

Sizes from 14 to 20 and 34 to 44, in both coats and frocks.
